Today

About the Wide, Wide World.

And One Big Brewery.

Germany Helps Silver.

Russia Refuses to Blow Up.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

WHAT WE CALL "democracy," namely, the rule and control of the many by a selected prosperous few, seems to be giving way to dictatorship, which means a return to absolutism, not dependent, as with kings, on the accident of birth.

Germany, according to dispatches from Berlin, may follow the example of Italy, Turkey and Russia, operating under a one-man dictatorship with Bruening for dictator, backed by the military power of the Reichswehr.

HOWEVER, EVENTS may not move so rapidly. The Germans have been educated in politics and government for years by the Social Democratic party. They will not too hastily abandon their republic or Von Hindenburg, the loyal old man who has so ably steadied Germany thus far.

IN NEW YORK CITY, Prohibition Administrator McCampbell, who seems to take his work seriously, has seized and closed a gigantic brewery, said to have been producing millions of gallons of beer a month for many years.

Gentlemen mentioned as owners of the institution are "Owney" Madden and "Big Bill" Dwyer. The brewery occupies an entire block in Tenth avenue, has been operated continuously, and it seems remarkable that other prohibition agents and policemen have not noticed it on the landscape.

A NEW YORK reporter says the place has been well "guarded." Anybody who came near it was immediately asked by a policeman:

"What are you doing around here?"

It would be interesting to know how many millions in bribes and blackmail that one brewery has paid in the last few years to federal agents, local policemen, political bosses and others.

ACTING ON a change in the currency laws, Germany's Reichsbank is putting into circulation about two hundred and fifty million dollars' worth of silver currency.

The use of silver by the Reichsbank might suggest a good idea to this and other countries that, with their worship of the gold fetish, have almost destroyed silver's value.

SILVER AND GOLD have gone side by side as money for 5,000 years, and should continue to do so, in the proper ratio.

It is in the power of this government to restore the value of silver, in collaboration with Great Britain, which recently and foolishly did what it could to destroy silver by attempting to put India on a gold ba

Production of copper has increased the output of silver enormously. But that increase would not be greater than the increase in international wealth and demand for money, if men would stop cutting each other's throats and concentrate on industry and prosperity.

AN ABLE AMERICAN, back from Russia, says the Stalin plan will succeed, and won't bother us, because there will be no dumping of goods.

Russians will need for themselves all they can produce. They are selling now at any price they can get because they must have money for machinery.

YESTERDAY GASTON BARBANSON, a great Belgian steel man, declared that he has lost faith "in the American economic policy," and advocated "universal resumption of relations with Russia through an international body to open credits with the Soviet."

A one hundred per cent success for the Russian five-year plan, according to Mr. Barbanson, would be no danger to the world, for Russians would buy as much as they would sell.

THIS NATION, centuries ahead of Russia in industry and production, with all of its so called "over production," is able to consume 90 per cent of all its products.

The world would be much better off and our best minds would sleep peacefully if Russia could become successful and rich, in which case it would no longer be "red," and if China and other countries, now harassed with revolt and poverty, could follow suit.

IF YOU ARE a "capitalist," Leon Trotzky has bad news for you. He says Russian Sovietism or capitalism must die. They can't both continue to live side by side on the same globe.

TROTZKY, WHO helped Lenin in the early days, and has since been exiled, attacks Stalin as a mixture of Socialism and capitalism.

Briefly, Trotzky says that there must be a world revolution covering all nations, or Sovietism must fall. That is bad news for Stalin, for there will be no world revolution.

SOME CONCERNS are making money. For instance, you may congratulate Gerard Swope, head of the General Electric Company. He announces $21,523,722.88 profit for the first six months of this year. It is not as good as last year, but comes within 5 cents of earning the regular dividend.

LEWIS HANEY, able writer on business and finance for the New York Journal, traveling widely, finds conditions worse in the Southeast than in the Midwest. In Tennessee, he found the John Hancock Insurance

SHOTS, BOMB TERRORIZE WILDWOOD

1 Hurt as Dynamite Wrecks Home of Workers; Widows See Gunmen Fire on House

Bombers and snipers added their terror to the disorders of the Pittsburgh district mine strike early today as they attacked two rooming houses harboring nonunion miners.

The first attack came at 1:45 a. m., when a bomb was hurled against a one-story garage, recently converted into a rooming house, near the junction of Gibsonia and Wildwood roads.

TELLS OF THREATS

One man was slightly injured. He was John Sonlovich, 38, a state highway laborer. Five other occupants, all non-union miners employed at the Wildwood mine of the Butler Consolidated Coal Company, where the fatal rioting of June 22 took place, were uninjured.

The bomb tore out the rear of the building, a concrete block structure. The force of the blast hurled blocks, glass, plaster and other debris over the occupants. All six were sleeping in one room. Marco Abramovich, 39, proprietor of the rooming house, was sleeping next to the bombed wall. He was unhurt. Sonlovich, the injured man, was sleeping at the other end of the room, farthest from the blast.

Abramovich said he had been warned that if he did not compel the non-union miners to leave his place he "would have trouble."

FIRE ON COTTAGE

He refused to say who made the threat.

Less than half an hour after the bombing, three men opened fire on a small cottage in which three more of the Butler Consolidated's non-union miners have been living for the past month.

The cottage is located on a farm operated by Mrs. Rebecca Church and Mrs. Cherry Rowe, widows, on Gibsonia road about half a mile from its junction with Wildwood road. It is about 50 yards behind the farmhouse in which the women live.

Mrs. Church said she and Mrs. Rowe were awakened by the sound of the bomb and had not gone back to sleep when they heard men's voices in the yard.

SEE GUNMEN SHOOT

They went to a window just in time, she said, to see three men, half concealed in bushes near the house, open fire on the cottage.

They fired six volleys and then fled, Mrs. Rowe said.

The occupants of the cottage were not injured, all of the shots apparently having been fired purposely high as a warning.

One of the miners, John Priestis, said:

Silk Mill Strikers Stone Cars, 1 Shot

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 23.—(INS.)—The disturbances in the silk workers' strike here, which has virtually tied up all the silk mills in the Lehigh Valley, throwing more than 10,000 persons out of work, today resulted in the wounding of a striker and the arrest of five others. The wounded man, Joseph Mattes, 23, Allentown, was struck in the leg by a bullet fired by a state trooper after strikers stoned automobiles carrying strike-breakers to work this morning.

MRS. MAUDE WALKER

EX-WIFE SNAGS WALKER PURSE

NEW YORK, July 23.—(INS.)—Mickey Walker, who made a new niche for himself last night by fighting the heavier Jack Sharkey to a gallant draw, today may be a hero to a million fight fans, but he is not so much to his divorced wife.

Mrs. Maude Walker socked her pugilistic divorced husband with an attachment order today which took away his share of the receipts from his boxing bout with Sharkey.

She claimed $27,800 as reimbursement for money she expended for support of their two children.

Mrs. Walker pictured Mickey as a faithless husband, a cruel father and a poor provider, in papers filed in connection with the attachment proceedings in Brooklyn Supreme Court.

Mrs. Walker declares that Mickey put her out of the house in 1929 just five months before their second child, Patricia, was born. Since then he has never seen Michael, 7, or Patricia, nor has he shown any interest in them, she charges.

Wife Dead, Husband Hurt in Car Upset

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 23.—Mrs. Edward M. Bresett, 30, of Wayne, Pa., was killed today when she lost control of her automobile and it rolled over four times. Her husband, who was displaying a road map to her at the time, was injured only slightly.

Gov. Roosevelt Host To Chicago Mayor

SMITH CHARGES RACKETEERS BACK PARK

A blistering attack on District Attorney Andrew T. Park, State Senator James J. Coyne and County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong was delivered today by Deputy State Attorney General Ralph H. Smith. Smith charged that there is "too close a tie-in" between Park's office and Coyne and Armstrong.

Racketeering elements, apparently unmolested in their activities, are supporting Park, Smith asserted.

He charged further that many of the 1,300 attorneys who signed Park's nominating petition did so when "it was shoved at them across the counsel table or brought to their offices repeatedly by county detectives."

Smith, former assistant district attorney and former assistant federal district attorney, has been one of the political confreres of County Commissioner C. C. McGovern and James F. Malone.

OPENING OF CAMPAIGN

Himself a possible candidate for district attorney, on the yet uncompleted "Independent" ticket, Smith's address was regarded as the opening blast of the "Independent" campaign.

Smith declared he was speaking only for himself and not for any political organization.

He was speaking today at a luncheon of the Independent Voters League of the East End in the Chatham Street Y. W. C. A.

Smith declared the issue at the primary to be one of good government as opposed to "gang" government. He upheld McGovern and State Senator W. D. Mansfield, aspirants for county commissioner, as the type of official needed. He endorsed no other candidates.

He denounced "Armstrong the Builder" as extravagant and Coyne as "real estate broker," "stake holder" and "specialist in wet goods," referring to the Senator's income tax difficulties."

Of Park, he said the platform, "I indicted the Mayor, didn't I?" would not win the election; that Park had been forced by news-

Commission Job Sought By Cain

City Controller James P. Kerr took out papers for the Republican nomination to succeed himself.

Cain's action came as a surprise in political circles, as reports had been current that he would announce for county treasurer. He formerly served one term as county commissioner.

Casey, Democratic Leader, Dies at 74

Cornelius Casey, 74, known to thousands of Democrats over a period of 50 years as "Con", died this morning at his home in Mount Royal Boulevard, Glenshaw. As postmaster of Sharpsburg, school director, and later as a Democratic jury commissioner he enjoyed a wide acquaintence. For many years he had been a tipstaff in Common Pleas court. Casey had been in ill health for a year.

Wife of Comedian To Fight Divorce

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—(AP.)—Mrs. Marian Robinson Mack, wife of Charles Mack, of the blackface comedy team of Moran and Mack, was served here today with a summons in a divorce suit filed in New York.

She said she would contest the action and that her first move would be to file a divorce suit here.

Tennessee Governor Hurt in Auto Crash

Conference at London Ends With Fundamental Issues In Germany Unsolved

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service.

LONDON, July 23.—The plenary conference on the German economic crisis today accepted the plan of the subcommittee of finance ministers for German relief, based on suggestions made by President Hoover. After adopting the plan, the seven-power conference adjourned.

Leaving the meeting, Secretary of State Stimson, of the United States, said:

"I am thoroughly satisfied."

BRUENING SILENT

Chancellor Bruening, of Germany, was non-committal. To questioners he declared:

"I cannot say anything."

However, one of the financial experts with the German delegation asserted:

"It looks pretty bad. Help in the form of cash is not forthcoming, and the chancellor's position will be very difficult when he returns to Berlin. I wonder if Mr. Stimson will see things in a different light when he gets to Germany."

PARLEY ACHIEVEMENTS

The conference's achievements were summarized in a formal declaration, which read as follows:

"In order to insure maintenance of the financial stability of Germany, which is essential to the interest of the whole world, the governments represented at the conference are ready to co-operate so far as lies in their power to restore confidence.

"The governments are ready to recommend for consideration of the financial institutions of their respective countries the following proposals relieving the immediate situation.

1. That the central bank credit of $100,000,000 recently

WIFE, SISTER KILLED BY BULLETS

Mercer Man, Awaiting Removal to Asylum, Runs Amuck; 2 Children Shot

MERCER, Pa., July 23.—A crazed miner armed with a shotgun, butcher knife and a revolver left a trail of five dead and three wounded early today at No. 2 mine of the Sharon Coal and Limestone Company near Leesburg.

The deranged man, Marco Demofonte, 46, pronounced insane by physicians of Mercer yesterday, was to have been removed to an institution today. He was captured after being wounded by George Masters, manager of the Union Supply Company store, of Leesburg.

WIFE SLAIN

The dead are Mrs. Martha Demofonte, wife of the crazed miner; her sister, Mrs. Alphonso Fastetti; Mrs. Frank Yakela, Mrs. Peter Cecilian and Guitano Bevilaqua.

The wounded are Tony Cecilian, 10; Mrs. Michael Banan, and her daughter Flora, all in Mercer hospital.

Waiting until his brother-in-law had gone to work this morning, Demofonte shot and killed his wife and her sister with a revolver.

He ran to the unoccupied house next door, set it on fire, and then to the Cecilian home, where he fatally wounded Mrs. Cecilian and slightly wounded her son.

USES PISTOL, SHOTGUN

Encountering Mrs. Yakela and Beliaqua, a shoemaker, in the yards of their homes, the demented man killed the woman with the revolver and Bevilaqua with the shotgun.

Notified by a woman who ran to the company store at Leesburg, Master, in his automobile, hurried to the scene and brought down Demofonte with a bullet.

DESCRIBES CAPTURE

Thomas Nelson, who accompanied Master, thus described the madman's capture:

"He came down the road at us, his eyes open, his hair standing up. He brandished his gun and warned us to keep away. His little daughter, covered with the blood of her father's victims, was standing in the road.

Bandits Rob Store Sixth Time in Year

The regular semi-monthly robbery of the P. H. Butler store at 2116 Wylie avenue two place shortly after noon today.

Two Negroes pointed a gun at William Tweed, manager, of 6825 Reynolds street, took $35 from the cash register and escaped. It is the fourth robbery of the store in two months, the sixth within a year.

Jeannette Radio Man Faces Hearing

Lee Elton Senter, operator of WGM broadcasting station at Jeannette, will face a United States commissioner Monday, accused of operating his station without a federal permit.

The charge is supplementary to a former one on which Senter was indicted and is now awaiting trial under $2,500 bond.

Farmer's Death Trap Kills Gasoline Thief

CANTON, Ill., July 23.—(AP.)—Caught, county authorities said, in a death trap set by a farmer to save his gasoline, Glenn Dunning, 29, was fatally injured in an explosion of blasting powder on the farm of Ross Snider.

Man Runs Amuck In Phila. Station

Woman Bank Teller Freed; 'Numbers' Racket Victim

Pearl Ida Ferguson, teller of the Dormont Saving and Trust Company, who embezzled $4,000 of the bank's funds to play the numbers pool, today was paroled. She served about four months of the two and a half year jail sentence.

After her arrest, the woman gave information which led to the conviction of four "numbers" operators and writers, all of whom have been sentenced.

Judge James H. Gray in granting the parole, application for which was made on the ground of ill health, said he believed the time she served had been extremely trying to one of Miss Ferguson's standing.

Thomas R. Gracie, former Brentwood justice of the peace, serving a sentence for extortion, also was paroled by Judge Gray. Gracie has been in jail since March 30.

Jail Physician C. J. Ellis testified Gracie is suffering from heart trouble and rheumatism, and needs hospital treatment. Judge Gray said he would parole Gracie solely on account of his health, adding that the sentence was not too severe.

Third Stray Bullet Victim Shot Through Hands

Stray bullets claimed their third victim in the Pittsburgh district within 10 days, as police continued a crusade to confiscate guns found in possession of men and boys.

Numerous reports of bullets being fired on streets and through windows of residences in widely scattered sections of the city have been made to police.

Mrs. Blanche Clarke, 66, of 2011 Mountford street, North Side, with a bullet wound in each hand, is the latest victim. Mrs. Clarke was sitting on the porch of her home last night, talking with friends, her hands clasped and resting on her knees, when the bullet struck and passed through her hands. The wounds were treated by Dr. Lester E. Lacock, of 2858 Perrsyville avenue.

Police, investigating the shooting, searched a field a short distance from the Clarke home, but found no one with a revolver.

A short time later a bullet just missed Ruth Kalb, 14, seated on the porch of her home, 1931 Meadville street, and embedded itself in a tree.

granted to the Reichsbank under auspices of the Bank of International Settlements be renewed at its maturity for three months.

2. That concerted measures be taken by the financial institutions of the different countries with a view to maintaining the volume of credits they already have extended to Germany.

SURVEY OF NEEDS

3. The conference recommends that the Bank for International Settlements should be invited to set up without delay a committee of representatives nominated by the governors of the central banks interested to inquire into the immediate further credit needs of Germany and to study the possibilities of converting a portion of short-term credits into long-term credits.

4. The conference noted with interest the communication from Chancellor Bruening relative to a joint guarantee recently placed by German industry at the disposal of the gold discounts bank. The conference is of the opinion that a guarantee of this description should make it possible to provide a sound basis for resumption of normal operation of international credit.

"The conference considers that if these measures are carried through they will form the basis for more permanent action to follow."

SEE NEW CONFERENCE

Unofficially, members of the conference expressed the hope that the agreement would tide over the immediate crisis, but the hint of a further conference, probably in October, raised the specters of war debts and reparations, which are unanimously regarded as the "more fundamental" problems which must be tackled before the situation is really cleared up.

Alluding to the participation of Secretary Stimson and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, which was interpreted in Europe as heralding the end of America's isolation from European problems, Premier Laval, of France, said:

"They united the power of the ideal with a practical turn of mind which contributed largely to the success of the negotiations. I hope that the Franco-German conversations started in Paris will be but a prelude to further conversations of a like sort."

Secretary of State Stimson will accompany Chancellor Bruening to Berlin this week-end, it was officially announced today.

[illegible] Minister MacDonald and [illegible]cretary Arthur Henderson, of Britain, will arrive in the capital on Monday, the pre[illegible] making the journey by airplane. It was understood French statesmen also would soon visit Berlin to study the financial situation in Germany at first-hand.

Germany's Rehabilitation Assured, Hoover Says

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(INS.)—President Hoover, in a public statement today, expressed the belief and the hope that the London economic conference has laid the foundation for rehabilitation of Germany.

The President said:

"The London conference has laid down foundations for the establishment of stability in Germany.

"The major problem is one affecting primarily the banking and credit conditions and can best be solved by the voluntary co-operation of the bankers of the world rather than by governments with their conflicting interests. Such a basis of co-operation is assurance.

"The program supplements the suspension of inter-governmental debts already in effect. The combined effect should enable the German people with their resources, industry and courage, to overcome the temporary difficulties and restore their credit.

"The program contributes to expedite recovery from world-wide depression through the overcoming of the most important element in the crisis affecting Central Europe."

Mr. Hoover dispatched what was described as "warm telegrams of congratulations" to Secretaries Stimson and Mellon, who represented this government at the London meeting.

Germany Disappointed, Fearful of Future

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
(Universal Service)

BERLIN, [illegible] The London seven-power conference, convened to decide on measures to aid the financially disabled German republic, has resulted only in further bitter disappointment in Germany.

All is not quiet on the Western Front; in fact, the Reich is greatly disturbed, and fearful of the future. Government circles are full of gloom, and officials do not share Washington's and London's optimism that Germany can overcome her crisis by the mere prolonging of short-term credits.

There is also a renewed impulse to lean toward Russia by elements heretofore strongly opposed to Communism.

The committee of elders of the Reichstag today again rejected a joint Nationalist and Communist resolution for immediate convocation of the Reichstag.

Figures Indicating Decrease 'Obviously Wrong,' Council Told by Building Owners

Investigation of charges that no reports were made to the City Treasurer of parking fees collected at the Exposition parking wharf for two days of the present month was asked today of City Council by the Pittsburgh Building Owners and Managers Association.

DECREASES CITED

On July 14, the letter to Council from the association said, receipts at the Monongahela River wharf dropped from $50 to $20.70, and the day following to $5.20.

The letter said:

"These figures are ridiculously low and so obviously wrong that we are calling your immediate attention to them. We want to say, however, that since the association first called the parking fee situation to Council's attention some time ago, receipts have increased materially."

NO REPORTS MADE

The letter said a checkup at the wharves disclosed that on July 10 no report on collections was turned in. On July 11, it was pointed out, only $10.10 was reported, a decrease of several dollars from preceding days. No report was made for July 13.

The association said it had been informed there were no tags available July 15 at the wharf and collections were made by attendants without issuing tags.

Council President John S. Herron said he would grant the association a hearing next week.

CALL FOR COAL PARLEY UP TO HOOVER

President to Decide on Conference After Study Of Doak, Lamont Reports

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(AP.)—President Hoover will decide whether a conference of coal mine operators and labor shall be held after he receives a report from Secretaries Lamont and Doak as to the possibilities to the meeting.

Secretary Doak, in making public a list of names of operators to whom he and the commerce secretary wrote yesterday asking their opinion regarding such a conference said today that any general conference would be called by the President.

The letters were sent to operators in all sections of the country.

Operators, Miners Here Favorable to Parley

News of the proposal for a joint conference of miners and coal operators to discuss conditions in the industry, made by Secretary of Labor Doak and Secretary of Commerce Lamont, was received today by leaders of the industry and union in Pittsburgh.

J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, said:

"I have received no details o the conference, therefore I am in no position to comment upon it, but whatever the gentlemen concerned do is entitled to real consideration."

Patrick T. Fagan, treasurer of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, said:

"The conference is a wise thing. Its success will mean that the coal industry will be stabilized. Such a conference was asked by the international executive committee of the United Mine Workers, which directed President Lewis to ask President Hoover to call such a meeting."

MELLON VOICES SATISFACTION

LONDON, July 23.—(AP.)—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon today expressed his satisfaction at the outcome of the seven-power conference on Germany. He said:

"I am satisfied that the conference has achieved results which will be most helpful in restoring the financial stability of Germany.

"That stability has been shaken by a lack of confidence which is not justified by Germany's internal economic situation.

"German industries are well organized and, given time and reasonably favorable conditions, will again assert themselves and show the inherent strength of Germany's industrial arm.

"The machinery set up by the conference will greatly assist the German government in meeting its immediate difficulties. It will also permit a study as regards further capital and assistance which may be required for rehabilitation of Germany's industry."

Mr. Mellon will rejoin his family at Cap Ferrat, France.

Austro-German Pact Elastic, Court Told

THE HAGUE, Holland, July 23.—(AP.)—The projected Austro-German Customs Union would be provided with an elastic arbitration commission, Dr. Erich Kaufmann, Austrian attorney, told the Permanent Court for International Justice today.

Dr. Kaufmann was answering a criticism by the French government that a majority on the commission would rule it, thus infringing on the other party's independence of action.

HAWKS LOWERS HAVANA MARK

HAVANA, July 23. — (AP.) — Capt. Frank Hawks landed here at 12:08 Pittsburgh time this afternoon, completing a flight from New York by way of Wilmington and Miami in eight hours and eight minutes.

He thus regained the speed record from New York, knocking 27 minutes off the time of James Goodwin Hall, who beat Hawks' previous record last Saturday. He had spent 32 minutes for refueling at Wilmington, N. C., and Miami on the way. He was in the air only seven hours and 36 minutes. Hall made his flight nonstop, so his elapsed time and flying time were the same.

Hawks hurriedly ate a fruit cocktail and a salad and was off again for New York. He had remained in Havana 1 hour and 25 minutes.

Columbus Man Held In Florida as Red

TAMPA, Fla., July 23.—(AP.)—A man who told police he is T. E. Carskadon, 52, a mechanic, of Columbus, O., was arrested and a quantity of literature was seized here today by officers investigating Communists' activities in the Tampa area.

GIRL'S CHARGE HOLDS STUDENT

Harold Quase, 24, of 4114 Murray avenue, was held for court on a serious charge today, following the arrest of Anna Moore, 17, 2121 New York avenue, Washington, D. C.

Police said Anna was a runaway and had been staying at the William Penn Hotel without funds. Quase is a student in the University of Pittsburgh downtown night school.

Anna told Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Morals Court that she met Quase in a theater and he advised her to go to the hotel where he joined her later.

She only had $3, she said, and spent that to buy Quase's dinner.

Quase's bail was set at $1,000.

Wheat Taken as Pay For Farm Machinery

CHICAGO, July 23.—(AP.)—Many of the International Harvester Company's dealers have arranged to accept wheat as half-payment for farm machinery, it was announced last night by Alexander Legge, chairman of the company's board.

3 PLEAD GUILTY IN HOLDUPS

Three members of an East End gang today pleaded guilty to a series of holdups here and have admitted the theft of toll taken on the Chester-East Liverpool Bridge.

Wilbur Black, 20, and George Bauman, 23, both of Carver street, pleaded guilty to 31 holdups and robberies, and Charles Willoughby, 22, of 6812 Fifth avenue extension, pleaded guilty to three holdups of gasoline stations and collectors.

The trio admitted the bridge holdup in which they obtained $400 on the night of May 28.

It was while returning from the bridge holdup that police found them at Willoughby's home. A stolen automobile standing in front of the house gave the clue.

One of the officers, it was testified, climbed a pole and saw the three men dividing money and bridge tickets. Judge James H. Gray, before whom the plea was entered, announced sentence would be imposed next week.

WATERS SCANS MAYOR FIELD

HARRISBURG, July 23.—(AP.)—Auditor General Charles A. Waters today said that "up to now" he had not given serious consideration to the suggestion that he become a candidate for mayor of Philadelphia.

The auditor general added that over the week-end he expected to confer with friends in Philadelphia regarding the forthcoming campaign.

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.—(AP.)—Although his friends insisted he would be a candidate for mayor, former Mayor J. Hampton Moore refused today to admit he would enter the race. He said:

"It is not likely that I will announce this week. I am still looking the situation over and listening both as to the mayoralty and Congress."

CHINESE BOMBS PERIL MINISTER

SHANGHAI, July 23.—(AP.)—Two bombs and a fusillade of bullets directed at T. V. Soong, finance minister and vice chairman of the Nationalist government, missed their mark here today, but fatally injured Soong's secretary, Tang Yu-loh.

Six other Chinese were injured, some of them apparently by Soong's bodyguard in answering the fire of unidentified assassins.

The attack was launched just after Soong and his party arrived by train from Nanking. The bombs failed to explode when thrown, but one of them later was discharged when picked up by a soldier. He was possibly fatally wounded. A Cantonese student was arrested later in connection with the incident.

Tang Yu-Loh was 32, and was married recently. He formerly was a student at both Harvard and Yale universities.

SHANGHAI, July 23.—(AP.)—An authoritative dispatch from Peiping, today said Chinese authorities at Tsinanfu had surrendered Dr. Francis F. Tucker, American missionary held for fatally shooting a Chinese employe of a mission hospital, to the American consul at Tsinanfu, on instructions from the Nationalist government.

Snowden Opposes Debate on Germany

LONDON, July 23—(AP.)—This is no time for parliamentary discussion of the international situation revolving about Germany, Chancellor Philip Snowden told the House of Commons today.

Answering a suggestion that such a discussion take place next week, he said he did not think that would be in the public interest in view of the delicacy of the present financial situation.

ADMITS ARSON IN SPRINGDALE

Michael Swenda, 40, Springdale storekeeper, today pleaded guilty to arson before Judge S. J. Snee. He said he set fire to his store and dwelling in Springdale on July 7 because he was out of work and couldn't meet his bills. Four firemen were injured in fighting the blaze which caused $1,000 damage.

Sentence was postponed until the trial of George Marchiska, of Johnstown, charged with conspiracy. Swenda said that Marchiska offered to burn the building for $125, and when Swenda couldn't raise the money, he says, Marchiska told him how to saturate the building with gasoline.

200 Miners Return As Work Resumes

LOCUST GAP, Pa., July 23.—(INS.)—Two hundred miners, idle for weeks, went back to work today as operations were resumed at the slope section of the Locust Gap mine.

Coal from the colliery, where the shaft section has been working regularly, is being prepared for the Locust Summit breaker.

Oyster Bay to Get Teddy's 'Big Stick'

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 23.—(AP.)—When President Roosevelt was a commuter between Oyster Bay and New York, he gave a big stick, fashioned from a Vermont sapling, and presented by an admirer in 1912, to Joseph Kertz, conductor of the commutation train. Kertz plans to present it to Oyster Bay for placing in a public park.

Mt. Lebanon Driver Freed in Auto Death

BUTLER, Pa., July 23.—(AP.)—Daniel Roberts, of Mt. Lebanon, was exonerated yesterday in connection with the fatal injury of Mrs. Irene Breckenridge, 5557 Hobart street, Pittsburgh, in an automobile accident on the Butler road July 4. Mrs. Breckenridge was thrown from a machine when a door, tied shut with twine, suddenly opened.

AMONG OUR OTHER troubles, Mr. Haney finds too heavy taxes on land, too easy credits, too much reckless borrowing by individuals and local authorities.

IN THREE STATES, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio, workmen are arrested for riots during strikes. The rioting has included shooting, and in one case the throwing of tear bombs, that interfered seriously with important political speakers.

The president of one miners' union is said to have declared that his followers would prevent other miners "entering the McKinley mine, if they had to bear arms to do it." These developments are important, helping to answer the question:

"How long can depression and unemployment continue without active violence?"

A DISPATCH from Hongkong says Chiang Kai-Shek, president of the national government, offers to resign if all China will unite in war upon Japan. It is not probable just now that all China will unite on anything.

For China to declare war on Japan might help to solve the Chinese problem by bringing all of China under Japanese control.

EXCAVATORS ASSAIL CONTRACTS MADE BY SCHOOL BOARD

SUBSTITUTIONS CAUSE LOSS ON JOBS

Grading, Landscaping for Two Buildings Criticised; Officials Order Inquiry

Charges that landscape work for the school board had been skimped, that substitutions had been made in execution of contracts and that the board's inspection system is unfair have been made to the board by the Excavators Contractors Association. The protest, filed against the building department with the Board of Public Education, deals with excavation, grading and landscaping.

Citing the work done at the Taylor Allderdice High School and athletic field and the Peabody athletic field, the association asserts that it is impossible to secure a contract and complete it according to plans and specifications without either losing money or failing to do the work as specified.

SUBSTITUTE CHARGED

Charges that poor earth had been substituted for top soil and top soil reduced in thickness are made in the letter sent to the Board of Education. It was also charged that school employes finished some of the work.

In summing up, William J. Payne, Jr., secretary of the Excavators Contractors Association, says:

"At the Taylor Allderdice High School and the addition recently completed, the specifications called for one foot top soil, well fertilized, over the entire property. On neither job was there over four inches of top soil used and the lawn on the first job was never completed until done by your men. On the last job, top soil was not even spread by the contractor.

WORK NOT DONE

"On the Taylor Allderdice athletic field the specifications called for a high grade of top soil, but the major portion was done with a black clay that is found near the outcropping of coal on property. Sodding was never done.

"Just recently on the new Peabody athletic field, a large quantity of clay was piled and mixed with top soil. On several new schools now under construction the so-called top soil is about half clay, contrary to specifications.

"These instances have convinced us that this unfair system of inspection is still allowed in your building department and is unfair to the competent contractor who figures on doing his work as specified."

FIELDS INSPECTED

The new Peabody High School athletic field is partially completed, about one quarter having been covered with top soil. To all appearances the covering is about one foot in depth. The field fronts on North Highland avenue and includes a part of the vacated Hays street. The work is being done by Monahan and Barr, contractors.

The grounds and athletic field of Taylor Allderdice High School, Squirrel Hill have a heavy setting of grass and clover. From a superficial observation these grounds appear to be in good condition.

The complaint of the Excavators' Association has been read before the Board of Education and was referred to the Committee on Property and Supplies, which will make a complete investigation and report back, according to H. W. Cramblet, secretary of the board.

Royal Wig Maker To Quit Business

LONDON, July 23.—(AP.)—An old shop in Wardour street, patronized by actors for 60 years, is about to close. Willy Clarkson, who took over the business of making stage wigs at the death of his father, is retiring. In Queen Victoria's reign he was frequently called to Windsor to make up children of the royal household for amateur theatricals.

Tokio Fliers Await Favorable Weather

SEATTLE, July 23.—(INS.)—Favorable weather was waited by the Texas pilots, Reginald L. Robbins and H. S. Jones, who had expected to take off today on a nonstop flight to Tokio. A start may be made tomorrow. The first attempt in their plane, Forth Worth, ended near Nome, after refueling in the air was unsuccessful.

DENIED DINNER, WINS DIVORCE

When his dinner guests arrived his wife refused to prepare dinner and they had to eat at a restaurant, John K. Hill, 27, of the William Penn highway near Wilkinsburg, told Judge John P. Egan in Common Pleas Court. He was granted a divorce from Martha G. Hill, 23, of 6533 Wilkins avenue, on the grounds of cruelty and indignities, in an uncontested suit.

They eloped to Wellsburg, W. Va., July 13, 1926, and in February, 1929, she deserted him after giving his mother their 18-month-old baby, Hill testified.

Seeking dissolution of her marriage of 25 years ago, Mrs. Anna O'Neill, 1715 Bearing street, filed a divorce suit against John O'Neill, 1701 Columbia place, in Common Pleas Court, charging he deserted her April 18, 1928. They were married June 11, 1906.

Gives Wife Credit For Saving Estate

John Bell, Elwood resident, who died recently, gave his wife credit in his will for possessing an estate to will. In bequeathing all his property to his wife, he wrote:

"Had it not been for my wife's faithful care of my earnings I might not have been able to sit here and will anything away. I give my wife more credit for what I possess than I do myself. I have been able to make it but not to save it."

Mayor of Chester Named Jail Head

CHESTER, Pa., July 23.—(INS.)—Delaware County and city political circles were upset today by the surprise appointment during the night of Mayor Samuel E. Turner, of this city, as warden of the Delaware County Jail at Media. The appointment was made by the County Board of Prison Inspectors.

Rockne's Widow Joins Grid Stars to Make Movie

CHICAGO, July 23.—(AP.)—Making a last-minute decision, Mrs. Knute Rockne, widow of the famous football coach, boarded the train last night with former football stars en route to Hollywood, Cal., to take part in a motion picture portraying football days at Notre Dame University.

Mrs. Rockne had come in from South Bend, Ind., with the intention of attending a send-off banquet for the football players and their wives. Instead of going to the banquet she went back home and packed her traveling bags.

Rockne was on his way to California in regard to this picture when he was killed in an airplane crash in Kansas last spring.

Three of the famous four horsemen of the 1924 team and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. James Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. Don Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stuhldreher, were among those California-bound. Others were Paul O'Connor, Arthur McManmon, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. John Law and William Rockne.

MOTHER SETON BEATIFICATION BEFORE POPE

Creation of First American Saint Asked in Petition Presented to Pontiff

VATICAN CITY, July 23, (AP.)—A petition bearing the signatures of 150,000 Americans asking that the first American saint be created in the person of Mother Elizabeth Seton, founder of the Sisters of Charity in the United States, was presented to Pope Pius XI today.

Fifty American priests, nuns and Catholic alumnae, led by Father Joseph B. Code, of St. Ambrose College, Davenport, Ia., gave the Pope a huge scroll. Arriving petitioners were representatives of Seton Hill, Greensburg, Pa.

RECALLS PLEA

Speaking in English to the Pontiff, Father Code, author of a biography of Mother Seton, recalled that the cause of beatification was introduced in 1907 by Pope Pius X. He said:

"Mother Seton inaugurated practically every work of Catholic social welfare in the United States.

"Because she opened the first free school for children she has been given the title of patroness of the parochial school system in the United States. Because she sent sisters to take charge of the first Catholic orphanage in the country, her place among the homeless little ones of Christ is secure.

FIRST HOSPITAL

"Because her spiritual daughters opened the first Catholic hospital in the United States, her memory is venerable wherever sickness and suffering receive ministration."

The Pontiff replied that he appreciated the zeal which brought them thousands of miles to present the petition and asked for a copy of Father Code's preamble, saying he would read it at leisure. He imparted the apostolic blessing on the whole order founded by Mother Seton.

ESTATE WILLED TO DEAD WIFE

The will of Lewis H. Strahley, 75, of 124 Browning road, drowned with his wife in the Highland Park reservoir last Thursday when their car plunged through a guard rail, was filed for probate today.

It disposed of an estate valued at $52,000, including several pieces of East End real estate.

The will left $15,000 in trust for his granddaughter, Mary D. Strahley, the principal to be turned over to her when she is 30, and created trust funds providing incomes for his daughter, Mrs. Emma Strahley Macfarlane, and his son, Lewis W. Strahley, Jr.

The remainder of his estate was bequeathed to his wife. Due to her death, it reverts immediately to the son and daughter under another provision of the will.

King in London May Cut Sydney Ribbon

SYDNEY, Australia, July 23.—(AP.)—If King George is willing, he will stand in Buckingham Palace some time next year and cut a piece of ribbon stretched across the entrance to the Harbor Bridge in Sydney. Elaborate electrical gear-wire and wireless will be installed to make the long-distance snipping possible.

The King's voice will be carried 12,000 miles by radio, with the sight of him speaking into the microphone carried by television, according to plans.

PAJAMA CONTESTANTS MARCHING BEFORE THOUSANDS

POPE SUMMONS CARDINALS

VATICAN CITY, July 23.—(INS.)—A special consistory of all the members of the Sacred College of Cardinals, now in Rome, assembled in the presence of Pope Pius XI today to discuss matters of current importance to the church.

His Holiness called the conclave for the primary purpose of discussing the controversy between church and state in Italy over the education of Catholic youth.

In addition, the consistory discussed the situation in Spain, where the church has been shorn of its power by the republican government, as well as persecution of Catholic missionaries in China. New limitations of the rights of the church in Mexico also was discussed.

No statement was expected to be issued.

Showdown on Priest Limit Due in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, July 23.—(INS.)—A showdown between representatives of the Catholic Church and Gov. Tejeda, of Vera Cruz, is expected Saturday. The Governor has given notice that on that day priests in the state must choose 11 of their number who will be permitted to continue their religious duties under the recent law limiting the number of ministers of religion to one for each 100,000 inhabitants.

Iowa Track Star Drowned in Quarry

IOWA CITY, Ia., July 23.—(AP.)—The body of Reuben Depping, 25, University of Iowa senior medical student and track captain, was sought today in a quarry near West Branch. He swam out 20 yards and disappeared. Three companions saw him go down.

WIFE ASSISTS 'OTHER WOMAN'

A wife interceded and obtained her alleged rival's release at a Morals Court hearing this morning after the husband had been held for court.

Police raided a house in Liverpool street early this morning and arrested Mrs. Isabella Schradle Hindman, 24, who gave her address as 1213 Liverpool street, and Adam Kneirn, 43, of 1428 Liverpool street.

The raid was made on complaint of Mrs. Sadie Kneirn, 50, Adam's wife, police said.

In Morals Court this morning Adam admitted maintaining the two homes and was held for court by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones.

Before Jones made his decision in Mrs. Hindman's case, Mrs. Kneirn said:

"I wish you'd let her go. She has two children to support and her husband is in the penitentiary. I think she has enough trouble."

Jones granted the request.

Blind Man Aided, But Finds It Holdup

DENVER, Col., July 23.—(AP.)—L. H. Hunter, 30 years old and blind, tapped his way out of a drug store here last night and stopped at the corner, preparatory to crossing the street.

"Here, buddy, let's go," said someone.

Hunter was grasped by each arm. He thanked his helpers.

But instead of being taken across the street, Hunter was taken into an alley. His cane was thrown away. He was robbed of his bill fold, containing $42.

"No use to report this," Hunter was told. "You can't give a description."

MRS. CROKER DENIES PART IN DEATH

Tammany Chief's Widow's Legal Affairs Further Tangled by Development

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., July 23.—(AP.)—The tangled legal affairs of Mrs. Bula Croker, widow of the late Tammany Hall chieftain, took a new turn today with her denial that she was involved in the death of Guthridge L. Robinson, her personal agent.

The denial was made in her answer to a suit filed by Robinson's father, R. E. Robinson, her former attorney, who is seeking to establish a lien on part of the Crocker Palm Beach estate to secure his claim for $125,000 on a fifth interest in the property.

Guthridge Robinson died here June 30. None of the papers in the suit say how Mrs. Croker is alleged to have been involved in his death, which local newspapers at the time described as following "a lingering illness."

Mrs. Croker's answer, however, says that R. E. Robinson asserted Mrs. Rowena D. Robinson, widow of Guthridge Robinson, threatened to sue her for killing him unless she paid Mrs. Robinson $10,000. Mrs. Croker also said that early this month R. E. Robinson demanded that she buy him an automobile.

Detroit Holds Six In Beer War Death

DOG BITES SIX; 25 TIED UP

A portion of Bethel Township has been put under a 100-day dog quarantine yesterday by investigators of the State Bureau of Animal Industry, following the biting of six people and the hospital report announcing the dog responsible for the biting as having the rabies.

According to Beryl D. Johnson, state investigator for Allegheny County, the quarantine was ordered by A. G. Koen, quarantine agent for this district. The order affects 25 dogs in 19 homes of the township.

3 CONSTABLES ROUTED BY STRIKERS

Men Prepare Petition for Kline to Act as Mediator; Stoning of Cab Reported

BULLETIN.

Mayor Charles H. Kline this afternoon refused to see a delegation of labor leaders who called at his office to ask him to arbitrate the strike of taxicab drivers. He said he was "too busy," but asked them to return tomorrow morning.

The appearance of a constable at the guarded doors of a "pep" meeting of striking union cab drivers in Moose Temple precipitated a near-riot late last night as Central Labor Union officials completed plans for requesting Mayor Charles H. Kline to intervene in the six-week old strike.

A taxicab was reported to have been stoned at Penn avenue and Main street. Police were unable to verify the report.

PURSUE OFFICERS

P. J. McGrath, secretary of the Central Labor Union, with P. T. Fagan, president, headed the delegation to visit Kline today.

Police Lieut. Harry Schunk said the near-riot started when Constable C. G. Gang, from the office of Justice of the Peace Ralph N. Parkhill, of Aspinwall, inquired at the door for a man named "Kirksey." Constable Gang, who said he was accompanied by two other constables, was denied admittance and an argument ensued.

A group of strikers armed with whatever weapons were handy joined the doorkeeper and chased the constables down the stairs, but did not overtake them. The meeting had been held without the customary heavy police guard.

PREDICTS FAILURE

Jack Tait, chairman of the strike settlement committee of drivers, issued a statement today in which he called attention to the fact that while the Central Labor Union claims to have indorsed the strike, it has limited itself strictly to a "moral support."

The strike, Tait said, is bound to fail because the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers, with which the cab drivers are affiliate, has refused to pay benefits from its $1,000,000 strike fund.

Tait denied a statement of the Central Labor Council that the members of his committee are "irresponsibles."

ILEANA NUPTIAL RITES BEGIN

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 23.—(AP.)—At a special service today at which the veteran Patriarch Miron Christea will officiate, the ceremonies in connection with the wedding of Princess Ileana, of Rumania, and Archduke Anton, of Austria, will begin.

The wedding itself will take place Sunday.

Contrary to public expectation, King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia, brother-in-law of Princess Ileana will not attend the wedding at Sinaia Wednesday but Queen Marie of Jugoslavia, Ileana's sister, will be there.

Weather Conditions.

A trough of low pressure stretches from the Far Northeast southwestward over the Ohio Valley states and the central plains to the Far Southwest, while relatively high pressure areas cover the Southeast and the northern plains. Thundershows were quite general over the central plains and eastward over the Ohio Valley states to the coast. Thundershower conditions still prevail over this section.

There was little change in temperature over the eastern states, but in the West the high temperature condition is advancing slowly eastward. Temperatures of 100 degrees or higher occurred yesterday afternoon over Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Utah. The highest reported was 104 degrees at Dodge City, Concordia, North Platte, Pueblo and Grand Junction.

SMITH CHARGES RACKETEERS BACK PARK

'GANG' CALLED ISSUE

Smith's speech in part follows:

"The people of Allegheny County want good government. The issues are clear. The people must decide whether they will continue in office for the period of the next four years the old type of organization, or 'gang' government, or to secure the election of officers who are dedicated to the ideal of public service.

"The only obstacles to good government are inefficiency in public office, the growing influence of the racketeering elements and old-fashioned political hokum."

Naming Armstrong and Coyne as backers of old-fashioned organization government, Smith accused Armstrong of being responsible for excessive costs and extras on county work; of necessitating expenditure of 30 per cent of taxes for interest and refunding bonded indebtedness; of sponsoring the Board of Tax Revision and Assessment which "permitted 30,000 illegal assessments . . . ghost voters . . . pinch hitters;" of whip-cracking on the payroll.

JIBES AT COYNE

"The other gentleman with whom Armstrong will, in all probability, be associated, either covertly or openly in this campaign, has so far advanced no claim for his election to that office except the normal interest of a large property holder in the tax rate, an overwhelming desire to be a County Commissioner and control part of the patronage of that office which for the past four years has been steadfastly denied him by his prospective running mate, Armstrong, and an established reputation as a 'real estate broker,' 'stakes holder' and 'specialist in wet goods,' as indicated by the recently published detailed account of his business transactions with the United States government.

"There is one other vitally important phase of the present campaign, and that is the position of the district attorney's office in this campaign.

"'Man cannot live on bread alone,' nor should the present district attorney expect to be elected on the basis of one indictment alone.

"His rapidly crystallizing, but as yet unexpressed, campaign slogan—'I indicted the Mayor, didn't I?'—will not win this election.

TEARS INTO PARK

"Unlimited credit should be given to the Citizens' Committee and the League of Women Voters and their members. To them and to the newspapers, without whose continued support and assistance this investigation would have been impossible, all credit and honor are due.

"But the best that can be said for the district attorney is that he permitted the facilities of his office to be used by the Citizens' Committee and its thoroughly capable counsel, for the purpose of securing the indictment with his knowledge and consent.

"Not even the courteous letter of appreciation sent to the District Attorney by the Citizens' Committee can erase from the memory of the public the rather disconsolate picture presented by the District Attorney when the investigation was started, as, distraught by fear of injuring his political prospects, and weakly hesitant, he hung back, refusing to take the initiative until his hand was forced by the activity of the Citizens' Committee.

"The rest of the campaign so far conducted by that office runs true to the form of the old organization type. A hasty examination of some of the claims loudly proclaimed for that office reveal their shallowness.

HINTS AT TRICK

"'The unanimous choice of the judges—in perfect harmony with the precedent formerly established of selecting a member of the staff of the district attorney's office to fill a vacancy.'

"'Indorsed by more than 1,300 members of the Bar of Allegheny County'—most of whose names were secured in the early spring of 1931, and many of whom signed the petition which was shoved at them in court across the counsel table or brought to their offices repeatedly by county detectives, as an act of professional courtesy to the public official with whom their duties brought them in almost daily contact.

"'The work of the office up to date'—nothing is said of the fact that the present District Attorney has the largest (16 assistants) and most expensive staff of assistants in the history of that office and that the volume of business is slightly greater than that handled in the busiest preceding year with a staff of 10 assistants.

"Supported by the aldermen and constables, as indicated by the large banquet at Duquesne Garden, all of whom are primarily interested in the district attorney's office as through it their reports for fees and costs are approved prior to payment—particularly the constables, who rely on the District Attorney for cordial help and assistance when every three months they pass before an assigned Judge of the Court in the regular 'blind man's parade.'

HITS COYNE ALLIANCE

"The most significant fact of all is that this District Attorney is actively allied with those who represent the reactionary influences in politics.

"Under his personal direction and in accord with his oft repeated public indorsement and statements, all the resources of his office, including his employes, are working night and day to secure the election to office of Armstrong and Coyne.

"The political alliance of the District Attorney with Armstrong and Coyne is not calculated to inspire confidence or to give any indication of the possibility of improved government within the next four years in Allegheny County, but it is calculated to encourage all of the elements opposed to good government as clearly indicated by the united support given the office by the racketeering elements and the apparent freedom from molestation with which they continue to operate.

"It will take more than a rhetorical slap on the wrist on the part of the District Attorney to his ardent supporter and political godfather, Coyne, to dissipate the idea prevalent in the minds of many people that there is too close a tie-in between his office and Senator Coyne, the spokesman for the discredited Kline machine, and Joseph Armstrong.

"Armstrong, Coyne and Park—that is the combination offered by the regular organization to the people of Allegheny County as a means of securing better government in the next four years. It will not do!"

COYNE SEEKING SUPPORT IN HARRISBURG

Meeting With Pinchot and Waters Slated; Armstrong Continues as 'Lone Eagle'

State Senator James J. Coyne was in Harrisburg today, and was expected to confer with Gov. Pinchot and Auditor General Charles A. Waters. He left here last night, without announcing the object of the visit.

His temporary absence will interrupt the campaign he is conducting day and night in every section of the county in the interest of his candidacy for one of the two nominations for county commissioner.

Whether Coyne can enlist any support from Harrisburg to advance his candidacy is only guesswork so far as any public pronouncement is concerned, but those that concede his resourcefulness declare if there is any aid in the offing he will garner it.

ARMSTRONG PUSHES FIGHT

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong is continuing his campaign for re-election as a lone eagle, but it is believed he will have a running mate in the near future and the consensus is gradually drifting to the conviction that it will be Coyne.

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern is expected to be a candidate to succeed himself, but so far he has not said whether it is his intention to enter the Republican primary or wait for the general election in November.

MAY JOIN MANSFIELD

If McGovern enters the primary, it is thought he will take as a running mate State Senator William D. Mansfield, of McKeesport, who recently announced his candidacy for county commissioner.

A number of "independent" elements apparently are trying to build a city and county ticket for the primary with McGovern as the keystone, but reports have leaked out that there have been a number of rifts to halt the program.

At the call of David L. Lawrence, Democratic county chairman, workers of that party will meet at 8 tonight in the Fort Pitt Hotel to suggest candidates for city and county offices to be filled at this year's election.

Three More Enter Common Pleas Race

HARRISBURG, July 23.—Three additional Republican candidates for the Common Pleas bench in Allegheny County today filed their nominating petitions with the State Elections Bureau. In addition, Judge David M. Miller, of the County Court of Allegheny, filed for renomination.

Barbers to Hold Boat Excursion

In celebration of the enactment of the Musmanno barbers' bill, the barbers of Allegheny County will hold a boat excursion and picnic Sunday, July 26. The steamer Julia Belle will leave the Monongahela River wharf at 9 a. m. for Crescent Beach Park. M. A. Musmanno, who has been indorsed by the Journeymen Barbers' International Union of America, Local No. 20, for judge of County Court, will be the guest of honor.

Tammany's Sachem Bars Photographers

NEW YORK, July 23.—(AP.)—News photographers will have time to get their lunch and get back. John R. Voorhis, grand sachem of Tammany, will be 102 Monday, but he says no more photographs will be taken of him until he is 200.

KIRBY JACKSON, 99

VETERAN RAIL MAN HERE

Kirby Jackson, 99, veteran Pittsburgh railroader, whose memory reaches back to a time before the Fort Wayne Railroad was constructed, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Stephen H. Boss, at 947 Heberton avenue, East End. His home is in Fort Wayne, Ind., and Chicago.

Jackson, who was an engineer during the Civil War, lived in New Brighton before the railroad went through there, he said. He has no desire to fly in airplanes. He said:

"Let the birds fly in the air, and the fish stay in the sea. I'll stick to the earth."

He traveled extensively here and in Europe before the war. He saw the Passion Play in 1910, had an audience with Pope Pius XI and visited the ruins of Pompeii, he said.

He has one daughter, Miss Grace E. Jackson.

ADMIRER HELD IN MAYHEM

William Greco, 27, of 217 Anderson street, admitted in North Side Police Court today, that in jealous rage he had bitten off part of the nose of Mrs. Margaret Fritz, 28, of 10 Stockton avenue. He was held for court on a charge of mayhem.

He testified that he and Mrs. Fritz, who is separated from her husband, had been living together. He bade her goodbye at midnight June 29, to go to Detroit for work, returned later and found her getting ready to go with another man, he said.

Mrs. Fritz, released from the Allegheny General Hospital, this morning appeared before Magistrate Ray Schneider with her nose bandaged. She testified she and Greco had lived together as man and wife from time to time.

this great ship of the air bought by Donahoe's to bring for you fish three hours from the lake!

Fish Are Sent East By Plane

Airplane delivery of a ton of fish to eastern markets was made Friday by the United Fisheries here, which saved 12 hours in placing them on the market and is believed by the company to have set two new records locally, one being that it was the first shipment of fish out of here by plane and second that it set a record in delivery time.

The fish were taken to Parker Airport and shipped in a Stinson plane to the Donahoe Company at Pittsburgh. The plane arrived at nine o'clock and took off at 9:30. George Richter, official of the company, said the fish were taken from the nets Friday, packed and sent by plane so as to arrive in eastern markets by noon. Officials said they planned to continue such shipments for the remainder of the fishing season.

Pittsburghers want fish that are really fresh—this has been clearly shown at Donahoe's the past few weeks. So great has been the demand that even with two smaller airplanes making the trip, we have been unable to supply all who came for fish less than three hours out of the water.

To supply the demand Donahoe's bought this beautiful airplane—a six-passenger dual control Stinson-Detroiter with a 300-horsepower Wright motor, specially equipped, and with a carrying capacity greater than that of the two other planes combined.

Here you see it at the Alameda-Butler airport—like a mighty bird—poised for flight. Tomorrow morning it will climb into the skies and wing its way to the Parker airport, Sandusky, Ohio, there to take on the morning catch of the fishermen. Less than three hours after the fish are taken from the water they'll be on sale in our Fifth Avenue and Smithfield Street Stores. That's speed! That's freshness! That's the kind of service you expect from the World's Finest Food Store.

STATE GUARDS BEGIN MIMIC WARFARE

Soldiers Leave Mt. Gretna Training Grounds to Halt Advance of 'Red Enemy'

MT. GRETNA, Pa., July 23.—(AP.)—War was declared at 3:30 a. m. at the Pennsylvania National Guard encampment here.

Against an imaginary red enemy which is marching from the west, the guardsmen before dawn began hurling their forces.

The enemy was reported to have crossed the Susquehanna River, at Harrisburg and Columbia. Forces of opposing troops were concentrating at the capital and at Lancaster and were driving toward Mt. Gretna in an attempt to capture the great store of munitions and supplies supposed to be stored there.

The National Guard planes planned to try to bombard the anti-aircraft units with bags of flour if they locate them from the air.

The infantry moved out on its two-day bivouac this morning with rolling kitchen, water tanks and all necessary supplies.

The 109th Infantry, of Scranton, carried off the honors in the camp athletic meet yesterday with a point score of 93 and a fraction. The 110th Infantry, of Washington, Pa., was second with 77 plus, while the 103d Engineers, of Philadelpha, were third with 70 points.

DOCTOR FINDS DISEASE CURB

EVANSTON, Ill., July 23.—(AP.)—Dr. Arthur I. Kendall, professor of bacteriology at Northwestern University, in a lecture last night announced the discovery of what his colleagues termed the most important victory in the isolation of bacteria since the discoveries of Pasteur.

Dr. Kendall said his finding opened the way to determine the exact source of certain diseases heretofore shrouded in mystery.

These diseases, colleagues at Northwestern said, included influenza, infantile paralysis, rheumatism and sleeping sickness.

While Dr. Kendall's experiments so far have been limited, he summarized that a majority, if not all, known bacteria can be subjected to his new method of isolation.

CLUB MANAGER HELD IN DEATH

Thomas Brady, alleged proprietor of a club at 128 Second street, Rankin, was being held for questioning by county detectives in connection with the death of Mark Vihar, 38, of 429 Kenmawr avenue, Rankin.

Vihar died in Braddock General Hospital late yesterday from a fractured skull suffered when he was struck by a stave from a bursting beer barrel in the basement of the club, according to police. Vihar was reported to have been adjusting the air pressure, which became too high, causing the barrel to explode.

Serpentine Driving Not Due to Drinking

MIDDLETOWN, Conn.—(INS.)—A rural constable trailed Jerry Wren, of Waterbury, over miles of road into the city here, picked up a policeman and followed him to the city limits. Then Wren was placed under arrest for reckless driving.

His car had wobbled all along the way as if it had too much alcohol. The policeman tried to drive the car back and he was no better at the job than Jerry who was discharged by Judge Carl F. Anderson when he promised to have the machine fixed.

Sauerkraut Prize Meal at Exposition

PARIS.—(INS.)—Good, old-fashioned sauerkraut is putting a crimp into the sales of silkworm salads, sharks' fins, seaweeds, shrimps and other exotic dishes that were expected to carry away all the honors at the Colonial Exposition at Vincennes this summer.

Boxing Bouts Bring Connecticut $21,889

HARTFORD, Conn.—(INS.)—More than 418,000 people paid $559,721 to see boxing and wrestling in Connecticut in the year ending June 30, last. The state collected $21,889 in taxes from the bouts, 1,311 in number. Thomas A. Donahue, of New London, athletic commissioner, is charged with seeing that the state collects the taxes.

THOUSANDS SEE COUPLE WED AT PICNIC

Rites Feature North Side Outing; Prizes Awarded In Pajama, Sports Events

With several thousand persons looking on Miss Alice Hartleben and Gerald Bergdorf said "I do" at the annual outing of the Business Men's Association of the East North Side in West View Park, last night. The Rev. Martin F. Bierbaum, pastor of the Pilgrim Lutheran Church, North Side, officiated at the wedding.

The bride, 21 years old yesterday, wore a white satin dress, white kid gloves, white kid slippers, a lace train 10 feet long and a tiara with a tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses showered with lilies of the valley. A soprano solo, "O Promise Me," was sung by Anne Adams.

BEAUTY ATTENDS

Phillip B. Krason was master of ceremonies and arranged the affair. William N. Krauss, of 5907 Douglas avenue, Squirrel Hill, was best man, and Alfhild Larson, of Monroe avenue, Swissvale, hailed America's Fashion Queen last year, was matron of honor.

Fourteen-year-old Fern Remensnyder was victor in the pajama parade which attracted scores of girls from the entire district during the afternoon. Peggy Ladesic, Dolores Eswein, and Bertha Wise shared the prize money.

First prizes in the various athletic contests were awarded as follows:

PRIZES OFFERED

The distribution of 15,000 copies of the Sun-Telegraph mystery numbers occupied a conspicuous place on the program. These numbers contained many duplicates which when they were matched entitled the lucky couples to many valuable prizes.

The day's activities were under the direction of Frank J. Zak, general chairman. He was assisted by Wilfrid S. Kuhl, secretary; C. Hanna, treasurer; H. E. Teufel, G. A. Schumacher, W. A. Stoehr, Dr. G. Metzer, P. A. Freyvogel, Harry Schellhaas, Dr. M. R. Alderman, E. C. Buettner, DeForest Ludwig, J. C. Schmidt, P. N. Krason, I. M. Stokely, E. Roessler, Frank Mangold, J. M. Speer and F. C. Bauer.

17 DEAD, CRISIS NEAR IN SPAIN

MADRID, July 23.—(AP.)—With Seville under martial law as the result of disorders in which 17 persons were killed, the tenseness of Spain's political situation increased today as the nation looked forward to a change in government next week.

It was predicted that when the Assembly is formally constituted, Monday or Tuesday, the cabinet would immediately resign. Forecasts were that the Parliament would choose Alcala Zamora as president—he now holds that post provisionally—and that he would summon either Manuel Azana, present war minister, or Alejandro Derroux, foreign minister, to the premiership.

The seriousness of the situation in Seville was made clear when martial law was pronounced only half an hour after Miguel Maura, minister of the interior, announced he would oppose calling in the military authorities.

DIET FOR SUMMER SHOULD INCLUDE COOL, FLAVORED DRINKS

Many delicious beverages can be made at home, such as iced tea, coffee or chocolate, milk shakes, lemonade and fruit punches. When sweetened with sugar, they appeal to the taste and are refreshing indeed.

Nothing can take the place of sugar in sweetening home-made drinks. And there is no better sugar to be had than refined cane sugar. It is the recognized standard. Refresh yourself with a sweetened drink. The Sugar Institute.

IS KNOCKING AT THE DOOR

Advance Inspection (with privilege of making selections and reservations) will be offered, beginning tomorrow, for the

August Sales of FURNITURE FURS BEDDING

FORMAL OPENING TOMORROW OF THE Inspirational Rooms

Eight newly built rooms, entirely original in concept, designed to visualize the practical possibilities of the August Furniture Sale in a convincing manner. Furnished entirely with special offerings from the August Sale, they illustrate the application of this sale to the modern small home.

The room arrangements, the wall treatments and furnishings depict the newest trends and tendencies in interior decoration. Home makers will find them truly inspirational as well as highly practical, in restyling their own homes.

Home Re-styling Contest Awards

Tomorrow at 10 A. M., in connection with the opening of the Inspirational Rooms, Miss Alice Dean, winner of the 3,000 mile coast-to-coast tour of famous American homes, together with Mrs. Robert Elberty and Miss Helen I. Stone, other local winners in the National Home Re-styling Contest, will receive their awards. You are invited to be present.

THE public seems to sense fully the extraordinary possibilities of August, 1931. There have been more inquiries regarding the August Sales this year than ever before, and every other person you meet is planning to have some new furniture, furs, or bedding at the very low prices which they are expecting in this year's August Sales.

Everybody knows that prices are down---and especially so on those things which figure in the August Sales. Encouraged by the recent statements of Roger Babson and other business authorities, many people believe that an upward turn in commodity prices is in sight, and that the "1931 lows" will soon be a thing of memory, like the big winds and the cold winters that our grandfathers tell about.

For this reason, with which we largely concur, it is obvious that the August Sales present opportunities which have not been equaled in years, but, what is more, are NOT LIKELY to be equaled for years to come, if ever. Business statistics show that, despite temporary depressions and recessions, general commodity prices in the United States have steadily risen, for the past 100 years. And just as it is sensible to believe that the 1940 census will outstrip that of 1930, or that there will be more aeroplanes in the skies next year than there are this year, it is equally logical to conclude that commodity prices will continue to advance.

It is foolish to attempt to describe by letter or advertisement something which can be shown in tangible form, and for this reason we have Courtesy Days or Advance Inspection Days, which begin tomorrow here in connection with the August Sales. People can come and see for themselves what the new Furniture, Furs and other August lines are like, and what the August values are. This is the invitation we extend this evening. You'll find the facts very much more eloquently expressed in the merchandise and the prices than any words can convey them.

Convenient payment terms are offered in the purchase of furniture, and a 25% deposit will hold fur selections until required.

BATTLE LOOMS IN 12TH WARD

A lively political fight in the Twelfth Ward looms as campaign preparations are being pushed by candidates for alderman and constable.

James Fullerton, son of Police Lieut. William Fullerton, has announced his candidacy for constable, stating he favors the Baker-Donofrio-Edmonston faction of the Republican ward organization. This faction is backing William A. Means for re-election as alderman.

Michael De Rosa, Jr., will seek to displace Means and has entered the running for the Republican nomination for alderman.

The Means campaign committee has chosen these officers: General chairman, George A. Baker; vice chairman, Frank DeSimone, Jr.; secretary, Brook N. Edmonston; assistant secretary, Alex Viggiano; treasurer, Robert Porter; advocate, Attorney Hymen Schlessinger.

MANY INQUIRE ABOUT PICNIC

From the number of telephone calls the Sun-Telegraph has received asking for information about National "Kiddies" Day at West View Park, Tuesday, August 4, it would seem that all the youngsters in Pittsburgh are excited about this unique affair.

Hundreds of them are already whetting their appetite for the pie-eating contest. One youngster lamented because it wasn't a watermelon-eating contest. "I like watermelons better and they never give me a 'tummy' ache," he pleaded. And the freckled are wondering how they can get a few more hundred freckles before the day of the picnic, so that they can enter their contest.

The Sun-Telegraph is going to give away 10,000 strips of tickets for the rides and amusement devices that crowd West View Park. How to get them? Just watch the Sun-Telegraph for details. They're absolutely free—10,000 strips.

'Autoist Faces Suit In Death of Child

Mr. and Mrs. Christ MacGregor of Pittsburgh, asked $50,000 damages for the death of their son, William, 22, in an automobile collision, in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court, naming Fred H. Elder and Harry Solomon as defendants. The son was riding in Elder's car when it collided with one driven by Solomon on Bigelow boulevard, near the Seventeenth Street incline, June 18 last; the suit charged.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

FOR TOO many years to mention I have nursed the opinion that all folks who are associated with the night club industry are just a little bit daffy. Many of the cafe owners feel exactly the same way about the Broadway columnists, however, and it's a toss-up as to which side is correct.

Until last week I had a favorite story about a night club proprietor. With a columnist a favorite story is one he can repeat eight times before the readers write in and tell him they read it in some other column a short time before.

Some five or six years ago I sat in a joint with the owner. We discussed this and that, and arrived at some very definite conclusions about nothing in particular. Suddenly he spoke magic words.

"Mark," he chirped, "I've just received a shipment of some of the finest Scotch to land here since prohibition. Would you care for a drink?"

Now it is well known among my associates that I rarely go in for the hard stuff. It simply doesn't appeal to me. An occasional drink of brandy, rye or Scotch is okay—but mostly I leave the hard stuff to the others. On this night, however, I felt a bit of a chill. And even though I had quite a battle with myself, my weaker side finally won out.

"Yes," I said. "I certainly would."

A waiter was summoned and given the order. A few minutes later, he was back with the choice Scotch. The proprietor and I both drank, and I nodded approvingly. It really was excellent. So, after another terrible battle with myself, during which 18 hives popped out, I called the waiter.

"Bring two more of the same," I announced; "And hurry them along."

The new drinks were soon before us. Once more we raised our glasses. I took one taste and I almost choked. It was brutal stuff. A look of surprise came over the proprietor's map.

"Mark," he cried, "this is terrible. Awful."

He jumped to his feet.

"Come on with me," he ordered. "We'll go downstairs and see the man who sent them up. There must be some mistake."

He walked rapidly through the club, but I followed at a more leisurely pace. When he reached the man for whom he was looking, I was some distance in the rear.

"Jim," he muttered, "I want to know about that last drink you sent up. Was that the good stuff or the bad?"

"It was the bad," replied the checker promptly.

The proprietor grew angry.

"What was the idea," he roared, "of sending me the bad stuff?"

A look of genuine wonderment crossed the checker's face.

"I didn't know that drink was for you," he murmured. "I thought it was for Hellingner!".

As I told you before, that was my favorite story about a night club. I have told it in the column on the air, in my home and in my sleep. Although you may not believe it, it has grown so bad lately that Barney, my English bulldog, waddles from the room whenever he hears me begin it. He doesn't lack for company, however, because my wife is already out of the room when she only suspects that I am about to begin it.

It was either Shakespeare or Jack Diamond who once said that all good things must come to an end. Thus it happens that I now have a new favorite story about a night club proprietor.

For the past year or so the proprietor of one of New York's swankiest night clubs has been scrapping with me. His spot is located in the East Fifties, just off Park avenue, and it has the reputation of being the ritziest sort of a place. Maybe that's why I never went for it in any hectic way.

Just why the man should have been angry with me I could never quite understand. All I ever said about his place was that he didn't know how to treat customers, that his head waiter was a bum, that his help was extremely discourteous and that his food could have been much better. Can you see any reason why a sane man should take offense at that?

At any rate, although I seldom went near the place in question, the passing of time did little to increase the love between that proprietor and myself. Many people came to me with similar stories.

"What did you ever do to George?" they asked me. "I was over to his place last night and he had you on the pan in terrific fashion. He made a speech about you that stopped at nothing."

That was all okay with me because I discount all such tales at least 95 per cent. Besides, I imagined that plenty of Broadwayites were running to him with similar stories about me. So we were still just about even.

Last week, during one of those hurry-up parties after the show, a very charming gentleman was seized by a notion.

"Mark," he announced, "we're going over to George's place."

I shook my head.

"Oh, no we're not," I informed him. "I don't want to have anything to do with that guy. We haven't spoken in a year and I'm still breathing regularly. Why fool around with my good luck?"

It was easy to see that this gentleman was going to be very persistent. He was one of those chaps about whom people always say: "Oh, he means well." And aside from a pickled herring, there isn't anything quite so annoying.

"You're going, Mark," he went on. "He's a dear friend of mine—and so are you. It's time you two made up. I'm going to see that's just what happens, even if I have to drag you there. Come on now."

Well, in the end, I went. I stepped into George's place and the well-meaning bird made the two of us shake hands. I dropped mine just as fast as he dropped his—but it was a handshake just the same.

There were five in our party and George sat with us. He and I began to talk—and as we talked we sipped highballs every now and then. Pretty soon I began to like George a little better. He was beginning to feel the same way about me. Within an hour we were both certain we had made a terrible mistake.

That man was the perfect host. He couldn't do enough for us. None of us was hungry, but he insisted on ordering five portions of chicken a la king for the table. He had the orchestra play the music from the Follies. He did everything but stand on his nose to make me happy.

"George," I said, "all this only goes to prove how wrong one man can be about another. Without really ever knowing you, I formed hasty conclusions. I'll do my best to make amends because I certainly had you wrong from the start."

He placed a hand on my arm.

"Forget it, Mark," he replied earnestly. "I was the same way about you. Now that we understand each other, I want you to make my place your home. From now on we're pals."

We shook hands warmly. A short while later, I called for my check.

"Yes, sir," said the waiter.

He handed me my check. For five bottles of White Rock and five portions of chicken a la king my bill was $94.70! . . .

WOMAN, 3 MEN HELD IN THEFT

Three men and a woman, accused of robbing an Apollo refreshment stand of $60 and of attempting to repeat the robbery two weeks later, were to be arraigned before Squire Campbell, of Apollo, tonight.

State police at the Butler barracks said that Donald Kennedy, 33, and his brother, James, 24, of Erie, who were arrested there Tuesday, confessed, and implicated Mrs. Hazel Bush, 40, of Vandergrift, and Dominic Scarfo, 21, of New Kensington.

Privates A. B. McEwen and M. J. Donley trailed the Kennedy brothers to Erie, they said, after investigating the robbery of Al Anderson's refreshment stand on July 9 and an attempt to burn it July 17, when four prowlers failed in an effort to force an entrance.

The charges against the four are robbery and assault and battery with intent to kill.

Mystery in Killing Of Woman on Road

SCOTTS BLUFF, Neb., July 23.—(AP.)—Sheriff A. M. Webb, of Morrill County, and independent investigators were seeking today to solve what they said was one of Western Nebraska's strangest mysteries.

It came to light yesterday when Walter Van Dyke, 18, casually inquired about the identity of a woman he saw killed on the highway near Bayard last Sunday. No reports of the accident had come to the police, and inquiry showed no accident victim had been treated at the hospitals, nor was any unidentified body being held at any mortuary.

Ex-Officials Freed In Liquor Trial

SANTA FE, N. M., July 23.—(AP.)—Holding that government evidence was insufficient for presentation to a jury, Federal Judge F. E. Kennamer, of Oklahoma, instructed a verdict of acquittal for the six defendants charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition law at Gallup, N. M.

Those charged were former District Judge Reed Holloman, of Santa Fe; Attorney H. C. Denny, former Assistant District Attorney; Henry Glasscock, former county clerk; C. M. Rouse, Nick Pavletich and Chauncey M. Depew, all of Gallup.

RAIN CAUSES LAWN TO CAVE

A deep hole on the front lawn of Grant Foreman, 316 East Eleventh avenue, Homestead, was roped off today as a safeguard to pedestrians. The hole, 10 feet deep and eight feet wide, was caused when the ground fell as a result of the heavy rain in the vicinity Tuesday.

A wind and hail storm which late yesterday swept over a section of the South Hills district, drove players from the St. Clair Country Club golf course. The wind lifted the roof of the pump house of the club from the building and carried it about 20 feet, and uprooted a number of trees in the vicinity.

POLICE GUARD DEERING HOME

EVANSTON, Ill., July 23.—(AP.)—A police guard was placed yesterday about the home of Mrs. Charles Deering, widow of the late chairman of the International Harvester Company, after threats of bombing were received through anonymous telephone calls.

Police believed the threats were made by members of the gang that invaded the Deering mansion, held servants at bay for four hours and drove off with 20 cases of pre-war liquors.

The telephone threats were:

"We warned you not to call the police and we're coming back with a bomb this time."

Prisoner Injured Trying to Escape

He attempted to escape from a patrol wagon last night while being transferred from the East End to Squirrel Hill Station after being arrested for alleged impersonation of a garbage company inspector.

Payroll Bandits Rob Chester Plant

Yard Goods Remnants Slashed in Price

Silks—Woolens—Rayons—Cottons Georgettes—Chiffons—Laces, etc.

The name of this great sale, "Remnant Day," came from the early days when nothing but piece goods remnants were sold. Continually down through the years, the aisles on the first floor, where the thousands of remnants of Silks, Fine Cottons, Linens, Rayons, Woolens, Laces, Georgettes, and Chiffons are on sale, are the beehives of the entire store.

TOMO BOGGS REMN DA

—which means The Remnant Day—the Boggs & Buhl originated Remnant Day—chandise or Sales Event of the community—been and still are synonymous with the year, with market conditions and prices as ion at top notch—it will, without questi sultful Remnant Day of them all.

NEW MERCHANDISE

Bear That in Mind!

The word "Remnant" pertains to prices — "Remnants" of the present low prices—as well, of course, to short lines of staple goods. But, bear in mind, a good percentage of the things to be sold are brand new late Fashion merchandise bought right up to the last few days and marked on a price basis that seems almost ridiculous. A determined effort to not only carry out the tradition of slashed prices for Remnant Day, but to outdo any similar day in the history of the store.

NO OLD STOCKS

There Aren't Any Here!

Remnant Day is not an outpouring of undesirable left-overs from past seasons—the slow-sellers are not accumulated for this event—they are priced to sell in season—and DO sell. This is the dramatic Sales event of the year, when a radically slashed price effort sweeps the institution and large special last minute purchases for the occasion are treated with the same price lowering policy. Our Remnant Day is an institution in Pittsburgh—and everyone knows that this policy has made it so—and will continue.

MELODY KINGS ON AIR :-: Paul Gannon Sings 'Forgotten'

We Now Present

By Darrell V. Martin
Radio Editor

FROM HIS SUMMER home in Bar Harbor, Me., Walter Damrosch, dean of radio conductors, declared today that the world needs a new giant of music—

Darrell V. Martin

"a Wagner or a Beethoven, who will turn music in a different direction." Mr. Damrosch is absolutely right. With the love of music among the general public greater than ever, we have no individual composer whose style is distinctive enough to go down with the ages. As Mr. Damrosch sees it, the old masters are being used over and over again, there is too much repetition in radio programs and new composers must be developed in the next few years if we are to keep radio entertainment fresh and interesting. Rubinstein, Tschaikowsky and Raff are dying slowly, Mr. Damrosch regrets, but he is delighted to see the symphonies of Bach and Brahms holding their own in radio.

Radio has done much to break down a general suspicion among the public that anything classical is for long-haired people with eccentric habits . . . and it should be responsible soon for a renaissance in music such as painting enjoyed in the fifteenth century.

Just a Suggestion

A group of radio editors in New York were dumfounded the other night when William Van Hoogstraten (WJAS, 10), asked them what could be done to interest the public in better music. Music hath not only charm but a story to tell . . . and if the sponsors of programs would conscientiously devote a little time to describing the how and why of music as Walter Damrosch does in his "Music Appreciation Hour," there would be a wider audience almost over night. For instance, have you ever heard anyone tell on the radio the beautiful story back of Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata," the touching heart scene back of Gounod's "Funeral March of a Marionette," or how Carrie Jacob-Bond's sad life contributed heart throbs to her sentimental ballads? No. Somebody could make a big hit in radio by throwing off the cloak of sophistication. Let some evening sponsor dramatize these better known works and there will be plenty of concentrated dialing. Everyone cannot study music; why limit its appreciation to the person who can?

Is it true that Graham McNamee was born in Columbus, O., and lived a short time in Pittsburgh?—"Office Girl," Grant Building.

Answer—The old McNamee home is on North Grant avenue, in Columbus, O. When Graham was about 10 years old, Mrs. McNamee took him to New York to study music, stopping off for a short time in Pittsburgh but not locating here. Graham's father was a lawyer and his mother a church singer.

Studio Lights

When Floyd Gibbons and Isaac Don Levine discussed Russia before an NBC mike, each was given 14 minutes to talk. Gibbons spoke first, finishing on the dot. Levine, suffering from the Gibbons influence, read his 14-minute script in eight minutes flat and the two had to ad lib for six minutes to fill out their allotted time.

W2XAB, the television station, has a "correct time" clock as its radio sight trade mark . . . a sister station, W2XE, provides a television program tonight for passengers at sea on the Leviathan . . .

Ben Bernie settles in New York tonight after an absence of nearly two years . . . his new radio schedule: WABC and CBS network every Tuesday night at 10, and WABC only on Wednesday midnight; Friday, 11:30, and Sunday midnight . . .

The Lumberjack Quartet is due back on WCAE in September . . .

NBC has canceled, but CBS still has hopes of broadcasting the "Frontier Days Celebration" from Cheyenne, Wyoming, this Saturday from 5 to 6 p. m. . . .

Beatrice Lillie, Fanny Brice, Peggy Wood, Frances Williams and other stars are coming back in the "Personality" program via CBS-WJAS, starting Wednesday, August 12 . . .

In answer to our query the other day about Vaughn de Leath, John Royal, of NBC, wires that she goes regular on WEAF-WCAE next Thursday at 7 . . .

A mammoth chorus supported by an orchestra of 1,200 musicians is being arranged for NBC-KDKA from Soldiers' Field, Chicago, Saturday night, August 22 . . .

Two figures of the late World War come to us soon . . . James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, on "Russia as a World Power," over WCAE next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock . . . and Admiral Jellicoe, England's most honorad naval hero, over KDKA on Friday, August 28, at 2:30 p. m. . . .

There ain't never been a church built so big that you could find the Lord in it any quicker than you could in a real old-fashioned home.

The Loud Speaker
By Louis Reid

NEW YORK, July 23.—Conversation between America and Australia continues to be aired regularly with Kingsford-Smith usually at the microphone down under. Of all people in the headlines trans-oceanic fliers show the least fright at the microphone.

Can't get over N. B. C.'s management of Post and Gatty's tour of the land. Two years ago such a thing wouldn't have been thought of by the broadcasters. . . . Now they're putting their restless fingers into all kinds of enterprises. . . They're probably trying to snare Lindbergh. We'll bet our detachable cuffs the answer is "NO." It was good news to the cretonned sofa. Twenty Grand was entered in the Arlington Classic. There's nothing like a good hoss race to make the front parlor endurable these days.

Sooner or later every visiting celebrity on Columbia's roster is the guest of honor at a dinner given by the broadcasting company. Latest guest was tall, sad-eyed, symphony maestro Von Hoogstraten . . . Most of the symphony leaders have distinction of face and figure, differing in that respect from their brothers in jazz . . . Always like to look at Damrosch. Finely-chiseled head, friendly eyes, commanding chin, austere mouth . . . Yet he's not the personification of grace with a baton. The most graceful man with a baton we ever saw was Josef Stranksy . . . Every little while the bigger bands pull Honegger's "Pacific 231" out of their musical sidings. Accurate locomotive effects, if little else, in that piece.

The old tune, "Aw Gee, Be Sweet to Me, Kid," is being resurrected for the ether. That's one we had completely forgotten. Have yet to hear of any songwriters being signed up by the radio caliphs . . . Yet the caliphs are now getting around to presenting original musical revues. We'll wait for television . . . and with television we'll get the Astaires, the Marx Brothers, Clark and McCullough, Bill Robinson. . . . Not many artists in or out of radio have such a singable name as Little Jack Little.

NEW STRENGTH in the Blood

RICH, red blood plays a dominant role in maintaining health. It builds and sustains . . . removes impurities from the tissues. When you add New Strength to the blood and bring it back to normal, your whole body is invigorated and strengthened . . . your mental condition is improved . . . you are better able to resist infection and disease.

If your vitality is low and you feel weak, don't care to eat, have lost weight, your skin is sallow, pale or broken out with pimples or boils, let S.S.S. purify and enrich your blood.

S.S.S. is composed of fresh vegetable medicinal ingredients in concentrated form. It has a successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood—this New Strength naturally makes for better health and happiness.

For Summer Evenings

Pattern 2178

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

In the summer, formal frocks are more versatile than they are at any other time of the year. Dressing up in strictly evening frocks is often too much of an undertaking in hot weather, so we wear cool frocks like this one. Without the cape collar, it would be a charmingly simple evening gown. With the cape collar it becomes an ideal frock for summer evening dances, but also a frock one may wear in the daytime, for afternoon teas or bridge parties. Organdie is a crisp becoming material in which to make it, but chiffon, georgette, eyelet embroidered cotton, or sheer batiste would do equally well. It is stunning over a dark slip.

Obtainable only in sizes, 13, 14, 16, 18, 20, 31, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 14 requires 5 yards of 39-inch material. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

THE PATTERN CATALOG features an excellent assortment of afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddies' clothes, also delightful accessory patterns. MA'S HUSBAND FIGHTS ARREST

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—(AP.)—Guy Edward Hudson announced through his attorney today that he would not surrender to face a bigamy charge in Cowlitz County, Wash., until a certified copy of the warrant is received in Los Angeles.

A telegraphic warrant for the arrest of Hudson, who married Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, in Longview, Wash., last month, is now in the hands of the sheriff.

Prosecutor Cecil C. Hallin filed the complaint yesterday. It charged Hudson was legally wedded to Mrs. L. Margaret Newton-Hudson when he married Mrs. Kennedy. Mrs. Kennedy-Hudson was scheduled to go to court today to annul her marriage.

SIX HENDERSON WILLS FILED

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(AP.)—Six conflicting wills of the late Mrs. Mary T. Henderson, wealthy dowager, have been filed for probate in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, and the disposition of the "Henderson millions" today was in doubt.

Because Mrs. Henderson made so many wills in an effort to prevent her disinherited foster grandchild from obtaining any of her vast estate, attorneys expressed the opinion that all of them might be invalidated and the estate distributed under the laws of descent.

In that case, Mrs. Beatrice Henderson Wholean, who was for many years thought to be a blood granddaughter of the mistress of "Boundary Castle," might share in the estate, estimated at between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

Greek Churches Hold Picnic at Kennywood

One of the most colorful picnic gatherings of the summer season is being held at Kennywood Park today in the observance of Carpatho-Russian Day, the Greek Catholic churches joining in the outing. Native folk songs, music and dancing are featured. The committee in charge includes the Rev. Peter Molchany, the Rev. Michael M. Staurosky and Joseph Petrovosky.

The Knights of Columbus and Catholic Daughters of America outing set for Kennywood yesterday was postponed because of rain until August 12. Warner Brothers theaters will be hosts to their children's clubs at the park tomorrow.

MORROW ASKED TO REUNION

Senator Dwight W. Morrow and Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, head of the enforcement fleet of the United States Coast Guard, have been invited to attend the annual alumni reunion Saturday of the old Oakdale Academy, an early Pittsburgh educational institution which was disbanded in 1897. Senator Morrow is an alumnus and Billard was formerly a professor of Latin and English at the academy in 1892 and 1893.

Since 1897, the Oakdale Academy building on Hastings avenue, used as the Boys' Industrial Home. The reunion will be held there. John Holmes, auditor of the Union Trust Company, and Harry Nesbit, attorney, alumni, will speak.

G. W. Hoffman, president of the National Life Insurance Company, and president of the Alumni Association, has charge of the reunion. Mrs. William W. Nesbit, Jr., Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, is chairman of the program committee. Mrs. Wilson Bell, Oakdale, is refreshments chairman, and Miss Mayme Hopper, Oakdale, is secretary.

2 DRYS SLAIN, KILLER CAUGHT

FORT WAYNE, Ind., July 23.—(INS.)—George Adams, paroled bootlegger, who shot and killed two federal dry agents when they trapped him here last night, was captured early today at the home of a friend, where he had stopped for medical aid.

The slain agents were John I. Wilson, head of the special unit of the Indianapolis prohibition office, and Walter M. Gilbert, of the dry department at Cincinnati. Two were injured in the gun battle, C. E. Green, of Portland, Ind., and Oliver J. Gettle, of Indianapolis.

The four had arranged with Adams to deliver liquor at a bridge. When he arrived at the rendezvous the position of the agents' cars led Adams to suspect a trap and he immediately began firing.

LINDY AND WIFE HOP NEXT WEEK

NEW YORK, July 23.—(INS.)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh expect to take off next week on their long flight to China and Japan.

Col. Lindbergh announced today he could not name the exact day of the hopoff.

He said:

"Only one or two instruments remain to be put in the ship, and we will be ready."

The Lindberghs will first fly to Washington to obtain papers to clear their plane in various countries, returning here for the actual start of the flight. Their first stop will be Ottawa and from there they will fly across Canada to Point Barrow and Nome. Next they will hop over the Bering Sea, then down the coast to Kamchatka. From Petrapavlosk they will go to Tokio.

Brodie's Dive Debated After 45 Years

NEW YORK, July 23.—(AP.)—It is just 45 years to a day since Steve Brodie bobbed up soaking wet under Brooklyn Bridge to win undying fame and add a phrase to American slang.

But the argument about it isn't settled yet. Gatherings of Brooklyn sporting gents still get hot and bothered debating the question:

"Did he jump or was it just a clever stunt with a dummy?"

City Treasurer.

HAPPY BREAK -:- The Talkies Boost Stock Of Young Actor -:- AMUSEMENTS -:- News and Notes About Coming Pictures

By HARRISON CARROLL

Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate.

HOLLYWOOD, July 23.

Talkies certainly were a happy break in Neil Hamilton's career.

Instead of being on the way out, he has a long-term contract with a studio which recognizes his merit.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has just assigned Neil to play opposite Joan Crawford in "The Mirage," his second appearance with the star. This play is the old Edgar Selwyn drama about a girl who took the easiest way, later to renounce a country boy with whom she fell in love. Florence Reed played in the Broadway production.

Neil Hamilton

Of course, the original script will be submitted to an extensive renovation for talkie purposes. Lenore Coffee, veteran scenarist, is attending to this. In the meanwhile Neil and Joan are finishing up retakes on "Girls Together." Clarence Brown has stepped in to polish up the Nick Grinde version.

SOME DO, AT THAT

Newest and best of the Samuel Goldwyn anecdotes quotes the producer as boasting to a friend:

"My pictures griddle the earth."

LATEST GOSSIP

All our sympathy to Grant Withers who fell off a merry-go-round horse at the beach and knocked out two teeth. . . The millenium nears. According to Francis Wallace, Dick Arlen's new picture, "Touchdown," will have no fat boy, no bookworm with goggles and no last minute touchdown. Still more radical, the girl does not send a message to the hero on the field . . . Betty Brent was so battered by a wave at Malibu that they had to send to Los Angeles for a doctor. . . . Uncle Carl Laemmle sails July 23 for three months in Europe. While in England he will visit his biographer, John Drinkwater. . . . Leo Carrillo is a guest of Edward L. Doheny on a yachting trip to Mazatlan. The party will do some deep-sea fishing. . . . Willie Hoppe, the big cue and billiard ball man, will make a short for M. G. M. Pete Smith will dialogue it. . . . A crowd at Neil Hamilton's beach place were discussing "Strangers May Kiss." Alice Joyce's little girl, Peggy, panicked them by asking Hamilton: "Were you in that?"

Grant Withers

TOUGH ASSIGNMENT

It seems to me Edna May Oliver's part in "Frontier" is worthy of comment. The comedienne will play "Mme. Moustache," a gambler and a dead shot with a rifle and a pistol. The character is historical, the real "Mme. Moustache" having been known to men of the Black Hills gold rush as the "Queen of Deadwood."

I don't have to tell you "Frontier" will be one of R-K-O's specials of the coming year, or that Richard Dix will be it's star. The production is slated to start after Dix finishes "Secret Service." And is everybody smiling broadly at R-K-O since the star put his name to another contract. The prospective loss of Dix, after he had been promised to the exhibitors in two big pictures, wasn't a laughing matter to R-K-O officials. Especially, with the specter of the bankers ever hanging over Hollywood's head.

Heroine

Dorothy Lee, petite screen beauty, has the girl friend role in Bert Wheeler's film, "Too Many Crooks," opening tomorrow in the Sheridan Square.

Fulton Closes Saturday Until August

"Confessions of a Co-ed" and the Schmeling-Stribling fight pictures will be retained in the Fulton tomorrow and Saturday. It was the original intention of the Fulton management to close the theater tonight for the installation of a modern cooling system, but it was decided to keep the bill for the two extra days.

Following Saturday night's screenings, the Fulton will be closed for an indefinite period, probably two weeks, for installation of a cooling and ventilation system.

When the Fulton reopens early in August for the new season, the first attraction probably will be the new Ruth Chatterton drama, "The Magnificent Lie."

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

(Copyright, 1931, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

If books, plays and movies were half as interesting as people! . . . It is diverting hearing of this lad or that lass in the Broadway Frame . . . Or those who sit across from you in the subways, for that matter . . . Everybody has a "story" . . . That's why, I suspect, everybody feels like jotting it down between covers . . . Because their story, you know, is so much more interesting than yours. . . . That little kid who dances with such abandon in that night club, frinstance . . . A talented person, she is—and very lovely to look upon . . . To trim the payroll she was ordered to pose in the lewd, too, or else they would get someone who would . . . She consented reluctantly . . . "If she doesn't like doing it," I was saying, "then why does she?" . . . One of the other girls explained . . . "She will do almost anything, I suppose, to get enough money to take her mother out of a roadhouse where she is dusting cuspidors!" . . . I like that story, too, about the "Follies" dolly, who rather than go through the same routine with this or that lad, in this speakeasy or that apartment, treated herself to a swell time after the show Saturday night . . . She attired herself in her most ordinary apparel . . . Stuck a ten-spot in her pocketbook, and then got into her roadster: "Here's going no place in particular," she said, "until curtain-time Monday!" . . . A devil in heaven.

Things must be getting Just Too Bad when the press agent of a leading theater has to call up critics and say: "If you give us a good notice this week we will enlarge it and put it in a lobby frame." . . . Liveright wants the verse from the col'm for a book—that is, the Don Wahn, Kid Kazanova, Young Man of Manhattan material. . . . Dorothy Parker's "Death and Taxes" is grim, but grand . . . "Women and Elephants Never Forget" probably will be clipped and saved by every woman who Lives, but doesn't Learn . . . Glad to see Selma Robinson's poems between covers . . . "City Child," the book, will be christened, and Farrar-Rinehart will release soon. . . . My favorite being: I know from the start how this will end; the hand now hot will grow slowly cooler—and love in tatters too mean to mend—will be a beggar that was a ruler . . . I know quite well that a mouth or a chin—or a dimple below or a shadow above—are senseless things for a woman to pin—her hope and her happiness to in love . . . I know, and there's none knows better than I, love's a matter for vain regretting . . . One man's the same as another man—I know and I know, but I keep forgetting.

Come to think of it, those novelists who "even matters" with their enemies by writing books about them are, after all, sissies. . . . What a way to square a grudge! . . . On Broadway you simply punch a hated one's nose or you let the other fellow break his knuckles trying to punch yours . . . Ben Hecht, I mean, who is being spanked on the wrist in a new tome . . . Even his former squaw, Marie Armstrong, has one coming out in August called "My First Husband" . . . The whole world is striving to be clever . . . The Big Idea is to make the Front Page . . . Mr. Pihodna, however, shrinks the inflated heads by reminding them that the only thing that makes the front page every day—is the weather . . . The actual author of "The Washington Merry-Go-Round," which slams everything and everybody in the National Capital, has not been definitely discovered . . . The best opinion you get from the Washington lads, however, is that it is a symposium by five or six fellows. . . . Consensus of opinion is that Paul Anderson, of a St. Louis rag, and Drew Pearson, of a Baltimore sheet, are two of the gangsters. . . . And that whoever wrote the press chapter probably will have his throat cut when nailed . . . It's a sizzler of a book, at any rate. . . . The sort you read twice, so that you may refresh your memory, and then become interesting at parties, quoting it.

I always wondered what the real story was about him . . . I mean that lad whose death remains a "mystery" to many . . . They are saying that it happened this way—that he was playing backgammon for stiff stakes . . . And his wealthy wife, who usually paid off for him, 'phoned, and urged him to come home for dinner, as they had guests . . . He told her he was behind $250,000, and would try to get some of it back . . . Later he called her and said that he had won back the 250 and was ahead that much . . . That he didn't want to strand them, considering that they gave him a chance to get even . . . He stayed long enough to lose a million dollars . . . The next day when he realized how much of his wife's money he had wasted, he 'phoned the winner and alibied: "You know, really, I drank too much, I didn't know what I was doing" . . . The winner told him to forget about it, if he felt that way, but never to talk to him again . . . But his social standing went to dust—everywhere he went he was ostracized . . . His Wall street and socially registered friends called him a welcher . . . He and his lovely wife were ignored when the invitations went out for dinners, etc. . . . So unable to combat it all he killed himself . . . His former mansion now is the site of a swanky speakeasy . . . Where between rounds they tell the tale in hushed tones . . . It gives the place "atmosphere" . . . And in one corner, Men Who Slice Wages Because Of The Depression play Backgammon for stiff stakes.

Never laughed so much at the Palace as on the Sabbath eve. . . . That Holtz Person . . . He's crazy! . . . But contagiously so, of course . . . His British stuff is immense—and his other hilarious dialects . . . He certainly caters to his audiences—holding up the proceedings, just to please them, until long after 11 . . . I don't agree with Bob London's new definition of a "stooge"—A guy who is funnier than his boss! . . . Holtz is funnier than every show in town . . . What a sizzler of a story that one will be when it breaks a few months hence . . . She is in California now . . . Her husband is here . . . He wasn't the type who tipped his hands like an amateurish poker player . . . When she least expected it, or even suspected that he knew—he had a mass of divorce papers slapped on her . . . He only named a dozen men . . . Six of them are still married . . . So she stayed on the long distance telephone in Hollywood the other day, calling them up to break the news . . . "I only thought it fair," she said, among other things, "to give you three months' time in which to square things with your wife" . . . Three months is not enough.

Wise Americans Now Demand Kruschen Salts

Keep You in Good Health —Skin Clear and Body Free from Fat

Just think of it: these new, better and different salts were only introduced into America 3 years ago—yet a host of intelligent Americans are healthier and happier because of their supreme goodness.

Kruschen Salts are the daily health dose of millions of people the world over.

One-half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning gently but surely stimulates the liver, bowels and kidneys to healthy elimination.

But the six salts in Kruschen do more than cause regular elimination—the man or woman who takes them regularly needs have no fear of poisons polluting the system, which is the cause of many annoying and depressing ills.

One bottle of Kruschen Salts, (lasts 4 weeks) costs but 85c and one bottle will prove of vast benefit to people who have constipation, headaches, indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, depression, acidity and auto-intoxication.

Not only that but one bottle will bring about body activity—increase in energy, vigor and ambition, sparkling eyes and freedom from pimples and blemishes—millions know all this—you ought to know it.

Jobless Man Hangs Self by Bedclothes

BETHLEHEM, Pa., July 23.—(AP.)—Ciro Decorsta, 50, despondent and out of work, ended his life by hanging himself in his home with a noose made of bedclothing.

Kaufman Requests Denmark Transfer

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(INS.)—David E. Kaufman, of Philadelphia, American minister to Siam, called at the White House yesterday to confer with President Hoover and press his bid for transfer to Denmark. The diplomatic post there was made vacant recently by the death of Ralph H. Booth, of Michigan.

Kaufman has been recommended for transfer to Denmark by both Senators Reed and Davis. It is understood that the climate of Siam disagrees with him.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Edward Crandall, recently seen on the Broadway stage in "Give Me Yesterday," will be Janet Gaynor's leading man in "Delicious." We thought Charles Farrell fans would like to know. El Brendel will play the principal comedy role. El did that with little Miss Gaynor in "Sunny Side Up."

* * *

Small Timer says that others may brag as they will, but the only man he knows who works up from the bottom is the lad who carries bricks up a ladder to the mason.

Joe Penner, who has clowned around Pittsburgh theaters a great deal in recent months, is to show his buffoonery in a musical show, "Always Young," to be produced by Schwab & Mandel just as soon as they get their other tune play, "Free For All," tuned up next month. J. Harold Murray will be the lyric star of "Always Young." * * *

Small Timer, asked if it were true that his wife's relatives came across in the Mayflower, said that if they ever came across in anything or for anything it was news to him.

George Jessel has signed to appear in a musical production next season...Ed. Wynne's new musical show will be called "The Laugh Parade"...Grace George may tour again in "The Second Mrs. Fraser"...Nancy Carroll will be teamed with Buddy Rogers in "Mary Makes a Call"...Vivienne Osborne, Broadway stage star, will make her film debut in "Through the Window"...The debut of Kay Francis as a Warner Brothers star will be in "The Rich Are Always With Us"...Eva Le Gallienne, burned early in June in a gasoline heater explosion, is convalescing in her summer home in Weston, Conn. She is not expected to be permanently disfigured.

Small Timer says he once was a leading man, but was able to beat his following to the stage door and thus escape into an alley.

Karen Morley to Appear Opposite Mr. Muni

Karen Morley has been borrowed by Howard Hughes to play the feminine lead in "Scarface" opposite Paul Muni. Miss Morley's recent work was in "Inspiration" and "Never The Twain Shall Meet," MGM pictures.

Harding Begins Air Tour of Europe

Notes About Coming Bills

Robert Montgomery understudied his own butler for his role in "The Man in Possession," opening tomorrow in the Penn. In the picture Montgomery masquerades as a butler and in order to learn the art of serving and other tasks of buttling he had his own English butler teach him the tricks.

"Night Nurse," with Barbara Stanwyck, Clark Gable, Ben Lyon and Joan Blondel, comes to the Stanley screen tomorrow. Dick Powell's revue will be "On Ze Boulevard."

DRAMA OF THE AIR

"Dirigible," picture of the air, comes to the Warner Sunday midnight. Jack Holt, Ralph Graves and Fay Wray head the cast.

"Salvation Nell," coming to the Harris Saturday with Ralph Graves, Helen Chandler and Sally O'Neill, was written by Edward B. Sheldon, who wrote Greta Garbo's starring vehicle, "Romance."

OTHER BOOKINGS

Two more films are booked for the Enright next week. Opening Monday for three days will be "Chances," with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. Thursday will bring "Arizona," with Laura LaPlante and John Wayne.

"The Girl from Out Yonder," heralded as a melodrama of the sea, opens Monday night on Capt Menke's Golden Rod Showboat, now playing a second season at Montrose, just above Aspinwall. Vic Faust, the Swiss bell ringer, also will appear for another week.

Romance

Blue Ribbon Film Month Here in August

August has been designated by Warner Brothers in this district as Blue Ribbon Picture Month. Some of the pictures for August in Warner Theaters will be "The Smiling Lieutenant," with Maurice Chevalier; Constanee Bennett in "Bought;" "Penrod" and Sam," with Leon Janney; "The Miracle Woman," with Barbara Stanwyck, and George Arliss in "Alexander Hamilton."

August Parade of Hits For Loew's Penn

Manager H. M. Addison, of Loew's Penn Theater, announces that the fall movie season there will begin with August. Loew's has arranged to advance the opening of its season, not only in Pittsburgh, but throughout the country. This is made possible through the co-operation of producers who have agreed to earlier release a lot of their biggest attractions.

"Loew's August Parade of Hits" is to include Marie Dressler and Polly Moran in "Politics;" Adolphe Menjou, Irene Dunn, Ernest Torrence, Neil Hamilton in "The Great Lover;" Ramon Novarro in "Son of India," and Greta Garbo and Clark Gable in "Susan Lenox—Her Rise and Fall." The screen features will be augmented by special stage shows from New York.

PITTSBURGHERS OFF TO EUROPE

NEW YORK, July 23.—Mrs. R. J. Dodds and daughter, Miss Agnes Dodds, of 1452 Highland avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Harold O. Reif, S. E. Thomas and Mrs. A. S. Bowes, of Pittsburgh, sailed late yesterday on the Mauretania.

British and continental tours will occupy much of the time of the Doddses, who will return to New York early in September.

Bound for a tour of several weeks in Europe, Dr. J. M. Crosby, of Bradford, also sailed today on the Cunarder, among a party of 30 who will attend the eighth international dental congress in Paris from August 1 to 8. With conclusion of the convention Dr. Crosby will travel in Switzerland, Germany, Holland and Belgium.

Postal Employes To Honor Kendall

SOMERSET, Pa., July 23.—Somerset County postmasters and postal employes will hold a testimonial picnic to Congressman Samuel A. Kendall in Edgewood Grove, Saturday, to celebrate the establishment of the 44-hour week. Hundreds of postal employes from other counties are expected. Senator James J. Davis has promised to attend.

Fayette Woman Peddler Files As Bankrupt

Toufnna John, an itinerant peddler, who said her home was in Uniontown, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Federal Court today.

Her assets were listed as $56 in merchandise and $145 in open accounts, owed her, she said, by people in Fayette County, whose names and addresses she does not know, but whose homes she can locate on the road.

Her liabilities, according to the petition, are $1,072.05, including $780 in house rent and $292 on a note.

2 GAS STATIONS HELD UP

Two gasoline station holdups within 30 minutes, one in the downtown section and the other in East Liberty, early today, netted two bandits approximately $40.

Forcing Charles W. Silk, 59, night manager at the Gulf station at Fifth and Sixth avenues, to stand aside the bandits, who were Negroes, rifled the cash register of $6.35 and fled.

Thirty minutes later, while police automobiles were inaugurating a city-wide search for the bandits, they forced R. E. Snyder, night manager of the Standard Oil Company station at Baum boulevard and Amber street, into a rear room and escaped with $33.50 from a cash register.

Detectives traced one downtown filling station hold-up to a Uniontown garage, from which the bandits had stolen their car, last night. It was found abandoned in East McKeesport.

Woman Recovers Health—Credits New Teeth!

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—The necessity for teeth to beauty and health is being recognized and recommended by the highest medical authorities. Mrs. J. Kearns, Oakdale, Pa., says: "I can't thank Dr. Walls, M. D. & D. D. S., at 5th Ave. and Market St., enough for the teeth he made for me in every way—in look and fit. I especially want to call attention to my health, which is improving steadily."—Advertisement.

RATE HEARINGS ADVANCED

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(INS.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today advanced hearings on the opposition to the railroads' petition for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates here to August 10.

The railroads completed their case Tuesday. The commission said that evidence would not be received regarding treatment of individual railroads or minor groups of railroads and the level of railroad wages.

The commission today received a letter asserting commodity price declines and demands for moratoria or various types must be stopped and that a general freight rate increase would be "one of the greatest services that could be performed in the present economic crisis" from James R. Bancroft, president of the American Institute of Finance.

SEEK OHIO VOTE ON DRY REPEAL

COLUMBUS, O., July 23.—(AP.)—The newly-formed Association Against the Ohio Prohibition Amendment was preparing today for the circulation of petitions in an attempt to obtain 299,000 signatures as required by law.

The petitions provide for an amendment to the state constitution which would repeal all state prohibition enforcement laws, and the constitutional prohibition amendment, and further deny the Legislature the right to pass prohibition measures later.

State Senator Joseph N. Ackerman, of Cleveland, who started the new amendment, proposes to obtain a vote of the people on the question at the May primary in 1932.

Clubwomen Fight 'Water Weddings'

NEW ORLEANS, July 23.—(AP.)—The New Orleans Federation of Women's Clubs announces a declaration of war against loud radios at late hours and "water weddings" at all hours.

The federation also decreed that weddings at beach resorts with the couples clad in bathing suits were improper and should be prohibited.

Find Bronze Coffin On Abandoned Truck

CHICAGO, July 23.—(AP.)—If you've lost a bronze casket worth between $1,500 to $2,000, the Rogers Park police have it. The coffin, empty and apparently new, was found on a dilapidated and abandoned truck along a North Side street. The truck and coffin had been abandoned several days ago.

A Repulsive Job washing dirty handkerchiefs

Use KLEENEX instead

No laundering—no self-infection. Use Kleenex once and destroy.

AT last a new type handkerchief banishes forever one of the messiest jobs in a woman's life—the job of washing dirty handkerchiefs.

Millions are turning to Kleenex—the soft, delicate tissue you use once and destroy.

Germs are destroyed

This cleanly practice not only saves washing. It protects you from self-infection. Germs are destroyed instantly, instead of being carried back to your face.

The health importance of Kleenex during colds cannot be over-emphasized. Schools, doctors, endorse it. Kleenex is much safer for children than a handkerchief, to be carried all day long. Teach them to use Kleenex and destroy at once.

Many household uses

Kleenex is a soft, immaculate, super-absorbent tissue that has a score of daily uses.

Cleansing creams should always be removed with Kleenex. Its unique absorbency assures removal of every trace of cream and dirt.

Mothers find Kleenex wonderful in caring for babies. Motorists like to keep a package handy in the automobile. Use Kleenex for wiping spectacles; for dusting; for polishing.

Kleenex is sold everywhere, at drug, dry goods and department stores. It comes in a modern convenient package, from which tissues can be removed with one hand.

HAY FEVER VICTIMS

You'll appreciate the softness and absorbency of Kleenex.

If you have hay fever . . . if you know one who suffers . . . invest in a package of Kleenex at once. It is impossible to describe the greater comfort of these dry, gentle, absorbent tissues. Do not put up with damp, irritating handkerchiefs another day. Kleenex costs less than laundering.

KLEENEX disposable TISSUES

"Here's why I switched —how about you?"

HIS brow is wet with honest sweat—but not his Camels. Nor will yours be, no matter how hard you work or play.

Whether you labor outdoors in the rain or indoors in the heat, whether you whip a trout-stream, or whatever you do, your cigarettes will never be stained or soggy or unwholesome—if you carry Camels.

Camels are blended of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos, made fine and kept fine, kept always in prime smoking condition.

The new Humidor Pack of moisture-proof Cellophane seals in all the natural factory-freshness—seals it in so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

When you open your package of Camels, don't remove the Cellophane wrapper. Keep it on until you have smoked the last cigarette. It's put there for your protection.

Do your throat a favor, try Camels for just one day. Once you've compared their cool, smooth enjoyment with the brackish, stale taste of cigarettes packed the old way, leave them—if you can.

Tune in CAMEL QUARTER HOUR featuring Morton Downey and Tony Wons
Columbia Broadcasting System—every night except Sunday

CAMELS

NO CIGARETTY AFTER-TASTE

Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against sweat, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until the last one has been smoked

Is Wife's Smoking Habit A Ground for Divorce?

Has he the right to get a divorce because the little woman smokes?

Albert R. thinks he has. And intends to do so.

Is it a true letter? It is. And you'd be surprised to know how many of the Big Boys agree with him.

Or maybe you wouldn't be surprised. Maybe you, too, think that ladies who smoke are Vile Monsters. If so, now's your time to get on the air. And if you don't——

"My Dear Miss Martin:

"I feel that I have been badly stung in my marriage, and I would like some advice.

"I have always had a reverence for sweet, pure womanhood and, when I met my wife, I thought that I had found a girl who lived up to my best ideals. She was pretty, and always seemed dainty and nice. She had no bad habits whatever. I fell for her—hard; and, after knowing her for about a year and a half, we were married.

WON'T STOP SMOKING

"We got along fine for a while . . . and then she acquired the smoking habit. Naturally, I was angry and upset. I have always considered that any woman who smoked vile, filthy, stinking tobacco, was beneath contempt. I talked to her about it and tried to make her see how terrible it was for her to smoke, but she said that whether she smoked or not was a silly thing to make an issue of . . . that she liked it, and didn't intend to be bossed about it, even if I was her husband. In fact, she flatly refused to stop.

"Now I have always wanted a nice family, but the idea of a woman who would smoke filthy tobacco being the mother of my children is disgusting to me. Just imagine a woman holding a sweet, innocent, pure, little baby, and puffing a dirty cigaret! It disgusts me to think of it!

CONSIDERING DIVORCE

"So I am seriously considering filing a suit for divorce, on the ground that she uses tobacco, a filthy narcotic, and therefore is unfit to be a wife and mother.

"I feel that my life has been wrecked by this terrible thing. I don't know, really, what to do so I am coming to you, in the hopes that you, or some of your readers, can help me and tell me what to do.

"Don't you think that I have a right to a divorce from a woman who takes up such a filthy habit?

"Please help me.

"ALBERT R."

There he is, folks!

What's your answer? Do you think he has a right to a divorce because the little wife has learned to love her "weed"?

Does smoking make a lady unfit to be a mamma?

Or has she just as good a right to smoke as papa has?

Immodest Dress of Girls Blamed on Modern Mothers by Fay King

By FAY KING

What has come over mothers lately? Good mothers, too. They dress their boy-children up in long-trousered suits, but send their girl-children out in a shameful state of nakedness.

If a mother is not going to guide her little girl in modesty, who will protect her from the evils of the world, who else will ever take the trouble?

Today one is not surprised to see many small town mothers stampeding the movie studios, and stage doors of night clubs and musical shows, imploring to have their daughters exploited in any stage of undrape.

Which makes it all the more creditable that some worldly women, whose lives are not above reproach, protect their daughters in a way these mothers seem to be forgetting.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

"Stump Water and Black Cats Swung by the Tail"

Nothing is more interesting than to read some of the humorous advice given in Mark Twain's stories. The use of "stump water," incantations and black cats swung by the tail in the moonlight were a few of the "cures" his characters recommended for warts.

For many centuries it was believed that warts decrease in size and number with the waning of the moon. To walk backward on a moonlight night to a hollow stump filled with water, into which the hand is thrust, was a cure sure!

In certain parts of England, it is still believed that warts rubbed with bacon will disappear. This cure takes place only if the bacon is afterward inserted under the bark of an ash tree! It was thought the warts of the victim would eventually show up as bumps on the tree.

A wart is a tumor of the skin. It develops on the hand, usually during childhood. Of course, a wart may be found on some other part of the body, and it may be seen in adult life.

As a rule there is no pain attached to this tumor-like growth. A wart may cause pain if situated in a location where it becomes irritated, such as on the knuckle or along the nail. In such a position it is apt to crack and bleed, causing pain.

Warts that appear in large numbers on the backs of hands of children usually disappear spontaneously, or may do so after some sort of local treatment. Single warts which appear in adult life do not disappear so readily.

They may be removed by a knife or by caustics. Monochloracetic acid is extensively used for the removal of warts.

The acid should never be used without the supervision of your doctor. Too frequent applications may cause unpleasant damage to the skin.

The applications are continued once daily over a period of three days. The process may be repeated on another occasion and as often as is necessary to completely destroy and remove the wart.

Answers to Health Queries

Miss M. T. Q.—Are salts taken every morning for reducing purposes injurious?

A.—They should not be taken since they are apt to prove weakening.

Billie. Q.—How much should a girl 15 years old, 5 feet 2 inches tall, weigh?

A.—She should weigh about 111 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

N. M. Q.—My baby is a little over a year old and he cannot sit up or hold his head up, what would you advise?

A.—Have your doctor examine him. After a personal examination he will determine what is wrong and advise you.

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Continues Her Story

After her first ejaculation of "Something hard and knobby!" which she had repeated from my description of the contents of the secret compartment in Marion's lock-box, Lillian vouchsafed no further comment concerning my description of the box, and I knew that whatever the recollection or theory which my description had brought up, she would make no further comment until she had mulled the thing over completely.

I could almost see the mental gesture with which she tucked the information I had given her away in some compartment of her brain and turned the key upon it until some time when she should have time and opportunity to take it out and study it. And when she looked over at me again it was with the air of one who was through with ancient history, and was ready to deal with current events.

"All this leads up to something," she said crisply. "You say the box is still in the safety deposit vault of the bank. Has there been an attempt to get it out?"

"Not yet," I told her, and then, cravenly dreading to tell her of the threatening, sinister message brought by the Chinese, I plunged into the story brought to me by Mrs. Ticer but a few minutes before—of her recognition of the man, Hallam, her lodger of the winter before, whom she strongly suspected of being one of the men concerned in the attempted robbery of the farmhouse.

Lillian listened carefully until I had finished.

"Most interesting, if Mrs. Ticer's imagination isn't working overtime," she commented dryly. "A big blue sedan, you say? Now supposed to be headed west? That's what took your father downtown of course—to see that it isn't headed east again."

I made her no answer, for she had cupped her chin in her palms, her elbows resting on her knees, and when she takes that attitude so familiar to me, her invariable pose in working out a problem, I, in common with all her intimates, know better than to interrupt her train of thought.

Presently she raised her head and looked at me shrewdly.

"Now that we've circled the well-known barn of one Robin Hood, Esquire, suppose you come out into the main road," she said. "You still have the real beans intact in the original pasteboard box."

"I know it," I said penitently, conscious that I could no longer postpone the moment of reckoning, "and I promise you I shall keep nothing back. Do you remember the Chinese laundryman who came to us that time with a message from Lee Chow on Hugh Grantland's account?"

She straightened in her chair as if I had just put an electric vibrator into her hands.

"Remember him, of course!" she said tensely. "What—"

I put up my hand. "Wait," I said imperatively, and then I told her of the appearance of the Chinese in the kitchen and of the demand he had made upon me to give him "girl's box, with papers." I omitted no detail of his story of the "velly bad mans" to whom he had owed allegiance since Lee Chow "never come back" and I repeated verbatim his farewell words to me as he shuffled sadly from the kitchen.

"Sorry. Sorry for me. More sorry for you."

Lillian's face had whitened as I talked, but when I had finished her first comment was a trivial one.

"No wonder Katie insisted upon your coming to the kitchen in person," she said, and then she sprang to her feet.

"This isn't any bed time story," she exclaimed. "What have you done about the boys and Marion? They shouldn't be permitted—"

"They aren't to go outside the house," I told her, "and Mary is upstairs with Marion, while Harry and Dicky are with the boys."

"I might have known, old dear," she said warmly. "How much does Harry know of this."

"Nothing unless my father has had a chance for a word with him," I replied. "I only had time to tell Mary and Harry that something had happened which made it imperative for the boys and Marion to stay indoors. And I haven't had time to see Dicky at all. Father said he would have a conference with them as soon as he came back from downtown. I think"—I hesitated—"that he means to have no feminine attendants at that conference."

"Oh! Ye-ah?" Lillian drawled with a raucous imitation of a street youth. "Well! With all due respect to my darling Big Chief, right here is where he has two or yet three more thinks coming. I happen to be Marion's mother, and it's her box that's the cause of all this ruction. If I had only my own wishes to consider, I'd put the thing on the gatepost with a big placard above reading:

"Contents free to anybody who'll take it away and never bring it back."

"But it isn't my funeral," she went on. "Marion must decide this for herself when she's of age, and I don't intend to butt in. But this is unmistakably and undeniably what your mother-in-law would call a mess. If only my old eyes could see Lee Chow walking in at that door. It takes an Oriental to deal with the East. But there's no chance of that."

I looked up quickly. Had she betrayed a knowledge of the high-born Chinese and our old friend, Hugh Grantland, which she had not given me?

Household Hints

To revive wilted cut flowers, put them in fresh water containing an aspirin tablet. They will revive and regain their freshness in about two hours.

The irritating smell of oil lamps can be done away with to a great extent by rubbing the reservoir every day with a rag moistened with turpentine, followed by a brisk polishing with a soft dry cloth.

Visiting Card for the Miss

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly advise me the correct form to have my daughter's cards engraved? (She is 16 years of age and an only daughter.) Should the card read "Miss Allwyn," "Miss Catherine Allwyn" or "Catherine Allwyn?" She will also use the cards to enclose with her graduation invitations from high school next year. MOTHER.

I love to answer this question, for I am so enthusiastic about girls having their own visiting cards, correctly planned and excellently engraved. They cannot, in my opinion, begin too early to get the correct social consciousness about using these charming details.

Your daughter's card should read: Miss Catherine Allwyn. Although it would not be incorrect to have only the last name, with the Miss, this is rarely done now, and only by older women who are only daughters. It is far better, and far more appropriate for her to use her first name, especially since she has such a fine first name. Also the complete name makes a better-looking card, a more balanced card. And be sure not to omit the title . . . this should be used, even though your daughter is so young.

I suggest, for the type of engraving, that you use Shaded Antique Roman. It is a delightful style of engraving, and has youth, distinction, a handsome quality.

Better Be Silent

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When you are on the street with a man and you meet somebody whom you know but who is not known to your escort, is it necessary for him to say "How do you do?" when he lifts his hat? I have noticed that two of my men friends do, so will you please tell me if it is the proper thing to do? BUDDIE.

The man with whom you are walking lifts his hat, but he does not say "How do you do?"

Correct Replies

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to know the correct way to reply to an invitation to tea which is sent out written on the corner of a personal card? Would it be correct to answer by an informal note as the favor of a response is requested? W.

For the tea invitation written on a visiting card, the correct form of acknowledgement is a formal note, that is, a note written in the third person. You see, the visiting-card invitation really is formal, for it really reads: "Miss Blank invites you for tea, on Tuesday, the first of August, between the hours of four and seven o'clock."

To accept such an invitation (when a reply is requested, as it usually isn't) write:

Miss Florence Ward
accepts with pleasure
Miss Mary Montgomery's kind invitation for tea
on Tuesday, the first of August, at four o'clock.

The Beauty Box

Dry skins seldom develop large pores. The pores spread when too much oil is exuded by the sebaceous glands. To correct this, cut down on fat foods and eat more lean meats, vegetables and fruit.

When arching eyebrows, tweeze from under the line unless they are thick and bushy in which event they must be thinned on both edges and flattened down with brilliantine applied with an eyebrow brush.

Sagging muscles on either side of the nose are an affliction that comes to some women as birthdays pile up. They are the penalty paid for pulling down the mouth corners. Treatment consists of a sunnier facial expression, plus nightly tapping with the finger dipped in a heavy oil or massage cream. Ice rubs should follow.

HEALTH depends on nutrition, not just on "plenty to eat." Nature puts the right amount of health-building vitamins for you in these whole wheat wafers. The ovens bring out that wheaty-good flavor you can't resist in

AVIATRIX BUYS HILLIG PLANE

LIBERTY, N. Y., July 23.—(AP.)—Otto Hillig, photographer and trans-Atlantic flier, late yesterday completed negotiations for the sale of his monoplane, Liberty, which carried him and Holger Hoiriis to Denmark, to Mrs. Umberto Loffredo, of Buffalo, who plans to fly it to Rome.

Hillig said he received $23,000 for the plane, which had cost him $22,000 before the flight to Denmark last month. He added that he would leave before Mrs. Loffredo takes off so as to be in Rome to welcome here when she arrives.

Mrs. Loffredo and her manager left Liberty late yesterday for New York, where they will confer with Hillig Saturday on further arrangements.

SOUTH SIDERS PLAN OUTING

Thousands of South Side school children, who were disappointed when rain interfered with the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Ward school picnics, will attend the South Side business men's picnic at Kennywood Park Tuesday.

Free transportation has been arranged for children under 16, it was announced by William Finkel, chairman. Free ice cream, wieners, coffee and buttermilk will be dispensed throughout the day. One thousand dollars in merchandise prizes will be awarded winners in athletic contests.

A baby contest and pajama parade for adults and children and dancing will complete the program.

Friends to Honor Alderman Scott

Alderman William Scott, of the Tenth Ward, will be guest of honor at a banquet at 730 tonight in Paradise Gardens, Babcock boulevard. Speakers will include John Mellor, toastmaster; Thomas E. When Toes Itch Underneath and Between WATCH OUT

Your toes and feet may be infected with that vegetable parasite called Tinea Tricophyton—if besides itching, the skin is cracked and blistered, you may be pretty sure they are.

This new disease is called Athlete's Foot because this germ flourishes in the dressing and bathrooms of clubs and gymnasiums, schools and colleges, and even in hotel and home bathrooms.

Over ten million people are infected, according to medical authorities—get rid of it before it spreads to the bottom and sides of foot and brings more itching and distress.

With one bottle of Emerald Oil you can end all the misery, itching and distress and have sound, healthy feet again in 2 weeks or money back—an 85-cent bottle lasts 2 weeks. Pharmacists everywhere in America dispense it.

Soothe Your KIDNEYS—then You'll Sleep Fine!

If burning kidney and bladder passages get you out of bed a dozen times a night, rob you of rest, weaken your health—don't use cheap harmful remedies. Instead, SOOTHE the kidneys and bladder the right way.

Santal Midy spreads a coat of antiseptic oil inside these irritated organs and so helps Nature to help you. Don't wait until it is too late. Kidney diseases cause over 13,000 deaths annually. Take tasteless Santal Midy now. Favorably known by doctors and druggists.

Director Clark Lauds Police as 'Noblemen'

CHIEFS MEETING HERE ELECT OFFICERS

Pottstown Man to Head Organization for Next Year; Reading Is Named

Public Safety Director James M. Clark condemned newspapers for unwarranted attacks upon police: "God's noblemen," in an address at a dinner meeting of the eighteenth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Police Chiefs Association, in the Fort Pitt Hotel.

He said he took a drink occasionally, but would forfeit that pleasure if there was a national prohibition law that could be enforced.

"While I take a drink on occasion myself, I would be willing to forfeit all my pleasure in that drink if we could have on our books a national prohibition law that could be enforced."

CONVENTION TO END

Full protection of life and property was promised to industrial firms in a resolution passed by the association today. The promise was extended at the invitation of several industrial leaders who had asked Chief Dan T. McKelvie, of Hazelton, of the association's attitude toward protection in the absence of industrial police, wiped out by Gov. Gifford Pinchot's refusal to renew their commissions.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Chief B. B. Scheetz, Pottstown; first vice president, Supt. Charles B. Smith, Lower Merion Township; second, Supt. W. E. Mair, Westinghouse police, East Pittsburgh; third, Chief George W. Murren, Allegheny County detectives; secretary, Capt. H. S. Carry, Altoona; treasurer, Chief M. H. Hernhard, Allentown; sergeant-at-arms, Chief C. W. Rhoads, Northumberland; executive committee, Chief Charles E. Briney, Johnstown; Chief D. T. The convention closes with a banquet tonight. Speakers will include James Francis Burke, legal adviser to the Republican National Committee; District Attorney Andrew T. Park and James F. Malone, secretary of State Department of Supplies and Property.

CRITICIZES PRESS

Declaring there are just as many bad doctors, lawyers and newspapermen as bad policemen, Clark said:

"The newspapers know that everyone who is arrested is mad at the police. Every time anyone is arrested, the policeman makes from one to five enemies.

"What the newspapers want to see is a rap at the police. So they put the policeman on the front page every time he does anything wrong."

The police chiefs heard Assistant United States District Attorney Raymond D. Evans plead for public interest in wiping out the dope evil, at yesterday's luncheon.

There are three drug factories in the country, he said, whereas one could manufacture enough for its legitimate needs.

$35,000 Suit Filed Over Child's Injury

Louise Kukura, a minor child, and her parents, Joseph and Mary Kukura, of Youngstown, O., filed a suit in Federal Court against J. J. Itocin, of Ambridge, seeking $35,000 damages. In their bill of complaint they alleged Louise Kukura was struck by an automobile owned by the defendant, August 1, 1929., in Youngstown.

'GAY BROADWAY? BAH!'

Vic Faust, in wig and grin, back on the showboat at Montrose, hands full of Swiss bells, mind full of low opinions of Broadway. He can tell you of his two minutes astage there in a musical show, "The Gang's All Here!"

VIC FAUST RINGING HIS SWISS HANDBELLS

Bell-Ringer, After Two Minutes on Broadway, Back on Showboat

Vic Faust, he of the crude wig and owlish grin, is back on Capt. Menke's Golden Rod Showboat at Montrose, with his fists full of Swiss bells and his mind full of opinions of Gotham.

Mention the glory of Broadway and he stares at you with the air of a sophisticate. Well he may, too. Hasn't he been there! He made a two-minute appearance with "The Gangs All Here" musical show last season. And you can learn a lot in two minutes, he thinks.

Faust has no illusions about the Big Street now.

He says:

"Gay Broadway. Blah!"

"It is a boulevard of lights with the soul of an alley. Beneath its mussy display, it's as helpless as a bawling baby."

Sour grapes! Maybe. But it is doubtful. There is something honest and sincere about this veteran trouper.

"Kind? Yeh, Broadway's kind—when it sends you home 'broke.' That's what it did to me.

"Why a horse is kinder. I borrowed a few ragged dollars from a friend of mine and played the races in Cincinnati. I harvested about $200. Then I joined Menke's Hollywood Showboat at Nashville. Gosh, I went over grand there—with my bells. But those Nashville horses didn't like the bells. Or maybe my wig. Anyway I dropped everything on the races in that town."

The Broadway producers wanted to turn him into a matinee idol, Faust laments. They put a taboo on his fuzzy wig and burlesque makeup and wanted him to dress up. But he didn't go for that.

He says:

"You can't dress like a collar ad and ring Swiss bells."

Perhaps he's correct.

VOTE MACHINES TO BE PUT ON EXHIBITION

Bureau of Elections to Hold Demonstrations Throughout City, County

Announcement is made today by the Bureau of Elections of the plans for demonstrating the voting machines. Their operation will be explained by representatives of the bureau, familiar with both machines and the election laws. The bureau's announcement says that a machine will be on exhibition in each borough and township and in each city ward for a week.

It is also announced afternoon demonstrations will be held in different sections of the wards, boroughs and townships, when necessary for the benefit of women voters and others who cannot attend the evening meetings. Pamphlets will be distributed, published by the county commissioners, containing instructions on how to use the machines.

A machine will also be on exhibition at the commissioners' office and the Bureau of Elections daily from 9 to 4 o'clock.

The following demonstration dates in various districts are announced by the bureau:

McKeesport — July 23 to 29, Penn-McKee Hotel first three days from 2 to 10 p. m. Machine then to be moved to other locations.

Clairton—July 23-24, 2 to 10 p. m., American Legion Building; 25 to 29, at other locations.

Duquesne—From July 24 to 30, Municipal Building, 2 to 10 p. m.

Ingram—July 24 (special—will return later), Firemen's Hall, 8 p. m.

Crafton—July 25 to 31, High School, 2 to 10 p. m.

Robinson Township — July 27 and 28, Moon Run School, evenings only.

Coraopolis—July 29 to August 1, Municipal Building, four nights and Friday afternoon.

Millvale—July 28 to August 3, Municipal Building, 2 to 10 p. m.

Wilkinsburg — July 29 to August 4, Municipal Building, 2 to 10 p. m.

Etna — August 4 to 11, Elks' Hall, 2 to 10 p. m.

Demonstrations in other parts of the city and county will be announced from time to time. Every section of the county will be reached, where demonstrations will be made in ample time before the primary, the bureau said.

Woman Fails in 2 Suicide Attempts

Twice prevented from alleged attempts to end her life by drowning in the Monongahela River, Marie Moll, 31, of 131 Second avenue, Rankin, told Braddock police, at Braddock General Hospital, that she was discouraged and disgusted and wanted to end her life. Duquesne Light Company employes, Joseph Thomas and Floyd Hughes, a Negro janitor, rescued the woman from her two alleged attempts at suicide.

Aged Man Found Dead in Farmhouse

Salvatore Docaturo, 72, was found dead last night in a farmhouse near Fairview road, O'Hara Township, by William McCune, a realtor and owner of the farm, according to the coroner's report. The body was removed to the morgue. Death resulted from natural causes.

CANAL SURVEY FUNDS ASKED

City Council has been asked by the Lake Erie Canal Board to appropriate $15,000 for an economic survey along the proposed canal route. A. W. Dann, member of the board, appeared before Council yesterday and said Allegheny County will be asked for a similar appropriation.

Council directed City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt to prepare an opinion on legality of such an appropriation and asked Controller James P. Kerr to ascertain if there were funds available.

THUGS SOUGHT AFTER ESCAPE IN STOLEN CAR

Give Employe Freedom After Short Ride; Armed Robber Takes Pedestrian's $20

City-wide search was being made by police today for three bandits who kidnaped an attendant and stole an automobile from the garage of Derry & Wedd, Inc., at 5424 Center avenue, last night.

Robert Thomas, Negro attendant, of 2322 Westborn street, was in the office when the bandit trio walked in and confronted him with revolvers.

One of the thugs asked Thomas to furnish them with an automobile. When the employe answered that he had no keys to the cars, the bandits ordered him to step into one. They sped into Neville street and put Thomas out of the car, police said.

An armed robber held up Clarence Woner, of 413 Third avenue, near McKinley Park, last night, and robbed him of $20.

VOGAN SEEKS JUDGESHIP

Attorney Ulysses G. Vogan, of 5898 Hobart street, former assistant city solicitor, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for one of the four places on the County Court bench.

He was reared on a farm in Butler County, where he attended the common schools. Later he went to college and law school and has been practicing law for nearly 30 years. Vogan stated:

"I did not submit my candidacy to the Bar Association on referendum because I do not believe it is a proper function of the association to engage in partisan politics and by its indorsement, assume to limit the field of available candidates to persons of its choice."

MOONEY HEARSE HERE IN DRIVE

A hearse with its grim symbolism and painted signs arrived in Pittsburgh after a 13,000-mile trip from California in the drive to free Thomas J. Mooney, labor leader, from a California penitentiary. Byrd Kelso, of San Francisco, is the driver of the hearse, which bears signs declaring "California Justice Is Dead," "Pardon Tom Mooney, Innocent."

Two hearses now on tour are to meet in Washington, D. C., August 25. Kelso will address a series of meetings here arranged by the Socialist party of Allegheny County, and speak at a rally in East Park, North Side, at 2 p. m., Saturday.

Bus Complaint Ruling Delayed

Decision on the complaint of the Brentwood Motor Coach Company that Fred Stuhmiller, Clairton-Pittsburgh bus operator, has been picking up passengers in city limits violating his certificate will be handed down later by Examiner W. E. Best, of the Public Service Commission. The complaint was aired yesterday.

Firm Buys Own Plane to Rush Fish Here

Fresh fish rushed to Pittsburgh by plane hereafter will ride in a $13,500 flying fish wagon. The plane, a Stinson-Detroiter airplane, capable of carrying 1,700 pounds, will bring fresh fish from the Great Lakes to Pittsburgh for Donahoe's, according to announcement today.

Transportation of fish by air has been so successful, the company stated, that it has purchased its own plane, a six-passenger craft, with latest equipment and two freight compartments.

REED TO VISIT LANG'S STREET

An effort will be made tonight by City Engineer Tom M. Reed to iron out difficulties among property owners on Wilksboro avenue, who oppose the city's plan to improve the street. Reed was directed by Council's Committee on Hearings to visit the street at 7:30 tonight to meet property owners and point out the merits of the city's proposal.

Public Works Director Edward G. Lang is a resident of the street. Twelve property owners complained that the plan proposed by Lang and Reed to widen the street to 22 feet instead of the 30 feet originally outlined would injure their property.

President John S. Herron declared the street was a located street and the city would not give any property holder damages. Reed told complainants 22-foot roadway was decided upon to avoid damaging terraces and hedges.

Insurance Never Paid on Wreck Of Hesperus

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

France has agreed to temporary German relief, provided that it's temporary.

The seven-power conference signed another peace treaty just to carry them over the hot weather.

It gives Germany artificial respiration for three months.

After that they've got to do their own breathing.

It may be successful. But it's not guaranteed. Remember the insurance companies haven't paid off on the wreck of the Hesperus yet.

Now the visiting prophets must all go home, where they are not only without honor, but also have to buy their own meals.

Another international conference has come to a successful end. We don't know which end it is. But it's welcome.

AUTO HITS POLE, 2 WOMEN HURT

Two young women were injured when their automobile crashed against a pole at West Liberty and Cape May avenues, after being crowded by another car, late yesterday.

Florence Richmond, 16, of 328 Ravine drive, Mt. Lebanon, driver of the car, suffered cuts and bruises which were treated at Mercy Hospital. Her companion, Catherine Sheridan, 18, of 227 Hazel drive, Mt. Lebanon, sustained similar injuries.

Helen McCune, 12, of 1553 Canton street, suffered lacerations and bruises when she was struck by an automobile at Broadway and Hampshire avenue, last night. Police said the automobile was driven by Michael Cibrone, 22, of 49 Tunnel street.

When a truck he was driving was struck by a shifting engine of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Sidney and South Twenty-first streets, last night, Oliver Piviro'to, 21, of Turtle Creek, suffered fractured ribs and internal injuries.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 23.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

This new scheme of Mr. Hoover's for Germany "that all short-time credits shall be extended, and converted into long-time credits," why, that ain't new. That's our old standby gag of "renewing your notes." Why, half of our traffic is folks going or coming from renewing our notes. I do hope Mr. Hoover gets 'em straightened out. He has made every conscientious effort to help 'em, but helping one country in Europe is like helping one bee in a hive. You may help him (or her as the sex may be), but you will know you have been to a helping. Yours, WILL.

TAX ASSESSORS OPEN BRANCH OFFICE

McKeesport Wins Fight Against Trip to City To Get Voting Right

Until July 31, subordinate assessors from the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes will be located in McKeesport, working in conjunction with the representatives of the County Treasurer's office.

The assessors opened their branch office in the Peoples City Bank, McKeesport yesterday, following a ruling from Judge James H. Gray that it was legal for them to place additional names on the assessment books.

SUIT THROWN OUT

Judge Gray's ruling threw the case of William Sullivan, Jr. asking for peremptory mandamus, out of court. Sullivan filed a taxpayers' suit at the suggestion of Charles J. McBride, chairman of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes.

McBride said:

"We wanted legal authority to place the assessors in McKeesport. Heretofore under the county solicitor's interpretation of the law we were not permitted to do so."

The tax collection period ends the last of the month in McKeesport. Under the new plan of operation taxes can be paid and the names of those not assessed put on the books. Under the old system it was necessary for persons to pay their taxes at McKeesport and then make a trip to the Court House to get their names placed on the books.

POLL TAX ARRANGED

All the paraphernalia necessary for granting of exemptions under the Coyne act so that persons can vote on the 50 cent poll tax was also taken to McKeesport by the subordinate assessors.

At the tax board office it was pointed out that McKeesport, because of its branch tax collection office, was the logical place for a branch assessment office. Persons seeking to pay taxes and finding themselves not assessed can now without inconvenience be assessed by affidavit. No demand for branch assessment offices in other parts of the county were anticipated.

REALTY OWNERS EXCUSED FROM POLL TAX

Receipt for Property Levy Qualifies Holder to Vote, Solicitor Lesher Rules

The 50-cent poll tax, authorized by the last Legislature as a substitute for the former occupation tax, does not have to be paid as a qualification to vote by residents that have paid a property tax within the two-year limit provided by the state constitution, according to County Solicitor M. B. Lesher.

The 50-cent tax was provided only for those who were not assessed for real estate or personal property holdings. Lesher quoted the state constitution as providing:

"If 22 years of age and upwards, he shall have paid within two years a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election."

Lesher submitted a written opinion to the County Commissioners upon request of Joseph G. Armstrong and C. G. McGovern, who declared they wanted an official ruling to reply to hundreds of inquiries that had been received.

PEACE REGAINED IN MINE MEET

SCRANTON, Pa., July 23.—(AP.)—No further disorder is expected at the biennial tri-district convention of the United Mine Workers of America as the result of test votes taken which showed the administration forces headed by President John J. Boylan, in control by a 3-to-1 margin.

As on Monday and Tuesday, when the sessions ended in rioting, city police and state troopers were again on guard both inside and outside of the hall yesterday, but their services were not required. Only delegates were allowed within the convention hall.

United States Senator James J. Davis' meeting Tuesday night with Thomas Maloney and other insurgent leaders is believed to have paved the way for the peaceful session.

WHALEN'S AUTO HITS WOMAN

NEW YORK, July 23.—(AP.)—An automobile owned by Grover A. Whalen, former police commissioner, in which he was riding to the Walker-Sharkey fight, struck a woman in Brooklyn last night and caused no end of excitement.

Donald McMahon, a store manager, reported to police that a sedan knocked down a woman and went on. He said he overtook it several blocks away and told the two men in the tonneau they had struck a woman.

McMahon gave the number to police, who checked it and found it belonged to their former boss.

Several minutes later the chauffeur returned and took the woman home, as Mr. Whalen had promised.

FAMILY FORCED OUT BY MUD AVALANCHE

Firth Street Residents Move After Firemen Clear Way; Appeals to City Unheeded

An avalanche of mud loosed by rains from an abandoned stone quarry above Firth street, Spring Garden avenue district, has compelled one family to vacate their home and has filled the cellar of another home with debris.

A fire plug is almost buried under the flow of mud. Appeal has been made several times to the city to remedy conditions with little result, according to Joseph Haas, of 1455 Firth street.

HOUSE SURROUNDED

The two-story frame dwelling of Mrs. A. A. Brown, 1458 High street, was surrounded by mud and clay which reached to the second floor on the upper side. Firemen cleared away enough dirt to permit members of the family to get in and out. The garage is virtually buried and cannot be used.

Members of the Brown family packed their possessions and moved out yesterday. The family of S. Devay, 1456 Firth street, was in a quandary as to what to do with the cellar filled with dirt.

QUARRY FILLED

According to residents the shallow quarry was filled to overflowing with dirt from the excavation for the Gulf Building, downtown. The flow of mud has resulted whenever there is a heavy rain and reached its greatest extent during Tuesday's heavy downpour.

At first the city sent men to remove the mud, Haas said, but lately nothing has been done despite repeated requests. The quarry was formerly owned by an elderly woman who was compelled to relinquish possession for nonpayment of taxes, residents state. The city is believed to hold title to the quarry at present.

PLYMOUTH, England, July 23.—(AP.)—Paul Hammond's yacht Landfall, the scratch boat in the trans-Atlantic race, was abeam of the Lizard at 9:25 a. m. (5:25 a. m., Pittsburgh time) today.

Another trans-Atlantic racer, a white cutter whose identity was not learned, was eight miles behind. Both were considered likely to reach Plymouth this afternoon. There was a good wind and the sea was smooth.

Fire Destroys Art In Magnate's Home

SEES BROTHER AFTER 31 YEARS

Mrs. A. Slavkin, of 2817 White street, hadn't seen her brother, Sam Levinson, for 31 years. She was a little girl of 7 when Sam, 23, left Russia to come to America. Nineteen years ago she, too, came to America to join her husband here. She got in touch with Sam in San Antonio, Tex., through a newspaper.

They wrote to each other once a year for a while, then the correspondence ceased for nearly six years. Monday Mrs. Slavkin got a telegram saying her brother would arrive here Tuesday afternoon. She was very excited. She wondered if she would recognize the brother she hadn't seen for 31 years.

Mr. Levinson, a butcher and the father of eight children, will visit his sister for three weeks.

BEER IN DEATH QUIZ 'SAFE'

Samples from 67 cases of beer seized at Sunny Stop Inn, Versailles Township, where a man was found dead Tuesday, showed no trace of poison, government chemists reported today. Their analysis showed the beer contained 3.5 per cent alcohol.

Ten men were arrested as the aftermath of a party held in the inn Monday night and Tuesday morning. William Strachan, proprietor of the place, denied that the dead man, James Walsh, 41, of 609 Market street, McKeesport, had been in the party. He told county detectives that Walsh came to the inn in the afternoon, intoxicated, and was given a room "to sleep it off."

During the party, Edward Quinn, 34, a former Pittsburgh policeman, was beaten severely. At the hospital he gave his address as 2320 Murray avenue. Investigation proved this to be incorrect. Harry Wasserman, who lives at that address, said he did not know Quinn.

Bus Head Subpenaed In Franchise Quiz

NEW YORK, July 23.—(AP.)—The New York Transit Commission has ordered a subpena issued for Frank R. Fageol, president of the Twin Coach Company, of Kent, Vt., in connection with investigation of bus franchise awards in Brooklyn.

Fageol's firm built 100 buses for the Brooklyn Bus Corporation, a subsidary of the B. M. T. Subway system. The commission started the investigation when the bus corporation asked permission to issue $1,100,000 notes to pay for the buses.

Hot Wave Continues In Western States

KANSAS CITY, July 23.—(AP.)—Southwestern and Rocky Mountain states were offered little chance for relief today from temperatures reaching above the century mark in some sections.

A forecast of somewhat unsettled conditions was the only hope held out for Kansas, which bore the brunt of the wave yesterday. Lindsborg reported an official reading of 111 degrees and Salina one degree less. A thunderstorm cooled Topeka.

Man Given Life In Wife Slaying

Police Aid Woman Find Her $196 At Laundry

CHICAGO, July 23.—(AP.)—Policemen William Kenny and Steve Harrington went to work yesterday in a laundry.

Before them was a mountain of dirty clothes which they sorted, bundle by bundle. Beside them was Mrs. Doris Mikaliunas.

Finally, after they had sorted, and sorted and then sorted some more, Mrs. Mikaliunas shouted:

"That's it."

She pointed to a particular bundle which was opened. Inside the officers found the $196 which Mrs. Mikaliunas had hidden in a pillow case.

U. S. Court Refuses To Take Bond Suit

DENVER, July 23.—(AP.)—United States District Judge J. Foster Symes has declined to accept jurisdiction in a suit by eastern holders of Moffat Tunnel supplemental bonds to declare the bonds valid and order payment of interest.

The United States Court will have no jurisdiction, Judge Symes ruled yesterday, at least until after the final disposition of the matter in the state courts.

SEIZURES MADE IN DRY RAIDS

Five persons were arrested in four raids by prohibition agents yesterday. Large quantities of beer, whisky and wine were seized at 1 McDevitt street, where Elizabeth Gerson was arrested, agents said.

At 1029 Reedsdale street, the agents reported arresting James Omadio and Joe Omadio, after confiscating three gallons of moonshine.

Same Nicolletti, Jr., of 4415 Lucerne street, Ross Township, and Martha Glasser, of 821 Washington street, Braddock, were arrested when whisky was seized in their home, according to the raiders.

County detectives yesterday raided the homes of John Kowalski, 28, of 4210 Willow street, and Vincent Szerski, 30, of 171 Almond way, and confiscated moonshine in each, they said. The men were released on bond of $1,000 each pending a hearing before Alderman George J. Anderson.

MEN WANT QUALITY

WE'VE ASKED thousands of men in all walks of life which they preferred . . . . quality or price?

The answer in practically every case was, "Your price is low enough. Give us more quality, if possible."

Richman Brothers' policy of passing along the advantages of market conditions and our vast manufacturing resources in the form of more quality is a direct response to the wishes of the clothes buying public.

The widespread preference for quality is a compliment to the good sense of the American people, who appreciate that in the long run, quality is more economical than price.

With the approach of August, Asheville society is arranging a brilliant program of bridge teas, luncheons, dances at the hotels and country clubs. And since Pittsburgh society is always attracted to Asheville, everyone's interested in plans there.

The Junior Women's Club will give an international dance on Wednesday evening in an old tabacco warehouse with folk dances and native costumes as a feature. The warehouse will be transformed into a European garden scene.

Visiting In South

Others from Pittsburgh at Asheville are the E. M. Rosses, the L. A. Crosses and R. G. Jennings. Nancy Van Cleve, of Erie, who has visited here, is the guest of Miss Florence Boone at her Asheville home.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Horne, formerly of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Edward Van Ingen, mother of Mrs. Faber Downey, of Sewickley, are competing in luncheon table arrangements to be displayed at the annual flower show of the Southampton Horticulture Society today and tomorrow, Southampton, L. I. Mrs. Downey, who is the guest of her mother, will attend the event.

Mrs. John S. McCormick, of Darlington road, is in Atlantic City, stopping at Chalfont-Haddon Hall.

Miss Emma B. Suydam, of South Aiken avenue, is leaving next week for Bay Head, N. J., to be the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, the Richard Schoonmaker Suydams, at their susmmer home there. Later she will sail for Europe to spend a week in Holland, and then join friends in Canterbury for a tour of England, Ireland and Wales.

Florence Paulie Is Married to W. F. Craig, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Paulie, of Michigan avenue, Swissvale, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Florence Elizabeth Paulie, to Wilbert Fair Craig, of Regent Square, which was solemnized on July 12 in Port Allegany, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig, Jr., will reside in Port Allegany, where the bridegroom is engaged in geological research.

Miss Grace T. McBurney Weds the Rev. R. L. Swaim

Mrs. Caroline McBurney, of Fourth street, Wilson, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Grace T. McBurney, to the Rev. Robert Logan Swaim, of Knoxville, Tenn., and Pittsburgh, which took place at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in the Wilson Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Edgar R. Tait officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Harold H. McBurney, of Avella, wore a frock of delphinium blue organdie, with quaint puff sleeves, a basque waist and long, full skirt. Her picture hat was of blue organdie, and she carried yellow roses. Mrs. Paul H. Cowan, as matron of honor, wore yellow organdie, with a picture hat of yellow horsehair.

The bridesmaids included Miss Lois Mildred McBurney, sister of the bride, who wore ruffled pink organdie with a matching picture hat of horsehair; Miss Thelma E. Trasp, in pastel green organdie, with matching hat of green horsehair, and Mrs. Harold H. McBurney, who also wore a frock of organdie. They all carried arm bouquets of garden flowers.

Bridal Party

The Rev. William T. Swaim was his brother's best man and the ushers included J. Miller Gold and the Rev. Oliver R. Heil, both of Pittsburgh, and Louis C. Trasp, Robert S. McCormack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reese McCormack, was ringbearer.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Swaim left for Knoxville, Tenn., to spend several weeks. The bride is a graduate of California State Normal and Penn State. The Rev. Swaim attended Maryville University and the University of Tennessee and is at present attending the Western Theological Seminary in Pittsburgh.

JUNIORS TO HOLD BARN DANCE

Younger McDonald Club Women Sponsoring Party at Farm Near Cherry Valley

When the older clubwomen meet in the summer time, they hold luncheons and picnics and card parties. For the younger set, though, nothing is so appealing as a dance.

The Junior Woman's Club of McDonald has arranged a barn dance for tomorrow evening, to be held at Cujas' barn, near Cherry Valley.

Miss Lillian Mullooly is chairman, and Miss Mary Charlier and Miss Mazel McBeth are aiding her in arranging the event.

Mary O'Boyle Becomes Bride of T. P. Nee At Ceremony In Donora

On Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, Miss Mary O'Boyle, daughter of Mrs. Patrick J. O'Boyle, of Heslep avenue, Donora, became the bride of Thomas Patrick Nee, son of Mrs. Barbara Nee, of Pittsburgh, at a solemn high mass in St. Charles' Roman Catholic Church, Donora.

Officiating was the Rev. J. Dudley Nee, of St. Peter's Church, North Side, brother of the bridegroom, assisted by the Rev. Joseph Nee, of St. Cyril's Church, also a brother of the bridegroom, as deacon, and the Rev. Patrick Diskin, pastor of St. Charles, as sub-deacon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace with a large matching hat, and carried bride's roses. Miss Margaret O'Boyle was her sister's maid of honor, and wore a gown of blue mousseline de soie, with a hat of pink organdie and carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Gowned In Lace

Paul Nee was his brother's best man, and Martin Flanigan, of Pittsburgh, and John O'Boyle, brother of the bride, were ushers.

The wedding breakfast for 60 guests was served in the Monongahela Valley Country Club. The bride's table was centered with bride's roses, and the smaller tables for the guests were decked with pink roses and blue delphinium.

Mr. and Mrs. Nee will reside in Beverly Road, Mt. Lebanon, after August 15 when they will return from a honeymoon in New England.

Eastern Trip

Mrs. Nee is a graduate of Indiana State Teachers' College and has been a faculty member of the Iowa School, Monessen, for some time. The bridegroom is a graduate of Duquesne University law school.

Mrs. H. E. Wolfe is to be the guest of Mrs. Clarence Elste in her summer home on Conneaut Lake soon. Leaving for Easton, Md., the early part of the week will be Mrs. B. V. Dunbar. Mrs. Frank Rex, one of the soloists of the choral, will spend the month of August at her summer home in Northeast.

Guest at Conneaut

PRINTS RETAIN SOME FAVOR AMONG WELL-DRESSED WOMEN

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, July 23.—We are loath to be entirely out of print. And so even if the printed frock is not enjoying overwhelming popularity this season we find that some frocks and ensembles are using printed fabrics for trimming. The combination of a monotone fabric with some printed material is exceedingly bright and summery and we think it will become increasingly liked. One sees here dinner dresses of black chiffon with clever touches of the same material in brightly colored floral prints. This is a most charming idea and one wonders that it hasn't met with more success. And now comes the daytime ensemble with coat lining and dress accents of patterned fabric. It looks as though we are bound to have our prints this summer, what ever the ukase of the sartorial rajahs.

TODAY WE SHOW a sketch of a daytime ensemble by Worth that demonstrates the monotone frock with printed fabric trim. The dress and coat are of bright blue crepe romain. The coat is ever so slightly fitted at the waistline and is lined with printed crepe de chine in dull red with small white and beige flowers. The dress is trimmed with the same print and there is a scarf collar of it on the coat tying in a bow-knot at the front. The sleeves widen below the elbow and are laid in deep pleats and then narrow in at the wrist.

THE OTHER SKETCH is of the dress worn by Mrs. Potter Palmer at her recent Court presentation. It is a Worth model of white and gold lame with crystal embroidery on the shoulder, belt and skirt edge. The long square train is of the same material as the dress and is bordered with mink.

Saturday Chosen For Fischer Wedding

Miss Anna Fischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fischer, of Kittanning Pike, has named Saturday as the day for her marriage to Edwin McQuaid, of Aspinwall.

The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, with the Rev. Martin Leiseder, of the First Congregational Church, of Etna, as officiant.

Miss Esther Fischer will be her sister's maid of honor, and Anna Fischer will be her aunt's flower girl.

Serving as best man will be Wallace McQuaid, brother of the bridegroom. The ushers will be Herman, William, Richard and George Fischer, brothers of the bride.

Furnishing the wedding music will be H. Hempel, of Aspinwall; A. P. Boehm, of Pittsburgh, and L. Henninger, of Sharpsburg.

CANDIDATES HORIZONTALLY
TURN BLACK BUTTON TO RIGHT TO VOTE FOR CANDIDATE.
TO VOTE FOR PERSONS NOT ON MACHINE, TURN BUTTONS IN THIS ROW.
FIRST - PRESS VOTING CONTROL BUTTON. THIS CLOSES CURTAIN AND SETS MACHINE SO VOTING MAY BEGIN.
LAST - PRESS VOTING CONTROL BUTTON WHICH REGISTERS VOTE AND OPENS CURTAIN.

AT A PRIMARY

After entering the Voting Machine (with the curtains open) the Voter must press VOTING CONTROL BUTTON on the left side of Machine (which is marked and illuminated with light) which closes the curtain around the Voter. This sets the machine so that the Voter may begin voting.

1. The names of the candidates of each party are arranged horizontally, in rows, across the face of the machine. The voter should first locate his or her party row or rows, which are marked with printed labels on the left side of the machine.

2. The voter may then begin voting by turning to the right a black button under the name of the candidates of the voter's choice and the "Yes" and "No" of every question. As each button is turned an "X" will appear. A button must be turned for each name voted and left turned. Only black buttons can be voted.

3. If a voter desires to change his choice after turning a black button for any candidate or question, this may be done by turning back any of the buttons you have turned—when the "X" will disappear—and then turning to the right the button under the name of the candidate he finally decides to vote for.

4. After all black buttons are turned—with an X showing to the voter's satisfaction, he must again press the VOTING CONTROL BUTTON for the second time, which registers the vote as cast, completes the voting operation and opens the curtain.

5. Should a voter desire to vote for any person whose name is not on the machine, for any party, he may do so by turning a black button—ON THE BOTTOM ROW—under the title of the office for which he desires to vote. This will open a slide, under the button turned, thus permitting the voter to write in the name of his choice. If more than one candidate is to be voted for, he may turn as many buttons on this row, opening as many slides, as there are candidates to be voted for, and write in each space uncovered by slide one name only.

6. The machine is so constructed to be set that a voter cannot vote for more candidates than the proper number for each office. A voter cannot spoil or vote a blank ballot.

DRAW MORAL VICTORY FOR WALKER

DRAW SEEN AS VICTORY FOR WALKER

IT GOES INTO the official fistic records as a draw, but in the eyes of the average fight fan, and rightly so, it was a victory for Mickey Walker. The failure of Jack Sharkey, a 3-to-1 favorite, to defeat his undersized opponent in their 15-round battle in Brooklyn last night was one of the biggest upsets in the recent history of a game that has been productive of many surprises, but in all fairness that upset must be attributed to the great fight put up by Walker rather to any shortcomings on the part of the disappointing Sharkey.

Mickey Walker

The draw that was achieved by Walker through the three-way vote of the officials places to the credit of the former welterweight and middleweight champion the biggest feat accomplished by a little fighter in a David-and-Goliath match since Joe Walcott stopped Joe Choynski in seven rounds 31 years ago. Had it been only a 10-round bout Mickey would have been the winner, and despite the beating he took in the last four rounds he appears to have been clearly entitled to the draw verdict that was for him even more than a moral victory.

IT DOES NOT lessen the credit due to Walker that Sharkey failed to open up and force matters in earnest until the twelfth round. The terrific fight that Mickey himself put up earlier may have had considerable to do with that, both in keeping the ex-sailor busy defending himself and in engendering in the so-called best heavyweight a healthy respect for his smaller foe.

Nobody ever disputed the rare qualities of Walker as a fighting man, but in giving away 29 pounds in weight, six inches in height and reach, and two years in age, and then battling his huge antagonist to a standstill, he did what had appeared to be impossible, even for such an exceptional ring workman as himself. He showed that a fighting heart can overcome the greatest of physical handicaps. It would have been a credit to Walker merely to have stayed the 15 rounds. To get a draw out of it was an actual triumph. It puts Walker in line with the best of heavies. It lowers the stock of the ever undependable Sharkey almost to the point of elimination.

FRED HEIMACH, Brooklyn left-hander, continues to play a part in the jinx that is pursuing Remy Kremer, who yesterday, for the fourth time this year, lost a game in which he should have had a shutout, his third straight reverse and his twelfth of the season against only six victories.

Heimach has started only three games this season and has gone the distance only twice. In both of the games in which he lasted the route he defeated the Pirates, and Kremer was the losing pitcher on each occasion. Until yesterday, Heimach had not started a game since June 24, when he beat the Bucs, 5 to 3, in Brooklyn.

THE ASTOUNDING AMOUNT of service that Jack Quinn has given to the Brooklyn club at the age of 46 may be estimated from the fact that when he was sent into the first game here yesterday it marked his twenty-eighth slab appearance of the season. Only three hurlers in the majors have worked in a greater number of games—Wiley Moore 32, Jim Elliott 30 and Pat Caraway 29. All of Quinn's assignments except one start at Boston on opening day were relief jobs. Incidentally, Paul Waner's homer yesterday was the first four-baser made off old Jack this year.

Lefty O'Doul

IT WAS ONLY through a sensational diving stop by Pie Traynor, which killed what would have been a two-bagger in all probability, that Lefty O'Doul was held hitless in the opening game of yesterday's double-header for the first time on the Robins' present western trip.

O'Doul's hitting on this tour is the talk of the Robin camp. In four games at St. Louis he made 12 hits in 16 times at bat, and in four contests at Chicago he made 12 safeties in 17 trips to the plate, a total of 24 hits in 33 times at bat, or an average of .727, for the first half of the western excursion.

COUNTING IN THE two games staged at Forbes Field yesterday, O'Doul, up to today, had made 26 hits in 41 legal appearances at the platter in the 10 games played by the Robins on the Occidental tour.

That spells a batting average of .634 for the trip. Lefty's wallops have included seven doubles and one triple. Veteran players and coaches on the Brooklyn club pronounce his streak the greatest exhibition they have ever witnessed.

LOUDEST OF ALL in his praises of O'Doul's batting is Manager Wilbert Robinson. "In all my 50 years in baseball I have never seen anything to compare with the scientific hitting that O'Doul has done on this trip," declared the skipper of the Robins. "That goes for all the hitters who have come under my notice in my half century in the game, including Willie Keeler, with whom I played for years on the old Baltimore Orioles. Keeler has been rated the most scientific hitter of all time, but without taking anything away from Willie, I want to say that O'Doul's hitting since we invaded the West has, from a scientific angle, surpassed anything that I ever knew Keeler or anybody else to accomplish during a given period."

THE ST. LOUIS Browns, who have helped the A's to stretch their pennant lead to nine full games by knocking off Washington twice in the last two days, continue to be the surprise club of the American League.

On July 21 the Browns were in last place and had won only 17 games against 35 defeats. Since that date they have won 23 games while losing only 13, a speed of .639, and have fought their way up to fifth place, only three and a half games from the first division.

COACHES OF HIGH schools and the smaller colleges are banking on the future of football if the enrollment in the Penn State College summer course for such men may be taken as an indication. More than 40 are enrolled in the course, which is being conducted by Bob Higgins, varsity coach of the Nittany Lions.

This is the largest registration in the history of the college for such a course. The second half of the session will be devoted to basketball coaching, and will be under the direction of Ken Loeffler, of Pittsburgh, another former Penn State athletic star.

Ken Loeffler

MOST OF THOSE enrolled now hold coaching positions in high or junior high schools, while the rest intend to enter teaching after graduation and are preparing themselves to coach or supervise athletics if necessary. The instruction consists of an hour and a half in the lecture room, followed by a period of equal length on the field, where the students become players and work out the various plays in dummy scrimmage. Some of them wanted to scrimmage during the first few days, but Higgins put the damper on such an ambitious program, telling them it was too hot for the heavy work. Loeffler's division of the course began this week. It is similar to the football program, except that the men do their practicing on the gymnasium floor instead of outdoors. Basketball and track are given in alternate years, but the football instruction is an annual fixture.

SHARKEY LOSES PRESTIGE IN BATTLE

NEW YORK, July 23.—(INS.)—With all of the experts and fans buzzing about the decision of a draw at the end of the Jack Sharkey-Mickey Walker fight at Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn, last night, Jack Kearns, manager of Walker, was shouting from the housetops that Mickey won beyond question and already was claiming a title match for his man with Max Schmeling next June.

Meantime, Sharkey was telling about a knocked down knuckle in his left hand, suffered in the first round, which prevented him from hitting freely with that fist. He, too, thought he had won with something to spare.

Few of the newspaper critics agreed with the decision. Most of them either saw it outright for Sharkey or for Walker.

It's a swell mess after a fight that was good to look at.

WRITER DROPS SHARKEY

Bill Corum, New York Journal writer, who has been one of Sharkey's staunchest supporters in all of his ups and downs, today publicly tossed in the sponge for his champion. He accused him of not trying to fight, claiming he could have won easily with a little effort.

"He didn't try a lick," Corum says.

The gate was around $225,000 and Sharkey's share was about $75,000. The consensus of opinion was that he had sold his prestige dearly, for his inability to even knock down Walker, when he outweighed him by 29 pounds, once in 15 rounds does not speak well for his chances of gaining the heavyweight title at this late stage of his career.

Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, who never has cared a lot for Sharkey, said he thought Walker won. On the other hand, James A. Farley, chairman of the New York Athletic Commission, opined he thought Sharkey had won handily. A poll of 21 newspapermen at the ringside immediately after the bout found 16 of them voting for Walker, one for Sharkey and one agreeing with the decision of a draw.

GOB RAPS VERDICT

The verdict was greeted with mingled cheers and boos. The referee, Arthur Donovan, gave the fight to Walker; Charles Mathison, one of the judges, thought the bout was a draw, while the other judge, George F. Kelly, said Sharkey won.

Sharkey was greatly disappointed. He thought he had won the fight handily. He could not understand how the referee and the two judges could arrive at a draw verdict.

"I should have been awarded the fight," he said. "I came out of the bout unmarked and everybody will have to admit I cut up Mickey quite a bit. I'll admit he did better than I thought he would. I figured going into the ninth round that I was perhaps a round behind. But, from then on, it was my fight. I figure I walked away

SUNDAY BALL CASE UP

WARREN, Pa., July 23.—The ancient blue laws of 1794 have been resurrected and dusted off by opponents of Sunday baseball to prevent games being played in the vicinity of Clarendon, this county. Players of two teams arrested last Sunday during the progress of a game are to be given hearings this afternoon at the office of Justice of the Peace E. B. Smith.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE RIFLE THAT WAS SENTENCED TO DEATH—In an involuntary homicide case involving Squire Drun, Judge Hopfer (or Hopper) sitting in the Sheriff's Court at Edinburgh in 1782, absolved the squire, but convicted the rifle with which the deed was perpetrated. The sentence of the court was that the life of the rifle be forfeited to the Crown, and, in addition, a monetary fine was assessed against the unlucky firearm. The rifle was publicly destroyed in conformity with the sentence.

THE MAN WHO WORE THE SAME BOOTS FOR 71 YEARS—Jacob Miller, 93 years old, of Pleasant Hill, Mo., still is wearing a pair of boots made for him by John Hausworth, of Mifflinburg, Pa., before the Civil War—and they still have the original soles and heels. Miller has worn them at least once a week ever since he purchased them, and has worn them every day for the last four years—but they remain in good condition and still are good for long wear.

O'DOUL WINS DRIVING TEST

It took a ball player to show the golf pros how to drive. Last night at the Bob-O-Link driving range, Aspinwall, Lefty O'Doul, outfielder of the Brooklyn Robins, averaged 229 yards for three drives and led the field of district pros competing in the driving test.

George Paroline, assistant professional at St. Clair, led the pros with an average of 225⅔. Archie Loeffler was next in line with 223⅓. Fred Onoretta had 218. Francis McNamara 211⅔; George McBride, 211, and Jock Kennedy, 205.

SALA STOPS FLANNAGAN

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 23.—(AP.)—Bruno Sala, 167, of Donora, won a technical knockout in the seventh of a scheduled 10-round main go here last night over Billy Flannagan, 158¾, of Clearfield.

Eddie Guba, 132¾, Wilkinsburg, won the decision over Walter Strapple, 132½, Windber, in the six-round semi-final.

ERIE MEET AUG. 8

A quintet of A. M. A. swimming championships will be staged in the Arena swimming pool, Erie, on Saturday, August 8. The meet will be sanctioned by the A. M. A. of the A. A. U. There will be two women's swimming championships, two for men and a women's fancy diving title event.

Sharkey Gets Draw On Closing Rally

BROOKLYN, July 23.—(A.P.)—The official decision says Jack Sharkey didn't lose, but on lion-hearted little Mickey Walker fightdom today showers all the acclaim and golden promises that go to a newcomer scaling the heavyweight heights.

In the very heart of the heavyweight picture is the rugged, grinning, battle-scarred face of the chunky fellow from Rumson, N. J., welterweight and middleweight titleholder in his time, now at least as good as Sharkey because two learned judges and a referee compromised on a draw after 15 rounds of hurly-burly battle in Ebbets Field last night.

Certainly Mickey turned in the most surprising upset of many a fistic season when he harassed the big Sailorman through the rough and tumble battle that revealed Sharkey in another of his disappointing struggles and gave a crowd of 32,000 a chance to boo and exult in his discomfiture.

MICKEY SPARKLES

Referee Arthur Donovan, for instance, thought the bulldog courage, the eternal aggressiveness of the little fellow, who gave Sharkey an advantage of 29 pounds, inches in height and reach, entitled Mickey to the decision. Judge George Kelly voted Sharkey the award apparently on the basis of his right hand punching that gashed Walker's left eyelid in the fifth round and opened it wide in the closing session. Judge Charles F. Mathison chose the middle course and called it a draw, while the Associated Press score sheet counted up the same way, with seven rounds for Walker, seven for Sharkey, and one even.

But regardless of the futility of the decision, as futile as the battling itself, honors for the evening swept into the lap of Walker, the 169½-pounder, who dared tackle a Sharkey weighing 198½, outbulled and outpunched him for 10 rounds, and slipped back only when the embattled Sailor rallied fiercely to try and save the day in the last four rounds.

Sharkey found the range then, with his long right hand punches he had been tossing in desultory fashion all evening, the short clubbing smashes in close that opend wide the gash in Mickey's left eyelid. Blood poured down Walker's cheek, smeared his features into a red, grinning false face, and gave the erratic Sharkey the incentive to come on and tie the count.

GOB LOOKS BAD

Sharkey plainly showed the effects of his long layoff of over a year since he lost his chance to win the heavyweight title by fouling Max Schmeling in the fourth round two Junes ago. He boxed slowly, cautiously and looked ridiculous at times, valiantly holding on to the little fellow, who hardly came up to his chin.

He fought one of his uninspired battles, his expression rarely changing from a bored, uninterested look, the kind of warfare that cost him his chance to meet Gene Tunney in the former champion's valedictory and paved the way for Tom Heeney's title challenge. Sharkey was "winging" right hand punches through most of the early rounds, missing oftener than he landed, content to let the little man force the fight and win the honors away from him. He explained afterward that he hurt the knuckles of his left hand in the first round and

HEYDLER LAUDS UMPIRES

The McGraw incident is closed and John A. Heydler, president of the National League, continues to hold a high regard for the league umpiring staff. The baseball circuit's chief executive gave the officials a vote of confidence today after arriving here from a swing to the western terminal of the league.

"I have been watching the umpires for a long spell this year," declared Heydler, as he touched on the McGraw suspension and other matters pertaining to the umpires.

"Personally, I feel that I am an impartial observer," continued Honest John. "Naturally, I wish to see the work of the umpires at a high standard and you can say with emphasis that I think that by and large the officials are doing a very good job.

"I can understand how an aggressive manager will make a stormy protest of a close decision, especially in the heated days we have been experiencing. There is no objection to that. Moreover, I will admit that an umpire will miss a play occasionally; they are not 100 per cent perfect—but neither are the players, the managers, or any of us.

"It seems to me to be a bit out of proportion to carry a protest to such extremes as they have been carried. We strive to keep the umpiring up to a high degree of efficiency, but I must say that I will not be swayed by criticism which I know is not unbiased and which is founded on partizan emotions. I am in a position to study the umpires and for weeks I have been watching them. I will say that once in a while an official will miss a play, but the work of the staff as a whole is good."

Approximately 8,000 Pirate fans today were of the opinion that there were few of the distinguishing marks of the champion about the Robins as they carried their pennant ambitions into Pittsburgh yesterday. The National League runnersup were fortunate to get an even break in a double bill with the Freebooters, some errors of omission giving the Flatbush boys the second battle by a hair-line decision after they had been trimmed in the opener. The scores were 10 to 6 and 3 to 2.

And the same number of Pittsburgh supporters also are convinced that it is possible for a ball team to hustle while staging dull play at the same time. Two of the smartest members of the Pirate cast, who always hustle, were unfortunate enough to get mixed in a couple of plays that lent aid to the enemy in the second inning of the second game of yesterday's doubleheader.

TOM, PIE PULL BONERS

Tommy Thevenow, who is in the right spot nearly every moment he is on the field, left his position in a hit-and-run play and the resultant grounder off Mickey Finn's bat, which was a tailor-made double-play ball, was converted into a single that put runners on first and third. A moment later Traynor apparently threw the ball to the wrong base; besides his shot was wide of its mark. Uncle Robbie counted three runs in the inning and that was just enough to get the verdict at the finish.

The single engagement carded for this afternoon is likely to bring a duel between two of the biggest righthanders in the game—Dazzy

WEPPNER COPS STATE EVENT AT EDGEWOOD

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

The first and second rounds of match play, at 18 holes each, sent the annual Western Pennsylvania Golf Association junior championship soaring toward the final rounds, at the Alcoma Country Club today.

Wilson F. (Billy) Marks, Kiski prep star, Oakmont player, and eastern interscholastic king, led the parade, a record field, in the 36-hole qualifying round, yesterday, with his fine tally of 77-77—154. Four strokes behind him were Sid Carson, Jr., of Greensburg, and Claude McKee, of South Hills, at 158. Francis Totten, of Stanton Heights, another prime contender for the undefended crown of Regis Wolff, of Highland, was only two strokes worse, with 78-82—160.

JOE TOTTEN SCORES

William B. Nicklin, Stanton Heights, 165; Joseph Totten, Stanton Heights, 167; William Long, New Castle, 168; R. B. Parker, Highland, 169; Paden Gamble, Youghiogheny, 173; Robert Hamilton, 174; James Oppenheimer, Westmoreland, 174; O. D. Bleakley, Wanango, 175; Joe Haverstick, Chartiers Heights, 176; Charles Meyer, Highland, 177; Charles Kay, New Castle, 177, and William Stevenson, 178, are the other boys playing in the titular flight this morning.

Stevenson defeated Paul Tridel, of Sewickley Y., and Curtis Garner, Jr., of Highland, in a playoff for last place, Garner defaulting.

WEPPNER VICTOR

The one-day Pennsylvania Golf Association tourney at Edgewood yesterday produced some tough playing, and the well-known Stanton Heights Dutchman, Fred B. Weppner, won top honors with his gross 73 in the medal contesting. Only one other entrant won one of the nine leather traveling bags offered to those who could record a 75 or better, and that was L. W. Yingling, of the home club, who came home in 35 for a 75. The feature play in Weppner's efforts was a birdie 3 on the 425-yard eighteenth hole.

The now net honors went to Dr. C. J. Baron, of Oakmont, who had 90-24—66. Maurice (Ski) LeBosquet, of Highland, former West Penn champ, and Richard Boucek, a teammate, tied for top honors in the four-ball, best-ball match play against par under seven-eights handicap, with C. E. Beatty and M. J. Jennings, and Weppner and H. B. Charles, of Stanton Heights, all three pairs being 5 up.

BURNETT COPS

H. T. Burnett captured low gross honors in the Reliance Life Employes Association tourney at St. Clair yesterday when he registered an 89. R. H. Richardson, with 91, was runner-up. Low net honors went to Harvey Helbling and Kenneth Twyman, with net 78s.

A professional and pro-amateur competition is to be held at the Uniontown Country Club Monday.

Dr. Guy D. Engle has announced that the Wilkinsburg Rotary Club will oppose the Verona-Oakmont group at Edgewood Tuesday, starting at 1:30.

HELEN REACHES SEMI-FINALS

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 23.—(AP.)—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody entered the semi-final round of the Essex County Club's invitation singles tennis tournament yesterday accompanied by the first three ranking women players of America, not one of whom appears capable of winning even a set against the former world champion.

Mrs. Moody made the advance by blasting Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia, off the court, 6-2, 6-0, and Dorothy Weisel, of Sacramento, prepared to step into the great Helen's stroking range by defeating Josephine Cruickshank, of Santa Ana, 6-2, 6-4, in their all-Californian quarter-final.

The only one of the four matches that was keenly contested saw Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper, of Oakland, Cal., outdrive and outchop Mary Greef, of Kansas City, for a 9-to-7, 6-3 victory. Marjorie Morrill Dedham, the defending champion, fairly breezed into the second last round, losing only a game to Sarah Palfrey, Brookline, who refused to default, despite a painfully strained back.

Fight Results

At Brooklyn—Mickey Walker and Jack Sharkey drew, 15 rounds; Arthur De Kuh defeated Frankie Cawley, 5 rounds; Jack McCarthy defeated Perves Presidio, 5 rounds; Walter Cobb defeated Babe Hunt, 5 rounds; Yustin Strutis defeated Chester Matan, 5 rounds; Tommy Destefano defeated Pietro Corri, 5 rounds; Battling Tracey defeated Muggs Kerr, 8 rounds; Irish Jimmy Slavin and Joe Barra drew, 6 rounds.

HOCK GOLF VICTOR

WAYNESBURG, Pa., July 23.—J. I. Hock, Waynesburg, won the annual golf tournament conducted in connection with the annual picnic of the Greene County Bar Association yesterday. W. C. Montgomery, Waynesburg, was second with a score of 92.

Walker won a moral victory by holding Sharkey even in their Milk and Ice Fund bout in New York last night. Outweighed and fighting his first important battle as a heavyweight, Walker almost gained the decision.

VANCE, BRAME DUEL TODAY

Vance and Ervin Brame, Ol' Daz has had four days of rest, and Brame also has enjoyed a long period of relaxation.

Remy Kremer pitched shutout ball again in the nightcap of yesterday, but Ol' Joe Gumm is still boarding with Remy, and the big pitcher is unable to dispossess him. Kremer really pitched nine runless rounds, the slips of Thevenow and Traynor opening the way for the only tallies made by the Robins.

And to add irony to Remy's fate, Lloyd Waner failed to drive in the tying run in the seventh when he came up with runners on third and second and only one out. Lloyd smacked a spunky drive to Mickey Finn, who made an unassisted double play on Thevenow.

There was not much excuse for Thevenow's out at second. The Bucs were in dire need of the run that was on third and Tommy should have played it safely at second.

The home guards fought gamely to get up with the Robins after the loose second. Grantham, Traynor and P. Waner collaborated to make a run in the fourth, and Comorosky, Traynor and Brother Paul merged an offensive to get another counter in the sixth, but the double-play in the seventh spoiled everything.

Larry French and P. Waner were high spots of the victory in the first game. Larry outpitched Joe Shaute and the rightfielder enlivened the contest with a homer into the rightfield stands. Lefthander Fred Heimach was a foe worthy of Kremer's steel in the nightcap.

The first clash, among other things, produced no less than six errors, the honors being even. Moreover, the contest brought out a display of weird pitching on the part of Southpaw Joe Shaute that caused Uncle Robbie to put on a panic act in the Brooklyn dugout.

MORAL VICTORY FOR WALKER

with most of the remaining rounds. I am sure I won the twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth by wide margins. It was a bad decision."

MORAL WIN FOR MIKEY

could not hook with that hand thereafter.

BLOW TO SHARKEY

A 1-to-3 shot in the betting, considered Sharkey's superior in nothing but fighting heart and ability to take punishment, the tough little New Jersey man forced the fight from the start. He kept close to Sharkey, coming up inside the Sailor's long arms to whang his left hook deep in Jack's body, hook both hands to the chin, and gaily rebound from punishment that might have stowed away a less brave warrior. The crowd paid $210,000 to see the Hearst Milk Fund show.

The verdict, another severe blow to the fading Sharkey prestige, may mean a return bout between the pair, or it may lift Walker to such prominence that he will get the title shot at Schmeling next June.

ARLINGTON PARK MUTUELS

HAL MATHIESON PRESSED BY BOB BALD

Quarter-final and semi-final contesting will mark today's program of hostilities in the annual Pittsburgh Center junior and boys' tennis championships in progress here under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association on the courts of the P. A. A.

Despite early rains that delayed start of competition yesterday until noon, Chairman Jack Lauler pushed his charges to the limit and ere dinner time had accounted for 14 combats actually played, which, plus five defaults, raised the lid-lift total to 19.

KENNEY, M'NELLIE BOW

Edwin Clark, Beaver Falls ace and first seeded junior contender, hustled through a brace of tussles to enter the semi-final bracket in pace with Rufus Hartig, hard-hitting Carnegie Tech Freshman entry and second on the select list. Clark dispatched Ed Kenney, of Mount Washington, 6-1, 6-1, and William McNellie, 6-0, 6-0, while Hartig disposed of Nock Maczkov, Munhall High luminary, 6-1, 6-4, and Paul Elliott, Center Boys' premier of several seasons ago, 6-2, 6-4. Both had drawn initial round byes.

Henry Ackerman, Mount Lebanon satellite and third seeded junior, attained frame three by dint of impressive straight-set wins over Bob Runser and Bill Reynolds.

Harold Mathieson, defender of the boys' crown, a Koppel performer, was close to defeat at the hands of Robert Bald, Mount Lebanon chopster, who carried the champion to 6-3, 5-7, 7-5 before going under.

M'MORRAN ADVANCES

Bob McMorran, from out the Butler road, led the 15-year-old host into the semi-finals, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3 triumph over Paul McArdle, son of the former Steel City councilman, landing the suburbanite in the penultimate section, where he will loaf today as the remainder of the field scrimmages to catch up with him.

This morning's card calls for mixing at 10 o'clock, and it is probable that no armistice will be declared before mid-afternoon. The summary:

JUNIOR SINGLES

First round—Duane Littel defeated H. Carl Link, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4; George Philipp defeated W. H. Smith, 7-5, 6-2; Bud Leyda won from Robert Wilson by default; Henry Ackerman defeated Robert Runser, 6-2, 6-0; William Reynolds defeated Henry Hatch, 6-0, 6-2; Edgar Topp won from Emerson Hess by default.

Second round—Edwin Clark defeated Ed Kenney, 6-1, 6-1; William McNellie won from Jack Rosen by default; Rufus Hartig defeated Nick Maczkov, 6-1, 6-4; Littel defeated George Frew, 6-2, 6-4; Ackerman defeated Reynolds, 6-3, 6-3; Topp won from Robert Burnett by default; Paul Elliott won from Delmont Barbor by default.

Third round—Clark defeated McNellie, 6-0, 6-0; Hartig defeated Elliott, 6-2, 6-4.

BOYS' SINGLES

First round—Bernard Greenberg defeated Lawrence Blatt, 6-2, 6-4; Irwin Solow defeated Everett Rich, 7-5, 6-2; J. Tracey defeated Ed Ferrick, 6-1, 6-2; Harold Mathieson defeated Robert Bald, 6-3, 5-7, 7-5.

Second round—Robert McMorran defeated Paul McArdle, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3.

MISS MADISON FAILS

ALLWOOD, N. J., July 23.—(INS.)—Miss Helene Madison, of Seattle, world's speediest woman swimmer, failed to break the world record for 250 yards at the Allwood Country Club meet at the Montclair pool last night. Her time of 3:13 1-5 for the distance was 9 1-5 seconds slower than the mark set by Miss Josephine McKim, of the Los Angeles A. C.

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

Nick Altrock

WASHINGTON, July 23.—That isn't much of a business trip the Robins and Giants are taking through the Middle West. Instead of measuring the Cardinals for a form-fitting shroud and a bronze casket, the boys practically had their sample cases taken away from them in St. Louis. So far as cutting down the Cards' lead goes, the Flatbush and Polo Grounds outfits rang up another "no sale." Of course, it's still a race, but the way things are going, July car loadings, August wheat acreage and September brokers' loans ain't going to affect that St. Louis team. In fact, I don't think even Mussolini can scare the Cardinals now.

PUBLIC PARKS PLAY DRAWS BIG FIELD

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Entries for the second annual Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Pittsburgh Public Parks tennis championships closed officially at midnight last night, but inasmuch as special ruling of the tournament referee permits acceptance of names placed in the mail before the zero hour, complete data as to the exact number of contestants who will swing into action on the courts of Schenley, Highland, Frick, Olympia, Riverview and West parks next Monday will not be available until late today. Tourney executives will go into a huddle over the late arrivals this evening and hope to announce pairings for the preliminary tilting on the half-dozen lots on which hostilities will be sponsored tomorrow.

13 WOMEN TO PLAY

Thirty-two additions to the already lengthy list of municipal aspirants were received yesterday to boost the total now at hand to the surprising sum of 148, the vast majority of these—132, to be precise—being masculine contenders and the remaining sweet 16 being feminine. All of which assures another highly successful fortnight of mixing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph men's and women's singles challenge cups, as well as the host of permanent trophies that await victors and runners-up in the individual park and interpark skirmishing—not to mention the all-expense-paid trips to the National Public Parks championships at Detroit the week of August 17, that will go to the captors of the men's and women's city crowns now worn and to be valiantly defended by Frank Broida, Harvard southpaw flash, and Mrs. Joan Artzberger, Olympia luminary, respectively.

Two brilliant feminine cavorters aligned themselves for combat in the course of yesterday. Letitia Schmidt, courageous Schenley satellite, who last year pushed Mrs. Artzberger to the limit in the interpark series finale at Frick, having cast lot again with the Murdoch avenue outfit, while Dorothy Miller, hard-driving East End lass and impressive West Penn championship-seeker, has stepped into the Highland picture. The chances for these determined racquetresses to crash the charmed circle of the interpark eliminations are exceedingly good.

FRICK TOPS LIST

According to latest figures, Frick tops the numerical list of individual park entries with 42, four ahead of Schenley. Highland is third with 24 debaters already on the string, with Olympia rising to fourth on a mark of 16 and Riverview and West deadlocked for fifth at 14 apiece. Highland still shows the way to the ladies with a women's squadron of five, Frick and Riverview offer only one feminine entrant each.

List of yesterday's entries:

Norman Solow, Schenley; Letitia Schmidt, Schenley; Dorothy Miller, Highland; Ralph Snively, Olympia; Emanuel Gruber, Olympia; Rudyerd Boulton, Schenley; Ted Rosenthal, Schenley; Leon Wald, Schenley; Louis Singer, Schenley; Samuel Singer, Schenley; Leonard F. Jacobson, Schenley; Joseph E. Jones, Schenley; R. L. McGrath, Schenley; Nathan Albert, Schenley; Joseph Gallfot, Highland; Louis Lazar, Highland; George L. Blatt, Highland; Kim Darragh, Highland; Billy Benz, Olympia; Robert Stocker, Olympia; Bernhard Manheimer, Frick; Milford P. Westphare, Frick; Arving J. Polaski, Frick; Harry D. Kolb, Frick; Edward F. McBride, Frick; Royal F. McAdams, Jr., Frick; R. F. McAdams, Sr., Frick; Joe R. McAdams, Frick; Fred B. Caldwell, Frick; Robert Fisher, Frick; C. Stanley Ramsey, Riverview; Frank C. Honess, West.

By TOM BIRKS

An interesting sandlot baseball schedule is slated this evening. Practically all of the leaders are swinging into action. When the games are finished, new leaders may be setting the pace.

In the Commercial and Industrial loop, Reick will meet B. & O. at the Magee grounds, in a grudge battle, inasmuch as the railroaders bumped off the Milkmen in their first-half championship fight.

Three games will be played in the City League. Homewood clashes with Art Rooney's rejuvenated Civics, and the East Enders are in for a real fight. Stewart will go to the mound.

At Bloomfield, Dormont, first-half champion, will clash with J. L. Thomas, and this clash should be productive of a good battle.

Jim Fullen's Martin Club, from Garfield Hill, will get a real test this evening when it drops off at West Field, Homestead, to meet the Aces in the West Penn League.

Soapy Heyl is out for the home-run title in the circuit this season. The star outfielder hit two of the longest drives ever seen at Swissvale for round trippers.

The Homestead Grays play the Verona Club tonight.

Homewood took it on the chin, 12 to 5, as Dormont copped their City League battle last night. Fintex set down North Bessemer, 11-4, in the Greater Pittsburgh League; Jenna defeated the Union Printers, 9-0, in the North-South circuit, and Fort Pitt won over Brighton, 5-4, in the North Side loop.

ELLING BEATEN BY SAUNDERS

An upset marked the amateur bouts at the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C. last night. Prince Saunders, of the home club, winning from Max Elling, of Pittsburgh Lyceum, in three rounds.

One knockout was recorded. Ray Jennings, of Homestead Library, rallying to stop Tom Hanson, Braddock Library heavyweight, in the third frame. The summary:

Johnstown to Meet Local Legion Champs

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 23.—The Johnstown American Legion baseball nine showed its superiority over the Uniontown Juniors in a thrill-producing contest here yesterday. The final count was 6 to 5. The winner of the contest will clash with the Allegheny County champions at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, some time this month.

CLASSET HURLS CLASSICS

MONTREAL, July 23.—(AP.)—Gowell Classet, Montreal nightmander, successfully performed an "iron man" pitching feat yesterday by beating the Reading Keystones in both games of a doubleheader. Classet allowed only five hits in winning the first game, 1 to 0, then granted only four hits in the seven-inning second game, winning 3 to 1.

Local Backer Big Winner On Walker

NEW YORK, July 23.—One of the big winners on the Sharkey - Walker fight last night was Charles A. Korb, of Pittsburgh, a former manager of boxers around Newark, who was a guest of Walker at the latter's training camp at Orangeburg, N. Y., for a week before the battle and came here to back him.

Kolb bet three ways and won all of his bets. He wagered the greatly outweighed Walker would go 10 rounds and then 15 and also that Sharkey would not get the decision.

$200,000,000 Loss in Taxes Seen in Texas Crude Oil Waste

In testifying before the Texas House committee investigating the oil industry, Chairman R. R. Penn, of the State Central Proration Committee, declared that due to the low price of oil in East Texas and other fields, the state is losing taxes at the rate of about $20,000 a day, and that reckless production in East Texas will cause a loss to the state of more than $200,000,000. Mr. Penn believed East Texas overproduction problems could be solved in great measure if a law were passed giving lease owners the right to utilize their holdings by agreement. Penn placed the blame for overproduction and low price of oil on the anti-prorationists.

The weekly steel trade summaries afforded little in the way of consolation to followers of the constructive side. A further slight let down in the average operating rate of the industry to a 30 per cent basis has brought the rate of output to a level which it is now believed will prove the low point for the balance of the summer. Little improvement is anticipated in August the Iron Age finds, bearing out the view expressed by E. G. Grace, head of Bethlehem Steel. Construction orders are the really sustaining element in the situation at the moment, with reduction in motor requirements, finishing off of rail contracts and slackening of demand from oil and gas pipe line companies responsible for curtailment. One favorable feature in the situation is the firmer tone in the scrap markets, where prices are shown to have advanced for the second consecutive week.

The weekly report on freight car loadings has been delayed again. Last week the statement was a day late in making its appearance, and it was expected that the delay in this instance would not be any greater failure of this week's figures to appear on time is understood to have been due to the inability of three of four roads to get their returns in on regular schedule. The cause for the delay on the part of the roads was not readily explained, but it is surmised that the traffic departments of the carriers have been working under some stress due to the task upon them of preparing data to be used in support of the plea now before the Interstate Commerce Commission for an increase in freight rates.

The decision of the New York Telephone Company to call for redemption $49,000,000 of its refunding 6 per cent mortgage bonds, not due until 1941, as of October 1, next, is interesting. A fractional part of the original $50,000,000 issue marketed in 1921 has been acquired through sinking fund. The fact that the company, which had only $7,625,413 actual cash on hand at the beginning of the year, contemplates no new financing at this time, would indicate the funds for such redemption will be arranged on a temporary basis. Evidently the company will secure the necessary funds either from its bankers, or from the parent company, American Telephone and Telegraph, which had tremendous actual or equivalent cash resources at the turn of the year. The parent company had cash and temporary investments aggregating $388,857,763 on December 31, last.

Because of uncertainties in the chemical situation, there is a tendency to switch out of Allied Chemical into other stocks. Several commission houses have been recommending switches and favor replacing holdings in Allied with American Tobacco "B" or American Can. In a number of instances, these advices have been followed.

Continental Can is one of the favorites in certain quarters and any improvement in the general market should find the stock among the leaders. Some of the buying coming into the issue is based on the fact that the company is now in its best season. At this time and until the end of September, the packing business usually is most active, and this year is not likely to prove an exception. The company is in a strong financial position.

Between Rounds

Charley Reisla's next start in the East will be against Mateo Ona, the Spaniard, at the Queensboro Stadium in New York, next Tuesday night. Steve Hamas boxes Frank Morris in the semi-final. Kid Chocolate, the new junior-lightweight champion, meets Joe Scalfari there on August 11.

Mickey Cohen, Cleveland bantamweight, is a visitor in town. He will attend the Rickey Park show tonight to challenge the winner of the main bout.

Ted Yarosz is training in Monaco for his wrestling battle with Bucky Lawless, of Auburn, N. Y., at the Meyers Bowl next Monday night and hopes to be able to keep intact his record of never having lost a decision since turning professional. Billy Hood and Billy Rose box the eight-round semi-final. The preliminaries will be closed today.

Billy Bolt boxes Larry Madge, of Cleveland, in the semi-final to a battle between Joe Walters and K. O. Kelly, Negro middleweights, at Franklin, Pa., tonight.

Swissvale and the Phillips Club, of Squirrel Hill, clash at Frick Park this evening at 6:15 o'clock for the Allegheny County American Legion junior baseball championship.

Duce Gives German Boy Shore Vacation

BERLIN.—(INS.)—Benito Mussolini, stern and austere leader, has again proven that he has a warm heart for children. Through the Italian consul at Breslau, Silesia, he invited Fritz Beermann, 7-year-old son of a government official at Sagan to spend his vacation at Fano on the Adriatic Sea at the expense of the Italian government. Fritz saw a piece of lava stone his aunt had brought back from a trip to Italy and he coveted a similar stone. At his father's jocular suggestion, the boy actually wrote a letter to Rome and the result was a direct invitation by the Duce.

Spang, Chalfant Plans New Mill

Officials of Spang, Chalfant & Co., Inc., are considering plans for the construction of a plant for making electrically welded pipe at Ambridge. About a year ago a similar project was being studied but was temporarily dropped because of the declining demand for pipe.

$7 PAID AFTER 37 YEARS

CHESTER, Pa.—(INS.)—The dying wish of a debtor was fulfilled here when his granddaughter paid $7 to the surviving heir of a merchant from whom he had purchased two blankets 37 years ago without paying for them.

In 1894, Nathan Berry operated a general store at Shoemakerville. Quarry employes purchased their needs from him, frequently without cash. One was a workman known as "Flaherty." He bought the two blankets one day and left the village before pay day came.

Berry charged the debt off to human fickleness, but Flaherty never forgot.

When he died recently in Atlantic City, N. J., he begged that she seek the living heirs surviving Berry and pay over to them the $7 owing.

The granddaughter conducted a weary search until she learned that Benjamin Berry, a mail carrier here, was the only surviving heir. Just recently, Benjamin delivered to himself the letter with a check for $7 inclosed.

S. O. N. Y. MEETS CRUDE RAISE

DALLAS, Tex., July 23.—The Magnolia Petroleum Company, Standard Oil of New York subsidiary, today increased its posted price for north and north central Texas and Oklahoma crude oil to 40 cents per barrel at the wells.

This meets the new price put into effect by Continental Oil Company on Tuesday. The former price was 10c to 22c a barrel, according to gravity. The present price is flat, regardless of gravity.

Extensive Nickel Discovery Reported

LONDON, July 23.—Tanganyika government has granted prospecting rights over an area of 1,300 square miles, near Dodoma, where an extensive discovery of nickel is reported. American and Canadian interests are sending representatives to examine the properties, where they hope to acquire options.

Canadian Motor Production Drops

OTTAWA, July 23.—Automobile production in Canada during June totaled 6,835 cars, including 5,583 passenger machines and 1,252 trucks. This output, at the rate of 228 cars a day, compared with daily average of 411 in May and 503 in June, 1930. Automobile imports into Canada during June numbered 647 cars, while exports were 1,084 cars.

San Francisco Has Telephone Record

SAN FRANCISCO.—(INS.)—San Francisco has more telephones per capita than any other city in the world, according to figures just issued. The report shows that San Francisco has 262,019 telephones—40.8 for every 100 people. Washington has 32.7 and Los Angeles 30.2.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Market Dull — Lone Star Gas Steady

EARLY MARKET DIP PARTLY RECOVERED

Trading So Dull Price Movements Mean Little; Specialties Advance

NEW YORK, July 23.—(AP.)—Whatever cheer Wall street might have extracted from the results of the seven-power London conference was counterbalanced by the prompt increase in the Bank of England's discount rate today.

The financial markets, therefore, were left at a standstill. The stock market again all but faded out. Rather pronounced heaviness was shown for a time, in sympathy with lower closings in London and Paris, but losses were partly recovered by early afternoon, when a few specialties recorded small gains. Trading was so dull, however, that price movements were of little significance. Bonds were marked by further weakness of the German issues. In foreign exchanges, sterling was lifted only moderately by the higher bank rate.

Wall street was not unprepared for the increase in the Bank of England rate, in fact it was somewhat surprised when the rate was not increased a week ago. Yesterday's advices from London had indicated that it might not be increased until next week, but the sharp losses of gold, it was felt here, made an eventual upturn certain.

This development was nonetheless somewhat depressing. It represented the first important reversal of the downward tendency in money rates which had been in progress since the stock market crash of late 1929, a tendency which had been expected to play an important part in facilitating a return of prosperity.

The financial community has been considerably encouraged by thes econd quarter earnings statements thus far appearing. Montgomery Ward reported itself out of the red for the first time in several months, showing a profit of $407,706 in the second quarter, against a loss of $1,783,674 in the first quarter. National Cash Register also showed a net profit of 72 cents per Class A share for the second quarter, against a deficit in the first quarter. The General Motors quarterly statement, showing net of $1.22 a share, was closely in keeping with forecasts, but was regarded as highly favorable, showing an actual gain of 8 cents a share over the operating profits reported for the like period of 1930.

The Montgomery Ward report, together with Sears Roebucks' recently published sales report for its latest four weeks period, have led to the view that deferred buying is at last making its appearance, which should augur well for a fairly satisfactory autumn trade.

Credit conditions remained stationary, and bankers said that the Bank of England rate increase should not be interpreted as foreshadowing any change in the Federal Reserve Bank rate, now at 1½ per cent.

St. Paul Railway Loadings Decline

POWER FIRMS MAKE NEW BUSINESS

Alert Executives Extend Electrification Campaign While Others Talk Slump

By MERRYLE RUKEYSER.
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, July 23.—While others talked depression, the alert executives of power and light companies continued to extend the campaign of electrification to American homes, thus offsetting the loss entailed in the shrinkage of power consumption by industrial users.

Mr. Rukeyser

Out on the West Coast, the Southern California Edison Company was especially successful in keeping up earning power through the first half of the year. In explaining how both gross and net revenue were substantially increased, R. H. Ballard, the president, told me:

"The results that have been achieved by our company during this period have been largely due to the aggressive sales campaign during the year 1930.

NEW BUSINESS

"This campaign during the last six months of 1930 added a great number of horsepower of new business in the domestic field and this new business was all reflected in the first six months of 1931. Similar sales efforts are being carried on during the present year.

In recapitulating results thus far this year, Mr. Ballard said:

"Gross revenues for the second quarter were $10,214,453, an increase of $253,286 or 2½ per cent over the same period of 1930. Net operating revenue for the second quarter was $6,684,691, an increase of $270,042 or 4 per cent over the corresponding 1930 period. Balance remaining, after interest, for dividends and depreciation was $4,945,237, an increase of $315,553 or 7 per cent over the second quarter of 1930. Kilowatt hour sales in the second quarter were 648,358,593, an increase of 35,983,956 or 6 per cent over the second quarter of 1930. That the increase in sale of kilowatt hours is somewhat larger than the per cent increase in gross revenues is accounted for in part by reduction in various rates effective in May and June."

BUCK DEPRESSION

As a class, the public utilities have bucked the trend of depression better than the railroads and miscellaneous industrial corporations.

Taking a non-political view of the looming political fight over certain abuses in the public utility field, the Standard Statistics Company recently concluded:

"Political opposition is seen as the major uncertainty in the utility outlook, with the 'power issue' quite certain to be a subject of agitation during the next year or two. In our opinion, it is inevitable that regulation eventually will be stricter, and that measures will be adopted to place greater restraint on holding companies. Vigorous opposition doubtless will serve to direct future legislation to moderated channels, and in the long run we believe that investors have something to gain rather than lose from such measures."

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, July 23.—The Curb Market adhered closely to recent patterns today. There was some selling in the first half hour, but pressure lightened substantially as the morning progressed and by afternoon trading was deep in the rut of dullness, with changes unimportant.

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded in (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was slow today at the wholesale produce markets in Pittsburgh. There were no changes in quotations.

The poultry markets rested firm, demand fair, supply nominal with slight changes in quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets remained steady, demand good, supply adequate, with slight changes in quotations.

Car-lot supplies were moderate with 317 cars on track. Arrivals included 3 cars apples, 15 bananas, 1 cabbage, 18 celery, 3 cucumbers, 4 honeydews, 5 honeydews, 3 lettuce, 1 onions, 3 oranges, 8 peaches, 40 potatoes, 2 raspberries, 1 sweet potatoes, 5 tomatoes, 13 watermelons and 2 mixed vegetables.

Electric Company Results Diverge Widely

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

GENERAL ELECTRIC and Westinghouse Electric, the two dominant organizations in their industry, have shown widely diverging results during the trying period of the depression. General Electric has shown itself better able to maintain earnings in the face of declining demand for its products. Profits of Westinghouse declined more sharply, a loss actually being shown for the first quarter, but a rapid recovery in the second quarter is an indication that this organization has put its house in order.

It seems quite certain that General Electric will emerge from the depression with its stock held in much higher regard by investors. On the other hand, if the work of reorganization, which has been under way at Westinghouse is effective, it will be reflected to a marked extent in that company's earnings when business returns to a satisfactory basis.

As the stocks stand at present, General Electric common is selling to yield about 3.3 per cent and is currently falling only slightly short of earning its dividend of $1.40 annually. Westinghouse is selling to yield about 5.9 per cent but fell far short of earning its dividend requirement for the second quarter and showed a loss for the first half of the year. Westinghouse pays $4 annually.

Current Positions Strong

BOTH COMPANIES ARE in strong current financial positions with cash exceeding all their current liabilities. Westinghouse has no funded debt. General Electric has only $2,047,000 of debentures outstanding.

General Electric's current dividend rate is safe providing the business depression does not sink to even greater depths and does not extend over a period of years. The future of the Westinghouse common dividend is not so certain. The company could afford to pay unearned dividends for a long period. Results this year have been discouraging. Judging from the statement made by A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board, a short time ago, the directors intend to continue dividend payments. It seems logical to assume that this policy will not be changed if the company maintains the rate of improvement started during the second quarter.

Records in 1929

BOTH COMPANIES HAD RECORD earnings in 1929. They continued to do well in the first half of 1930 but the effects of declining business activity became apparent in the final months of the year.

General Electric's earnings dropped from $67,289,880 or $2.24 a share in 1929 on the basis of the present capitalization to $57,490,915 or $1.90 in 1930. But the earnings for 1930 still exceeded any preceding year with the exception of 1929.

Westinghouse earnings dropped from $27,062,611 or $10.15 in 1929 to $11,881,706 or $4.46 a share in 1930.

During the present year, the spread between the results reported by the two companies has widened even more. General Electric earned 37 cents a share in the first quarter and 38 cents in the second quarter. This made net for the six months 75 cents, or only five cents less than the dividend requirements for the period.

Westinghouse reported a loss of $2,885,945 in the first quarter of this year. In the second quarter, drastic payroll reductions and other economies permitted the company to report net profit of $926,604 or 33 cents a share on the common stock. This left the loss for the half year at $1,959,341.

Increased sales of electric refrigerators were a factor in helping the earnings of Westinghouse in the first quarter. Refrigerator sales were not so apparent in the General Electric statement since the organization has been in this field for several years.

Anthracite Coal Activities Decline

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.—Anthracite employment was 5 per cent smaller and wage payments 12.5 per cent smaller in June than May, according to the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank on the basis of reports from 159 collieries employing 104,000 workers, with a weekly payroll amounting to $2,608,000. Last year at the same time, the drop in employment and payrolls was somewhat smaller.

The employment index was 74 per cent and the payroll index 57 per cent of the 1923-1925 average. Compared with a year ago, this is a decline of 17 per cent in the number of workers and of 23 per cent in the volume of wage disbursements.

Thad Learns That Kitty Has Turned Against Him

CHAPTER XXIV.

"I knew you were a good sport," Thad's faithless wife exclaimed when I told her that I would do anything for $50,000.

"But how do I know that I will get it?" I asked.

"My dear, surely you can trust me—and my lawyer," she exclaimed.

"Surely I cannot trust you—nor any lawyer who would agree to a scheme for framing anyone."

Her face crimsoned and then she laughed.

"You are a wise child—I really don't blame you. But how shall we know you will keep your word?"

"How about half in advance and the rest after I give my testimony?"

She agreed to that.

"I shall have you see my lawyer."

I was doing some more rapid thinking. I didn't want to face her lawyer.

"Wouldn't it be far better if you gave the instructions? Then I could swear that I had never seen or talked with your lawyer. Think how impressive that would be," I suggested.

"A swell idea. I will see my lawyer and come back tomorrow evening with a check for half of the amount."

"That's all right—if the check is certified."

"You ought to be rich by now. Tell me, how could a working girl like you get ten thousand—unless you wheedled it out of some sugar daddy?"

"I never had a sugar daddy—that isn't my kind of playing around. I saved my money and invested it, or speculated, on some tips," I lied, glibly.

GIVEN CHECK

When I told her the fib about having 10 thousand I did it solely to make her understand that I couldn't be bribed and didn't need money. I had no idea that she would come back with the dazzling offer of five times that amount.

Thad Parson's wife left me, then, promising to come the next night with a check for twenty-five thousand and a written agreement to pay me another twenty-five thousand when I had testified according to instructions.

I listened at my door until I heard the elevator stop and take her down. Then I walked back into the room.

Viola stepped out from the kitchenette, her eyes wide with excitement. She grabbed me and danced me around.

"Fifty thousand dollars! Hot d——!" she cried.

"It's some money—half the people in the world work a lifetime for much less than that," I said.

"I thought sure I was going to sneeze just when she was telling you what she would pay. If I had—oh, lordy!"

"You didn't," I said, "and all's well."

"And you'll go through with it?"

"Watch me!"

Viola kept muttering to herself, "Fifty thousand dollars," as if dazed at the thought of it.

Arline Parsons kept her word. She called the next night. There was no question but what she meant business, for she had the check.

"My lawyer wouldn't draw up any agreement about the other check, but that's all right between us, we understand each other," she said briskly.

PLAN STORY

"Your lawyer is right. He couldn't afford to do anything like that or he would be disbarred. But that doesn't prevent you from doing it, just an agreement between us," I suggested.

"It wouldn't be legal, with no witnesses," she protested.

"So much the better—because this is a private agreement between us."

She agreed to that, when I insisted, and wrote out an agreement on a folded sheet of letter paper, which I tore in half for her.

"Now," I said, "what is the dope?"

She consulted a little note book and named a date.

"That's just a week after we came north. I'll get a private detective who will swear that on this date he and I forced our way in this apartment and found you with Thad. After my detective testifies you will be called to the stand. All you have to do is to look frightened and admit that what the detective said is true—will you do that?"

"It is certainly awfully easy," I said.

"You'll get your summons and I'll see to it that you are on hand. I'll have Curt bring the message to you and see that you get to the right room at the right time for the hearing. Thad has a big pull and he's going to have this in camera."

"In camera?" I repeated, not understanding.

"That means in secret—no outsiders at all," she informed.

"Splendid!" I agreed, and I surely meant it.

She began to laugh, in a harsh way.

"Won't Thad be boiling mad—at both of us! I'll get the decree and I'll gouge him good for alimony."

"And then marry Mr. Lawlor?" I asked, with pretended innocence.

"Marry him and lose my alimony? Don't be a sil!" she said, and again the harsh laugh.

Once more, after she left, Viola came prancing out from the kitchenette.

"For Pete's sake, let me get a look-see at a $25,000 check!" she cried.

She looked at it.

"What easy money," she whispered.

BURNING HATRED

We grinned at each other without further comment.

I met Fanny Dutton shortly after this. I was out with Chubb Osmund. He had returned from his trip and evidently lost no time in getting to see me.

To my surprise Forrest Malvern was with Fanny and I had thought him in Bar Harbor at this time.

Forrest greeted Chubb and myself heartily and made us join him at his table. I saw him whisper something to Fanny as we were going to the table.

Fanny's greeting seemed rather coldly polite to me but I paid no attention to this at the time. At the first opportunity, it was when Chubb left the table for a moment, Forrest gave Fanny an odd glance and she turned to me.

"Katie," she said, "I must have been terribly jingled the other night. "Forrest says I said a lot of silly things to you and of course, I wasn't responsible. I didn't mean them, so accept my apology."

"There is no need of an apology," I assured her.

Forrest seemed greatly pleased but when he was dancing with me and Chubb had Fanny, I noticed that she was constantly watching us and giving me black looks every time she thought Forrest couldn't catch her at it.

All of this merely amused me. I felt that Forrest was sore because she tried to make me think he was her man, as she expressed it. He assured me that she had no hold on him and that it was only old-time friendship that made him keep up the acquaintance.

I was glad of that. I was getting rather fond of Forrest and had found him decidely trustworthy.

My guess about Fanny Dutton was correct. Before the evening was over she followed me to the rest room and as no one was there but a colored maid in a far corner she turned on me. Her hatred of me was plainly to be seen in her eyes and entire facial expression.

"I apologized to you just to please Forrest," she said, sharply, "but don't think I meant a word of it. If you don't want to get in real trouble you keep away from him."

THAD ASKS EXPLANATION

I smiled at her and spoke deliberately.

"In the words of some great poet, Fanny," I said, "go cook a radish! Go jump up and bust! You are just as phoney as your apology. Forrest Malvern isn't any more your man than he is my man. Two can make trouble, so don't annoy me again or I'll have the man from the home for stray cats come and get you!"

I laughed at her and walked out before she could catch her breath and frame any comeback.

As I came out from the rest room I got quite a little thrill, for Thad Parsons was at our table, chatting with Forrest.

He saw me coming and turned toward me, a few steps from the table. I smiled and half extended my hand, but he gave me a terrible look. I had never seen such a hurt and yet angry expression on his face.

"Well, Katie," he said, "You are going to perjure yourself, sell me out. You have become a female Judas, I understand."

I knew what he meant, but I put on a bold front.

"You have a mighty high opinion of yourself, Thad." I answered, looking him full in the eyes, "for if I am a Judas to you, that makes you——"

"Hush, I didn't mean it like that—it's sacrilege, but in God's name why have you turned on me like this?"

Synopsis

Katherine Mason jilts Peter Thompson because he is poor and believes she can marry rich Thad Parsons. Thad marries snobbish Arline Sargent, and six months later Arline is named corespondent in a divorce suit. Katherine discoverers that she never loved Thad. Her whole aim in life is to have a gay time, just playing around. She has many wealthy gentleman friends, including Forrest Malvern, who used to be the "sugar daddy" of Dolly Hawkins, now mysteriously disappeared. Thad is going to divorce Arline. Arline offers Katherine $50,000 if she will help frame Thad so that she, Arline, can get the divorce and alimony. Katherine seems to agree.

Now Go On

DAILY SHORT STORY

His Theory

Professor Uses Radio to Recall Dead Voices

I was sitting on a shaded park bench, reading the reports of a meeting of scientists, when the man came along.

Science has always interested me, after the manner in which the moon interests a very young child. This is because I cannot understand anything about science any more than the very young child can grasp the moon.

This man did not seem to see me.

He sat on the other end of the bench, poked at the gravel path with the tip of a cane and muttered.

The man was interesting. He was thin, tall, dignified. The gray hair at his temples gave him distinction. His beady black eyes gave him a sort of mysticism and his garb, all black and immatulate, was another feature that made him seem interesting.

I wondered what he was muttering about.

"Et tu, Brute?" he muttered.

"Allons! Allons!"

He was switching to French—probably a professor of languages.

The article about science ceased to interest me, momentarily.

"Waves, stand still!"

I did some quick thinking and was pleased with my memory. The mysterious and dignified occupant of the other half of my park bench was unquestionably referring to Canute, whose subjects believed he could make the waves cease motion and prevent the tide from coming in, merely at a word.

"That," I said, "was a perfect demonstration of man's impotence against the laws of nature."

TALKS OF CAESAR

Rather a neat way to put it, I thought, and hoped it would impress the man. Whether it impressed him I couldn't say, but it attracted his attention to me. My words, and probably more because of the report of that scientific meeting in my hand, caused him to nod in a dignified way.

"Man is gradually conquering certain great laws of nature, sir," he said.

I nodded agreement for the sake of drawing him out.

He took a notebook from his pocket. "For Caesar," he said, "was an honorable man."

He jotted down a memo of this, evidently.

"That was Mark Antony's belief," I ventured.

"I shall make sure about that some day. I shall learn whether Caesar, the great, was an honorable man or a mere plotting politician."

"Research work is interesting," I said, after a silence, for I wanted to make the man explain what was behind his odd quotations from high spots in history.

"I shall learn words that were spoken in secret conclave and never written," he assured me, "words spoken centuries ago."

There was no answer to this. Even an unscientific man could see, I thought, that words spoken centuries ago and never written by any hand could scarcely be learned today.

"I tell you that I can do it," he declared sharply. He glanced at the pamphlet in my hand.

"Scientists — but scientists who cannot think ahead, who know no such word as 'imagination' in their lexicon," he said to me sharply, "but I shall startle them all with my dead voices."

PRODUCES CARD

"Dead voices?" I asked.

I was disappointed. The man probably believed himself to be, or pretended to be, a spiritualistic medium.

"Voices and table-rappings at seances still amaze many," I ventured, to lead him on.

He stared at me coldly and drew forth a card which he handed to me. I read:

G. Bacmob Tutheridge, D. Sc., F. R. Sc. S., D. E. E.

"Do I appear to you, sir," he said gravely, "as one who would dabble in spiritualism, who would claim to have a 'Little Indian Wildflower' control?"

"Not at all, sir," I assured him.

"So few can grasp this simplest of all simple methods of bringing back to the living human ear at this date the voices of men dead for centuries," he assured me.

"It does not sound simple, quite the contrary."

"Are you a scientist?"

I admitted that I was not a scientist, that I dealt more in fiction than fact.

"A writer?"

"In a small way," was my confession.

The man brightened.

"I shall explain to you, sir, for despite the fact that you are a writer, you appear to have a gleam of intelligence. You will be able to make public my plans, and in this manner I shall, perhaps, be understood and in due time be credited for my amazingly simple, but astoundingly important discovery."

"Do so," I urged.

"Radio," he said, "radio is the word, the single word."

I frowned. Radio being such a very modern invention, did not seem to hook up well with this man's claims, even though he was most impressive and his words peculiarly convincing.

"You doubt me, of course."

"I wouldn't say that," I stammered, "but I certainly do not understand how—"

"Watch this," he interrupted. He picked up a little pebble the size of a walnut and tossed it across the path into the pond. "See those ripples?"

NOT AN ANSWER

"Oh, yes, I understand that. The ripples made by a stone tossed into the water is the layman manner of explaining radio; air being a gas, ripples at every sound, but look here, sir, let us face this thing straight. When a man is dead he ceases speaking, no more sound may come from his throat to make sound waves in the air."

G. Bascomb Tutheridge, D. Sc., F. R. Sc. S., D. E. E., looked at me pityingly.

"Quite a distance, but rarifies. I haven't the exact figures—"

"Rarifies so that man is not adapted to breathe it, but it is still air, a form of gas, and it extends so many billions of miles that it takes 50,000 years or so for the light from certain planets to reach this earth—and there, sir, is your answer!"

But it wasn't my answer. I murmured "Indeed" and he must have seen at once that I had no answer so far as my feeble intellect could grasp things.

"Caesar, died and turned to dust when?"

"Late in A. D."

"Say 2,000 years. Very well, when he saw Brutus stab him, on the ides of March, among others, and he said 'Et tu, Brute,' folded his toga about him and died, his words went rippling on and on and on into the air, into the air of the universe, out and out and out, and, sir, it is still rippling on and on."

"Even though our friend Caesar be dead these many years?" I murmured, this time to make him continue his weird "explanation."

"Quite true. Now then, here is my simple method, a radio apparatus that will send its powers out through our normal ether, out beyond into the rarified air, out into the great universe and there sensitively pick up those ripples made by Caesar and cause them to be heard through the loud speaker of any good radio in every home! Now, sir, what do you think of that?"

"Stupendous—even if it cannot be done, it is simply stupendous—"

"It can be done . . . I have already done it!"

"Whew!" I exclaimed.

"I figure out the time that has passed since any great man or woman said words that live in history, both sacred and profane history—sir, can you imagine coming into our homes the words from such great men? Can you imagine hearing, 'Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth?' Can you, sir?"

"I cannot, and yet you say you have perfected this."

"To a great degree. Already I have sent back with my apparatus to that day when George Washington was fleeing the British after the Battle of Long Island. He was on his horse where the public library now stands and I got his words clearly. They concerned fleeing to Jersey. I shall not sadden hero-worshipers by quoting exactly. I will admit to you, however, that the general was cursing roundly, profusely and with great emphasis. I have already sent my radio rays into the ether and brought back the warning shouts of Paul Revere as he was arousing the inhabitants of 'every Middlesex village and farm' and I have—"

G. Bascomb Tutheridge ceased speaking and turned. Two men stood before him.

ESCAPED FROM ASYLUM

"Ah, professor, here we are. You are late. We are waiting for your next experiment," one man said.

"Yes, yes—certainly."

He started away with this man. I caught the other man by the arm. "Tell me about him—may I go and witness his experiments?" I pleaded.

The man grinned.

"Aw, he's just nerts—he got away from our sanitarium. He was a professor all right and had a big family. He went nerts having to listen to his kids turn on bedtime stories, jazz, vintage of 1900 vaudeville jokes and the like. He thinks he's gonna get this here Caesar's voice, whoever that guy was—th' only Caesar I ever knew run a pants pressing place on Thoid avenue—"

I thanked him and handed him a cigar as he turned to catch up with his brother keeper from the sanitarium and the man who was to recall dead voices.

The Taxicab Strike

A committee from the Central Labor Union asks Mayor Kline to use his good offices to effect a settlement of the taxicab drivers' strike. It is a reasonable request, and a timely one.

The committee states that it has failed in its efforts to confer with Paul L. Houston, of the taxicab company, because of his refusal to name a date for a meeting. There seems no alternative then but to ask for the intercession of a mediator whom the taxicab company is not likely to snub.

The company may take the position that there is no strike because it stands ready to render service on call. The fact remains that many of the company's former drivers are still out, and that many persons who would like to use taxis are afraid to do so while the drivers' grievances remain unadjusted. They fear the cabs may be stoned or wrecked by the strikers' sympathizers.

It is not a theory, but a condition that confronts the people of Pittsburgh—an intolerable condition that cannot be permitted to continue indefinitely.

The company should face the facts, state its position frankly, and meet mediators halfway.

Enrollment of Voters

There were two developments yesterday in the preparations for the forthcoming primary and general elections which will give satisfaction to all who are interested in placing good men in office with honest ballots.

One was the court order under which assessors will again sit in McKeesport to enroll citizens whose names for some reason or other were not taken in the house-to-house canvas. Hundreds are said to have been missed. The way is thus paved for similar action in other municipalities.

The other development was the statement of Registration Commissioner E. Lowry Humes that the board's chief purposes were to make it easy for honest citizens to register, and at the same time to eliminate fraudulent registration. It was gratifying to learn that the board will not be seriously embarrassed by the absence of the records stolen last November.

It is a question if the election of unworthy men to office in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County in recent years has been due so much to crookedness at the polls as to the failure of many of the citizens to vote.

Certainly there has been a great deal of cheating, but its effects might have been overcome if the great army of stay-at-home citizens had done their civic duty by going to the polls and voting.

It is scarcely less important that bonafide citizens' names should be placed on the assessment and registration lists, so that they may be qualified to cast ballots, than that the names of phantom and ineligible voters should be stricken from the lists.

Action Against Bombers

With County Fire Marshal Offering Reward for Their Arrest the Right Man Is on the Job.

The action of County Fire Marshal Thomas L. Pfarr in offering a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the recent dynamite explosions in McKees Rocks and East McKeesport is one of the most encouraging things that have yet been done in the search for the bombers.

Pfarr's offer shows he is in deadly earnest in his pursuit of the dynamiters. It shows that, unlike some of the police, he does not consider the bomb outrages as incidents in a private warfare with which the public is not concerned, but regards them as emphatically the public's business.

The fire marshal is the right man for the job of finding the bombers. It is not a task for the uniformed police, nor for the state troopers. It calls for skillful detective work.

A Simplification Plan

The Campaign of the State Chamber of Commerce, If Successful, Will Do Away With Waste.

The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce plans to inaugurate in September a state-wide campaign for simplification and elimination of waste among producers, distributors and consumers.

A simple illustration of what it is proposed to accomplish may be found in the history of loose-leaf notebooks. When loose-leaf notebooks were first placed on the market every manufacturer made them in such sizes as he saw fit, without consulting other manufacturers. The consequence was that there was great variety in the sizes, and great waste and confusion. A customer who had bought a notebook in one store, on going to another store for a new supply of leaves, would be unable to obtain any that would fit his binder. Or there would be a change in the sizes, and storekeepers would find themselves stocked with binders and leaves which they could not sell. After this had gone on for a few years the dealers and manufacturers got together and agreed on a few standard sizes.

Simplification and standardization have since been extended to many other commodities as diversified as files and bricks and bedsheets.

Praise for the N. G. P.

It Is a Satisfaction to Know That the State Militia Are Ready for Action.

The National Guard of Pennsylvania has not been called upon for active service for some years, and we hope it never will be. It is a satisfaction, nevertheless, to know that the troops are in a splendid state of preparedness, ready for action.

Maj. Gen. Edward King, assistant chief of staff of the United States Army, one of three general officers who have been inspecting the troops at their annual encampment, is loud in his praise of the Pennsylvania militia.

The Pennsylvania guardsmen have the fine reputation that the Twenty-eighth Division made in the World War to live up to, and it is gratifying to learn that they are doing it.

F. OPPER

As far as this girl is concerned, the business situation does not look any brighter.

As for her lover, or shall we, more respectfully, say her ADMIRER, sitting in the lower left-hand corner, we can't find words to express him.

The old villain, Prohibition, still is sitting, "never flitting, never flitting," and the three little boys in back of him, his pals and assistants, are not flitting, either, to any marked extent. They are right with us.

Just WHY Prohibition should gag this little girl, who hasn't anything to say for herself anyhow, we don't understand. But villains usually use gags, and this villain probably wants to be "regular."

The people have crime, bootlegging, snooping, banditry, racketeering and Prohibition fastened on their backs, AND THEY STAND IT.

Well, the world is governed justly, we know that. "Each nation gets the government that it deserves." Therefore, we deserve the Prohibition-crime-bootleg-racketeering government that we are getting.

They Don't Look Starved

Perhaps We Underestimate Russia's Ability.

RUSSIAN WORKING GIRLS PARADE

Many things in Russia that our "best minds" looked upon with contempt at the beginning, now attract more attention, even some respect.

They took it for granted at first that Russia must fail. Russia didn't believe in capitalistic government, Russia developed ideas concerning religion, the family and property, that seemed to us repulsive. We concluded immediately, that is our "best minds" and our "high finance" concluded that Russia could not possibly make a success of anything.

We seem to have formed a hasty judgment.

The former head of our great Farm Board announces that the end of "small private farming" in America is in sight and "collective farming" must take its place.

They have collective farming in Russia, tractors that cultivate fields, going six miles in a straight line and coming back six miles, instead of backing around the corners of small farm lots.

And most remarkable of all, while we have millions of men out of work, a heavy depression, and supplies of all kinds that we cannot sell, Russia has everybody working, on the basis of a five-day week, a short working day, eager market for all supplies, and Russia is importing and employing the best engineers and machinery from the United States and from other countries.

Also Russia is educating its children. Boys and girls of 14 and 15 that have been taught are sent into the country to educate old people, that they may at least know how to read. All take physical exercise, as this picture of a working girls' parade shows.

The young Russian girls parading in this photograph do not look starved or gloomy. They might even interest Mr. Ziegfeld himself.

What is really going on in Russia? How long will the experiment last that is based upon a "denial of human selfish instincts" in an effort to change human beings and their desires overnight?

Sovietism will not be permanent in its present shape. Human society is not made to order. It grows as the individual child and man grow. But the Russian experiment is the most interesting experiment that has ever been made in the world, and while the foolish financier rages about it, refuses to discuss it or denies that it exists, the intelligent American will study it carefully and ask himself: "Is there anything for our own industries, our own people to learn from this extraordinary experiment of a people greater than ourselves in numbers, owning territory greater than the United States, and wealth unlimited?" You may be interested in a few extracts from an able British publication, the Sphere. They show some signs of prejudice. But the photograph is at least truthful.

The rising Russian generation born before the revolution is growing up, living a strange kind of theatricalized life, surrounded by propagandist influences. The young men and women who go into the factories find themselves under an iron discipline, listening continually to the slogan, "Complete the Five-Year Plan in Four Years." Steps are taken to eradicate any trace of family life influence that may be left in them. The same force brings them into physical culture groups of the Proletarian Sports Society. Continually they are called upon to take part in demonstrations, marching side by side with the Red Army and with other factory workers, listening to interminable propaganda speeches. Many of the girls live freely and openly with the young men, despising morals as "bourgeois." Or they may go through the farce of a state marriage by filling in a form, to get a divorce a few months later by filling in another. When their children are born they go into the collective nurseries, units in another collective generation.

Though some of the older people are staunch and active Communists, the Bolshevik leaders are not troubling about the bulk of the older generation, for they recognize that they cannot succeed in changing the habits and beliefs of years. Until about two years ago their success with the rising generation had been restricted mainly to the towns. They had made little headway among the peasants or among the people of Asiatic Russia with their age-old customs. But now, with the collectivization of agriculture, they are capturing the rising peasant generation.

Nearly 17 years have passed since the outbreak of the World War, and 13 years since the Bolshevik revolution. The Russian babies of 1914 are now absorbed in industry or agriculture; the babies of the post-revolution period of military Communism are in the Soviet schools. So Lenin's scheme is taking practical shape, his type is becoming a reality. A new generation is growing up enlisted in the service of Bolshevism. Religion, the family, morality, mean nothing to it. Its religion is the word of Lenin, its gods blast furnaces, mines, engines and tractors. Its life is centered round the factory, the worker's club, the propaganda cinema and the sports stadium. Its moral code can be summed up in the words of Lenin, "We do not believe in eternal principles of morality."

What is coming out of the extraordinary Russian experiment nobody can tell.

Those that hate it and pray for its failure, including a majority of the nations of Europe, and the United States, believe that in time the Russians will rebel against the discipline that now controls their lives.

Intelligent men and women, while condemning attacks on religion and any foolish attempt to destroy the home life on which civilization is based, will withhold judgment and WATCH DEVELOPMENTS.

Trifles, Light as Summer Love

A summer love affair is like a summer cold; it may mean nothing, or it may develop into something that will hang on all season—and that you'll have a hard time getting rid of in the autumn.

After reading the details of some of the divorce cases and love troubles in the newspapers, these days, a woman with just a nice, average husband feels almost like rushing over and kissing him on his bald spot and handing him a halo.

Sometimes, a woman has to go to the altar three or four times before she discovers that marriage is bound to be the same old bitter disappointment if you keep on picking the same type of man.

After a man has been married and divorced the fashionable number of times, it takes something more than trifles, like a drop in the stock market, a war scare or a smash-up with a motor truck, to make him nervous.

Flag-pole sitting has gone down into history as the most useless thing on earth, except possibly a girl's efforts to win a man by the modern method of chasing him down and falling on his neck.

Death would be sweet to some people if they thought they could deluge all their friends with nice "Wish-you-were-here" postcards from Heaven, or brilliant, colorful ones from Purgatory.

It takes an awfully rainy Sunday to bring out enough religion in a golf-husband for his wife to persuade him to go to church.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. MUNDY

Dad, are you the sort your children would be proud to introduce to their friends?

Or is your reputation such that they have reason to feel ashamed of you?

Do young folks feel at ease when they meet you in your home?

Is your home popular or the reverse as a meeting place for your children's friends?

Must your children make excuses for you, fearing that you may display unpleasant traits or cause them embarrassment?

Perhaps your children spend few evenings at home?

They never seem happy and contented in their home though you have perhaps provided a comfortable and well-furnished house.

Maybe it is more of a house than a home.

In such a case you cannot expect them to remain in it longer than necessary to sleep and eat.

You may have wondered why your children desire to go to the homes of their friends so often.

It is because they have a better time elsewhere.

FRANCE DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

PARIS, July 23.—The Cafe de la Paix corner is still the liveliest in Paris. And to my notion the most democratic spot in all Europe. At the terrasse tables, King Edward, the Prince of Wales, King Alphonso, King Albert and many other monarchs and high potentates have rubbed elbows with hoi-polloi.

On the Capucines and opera side pavement are 350 marble topped tables with a capacity of 1,000. The tables begin to fill at 9 in the morning and until 1 o'clock at night there are few vacant. It is a constantly shifting, polyglot and leisurely crowd. One may buy a one-franc drink and sit all day.

The cafe is owned by the Grand Hotel, occupying most of the block and has often paid 60 per cent on its common stock. Even during the trying days of the war it made money. Waiters receive no salaries, but pay 15 francs a day to work there. Some have grown rich.

Considered by tourists a "yokel" retreat, its inside restaurants are the delight of gourmets from all parts of the world. From its cuisine one may order everything from shark's fin to Egyptian locusts in aspic. On its sidewalks chiefly drinks and ices are sold, at an average of five francs (20 cents) each.

From a chair there one watches all the world and his wife drift by. At the curb edge is a row of leafy maples. In the middle of the boulevard is a row of waiting fiacres with drooping drivers in glazed leather plug hats. Across the way the unceasing flow up and down the grand boulevards.

In the promenade one may see a coal black Senegalese with a monocle, a turbaned and white robed Moroccan, registered ladies expressing Parisian chic, a real shiek from the Sahara, Yvette, the one-legged cocotte on white crutches, East Indian princes, British lords from across the channel and so on.

And etched in ugly bas-relief a hunch-backed violet hawker, the faceless war-wreck who cries "L'Intransigeant" through a sardonic slit, palsied map sellers, withered crones who stand before you with hideous sores, whispering underworld guides and other beady-eyed rats of the sewers.

I have never seen what I would call a raving French beauty—on the stage, at the races, opera or fashionable Bois restaurants. There are a number who are "smart." That is they wear clothes with a superb dash, but there are, I venture, more truly beautiful women in Louisville, Ky., than all France. The so-called middle class women of France are atrociously ugly, splotched and warty complexions, stringy hair, hairy lips and chins and invariably ungainly. Sometimes among the midinettes there is a freshly vibrant and corn-fed beauty, but it fades early.

Radio fans would get a big kick out of programs over here. Last night at a private home while twiddling the dial I got Spain, then Germany and all of a sudden, smack on the barrel—a Soviet lecture from Moscow. But the real thrill was when tiring of a rendition of "Carmen" in Italy, I twisted the dingus and heard a booming voice singing "My Canary's Got Rings Under Its Eyes." It was Sophie Tucker in London.

In a hotel lobby I heard an American protesting over a hundred franc charge of a porter for buying a ticket to Frankfort, Germany. "But," argued the porter, "many Americans give me a thousand francs for such service." Replied the Yank: "Maybe so. But they will not be coming over this summer."

The cigar box like shops under the ancient rue de Rivoli porticoes depend largely on tourists and consequently pickings are thin. But prices are as high as ever. Those of us who expected bargains this season can begin our hand wringing the first day. New York is far cheaper.

A seller of dirty post cards sidled up near Rumplemayer's and flashed his pornographic exhibit from under his coat. "What makes you think I'm interested in such trash?" I asked, hot under the collar. "American college boys always are," he replied. Thus complimented, had he been selling anything else I would have bought him out. Tomorrow I shop for a blazer and beret. Rah, rah, rah!

I was pleased to learn that a roar of voices each 9:30 a. m. through my hotel window was the recess shouting of a school nearby. Historians report a similar roar rising in Crescendo as the revolution got going. Several times I've started packing.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge doesn't criticize her husband. Doesn't even advise him. Never says—

"Now, Cal, dear, you know perfectly well we need a new car. Why, we've been going around in that old wheelbarrow ever since we left the White House. What will people be saying! You don't care what they say? Well, you ought to care. You might think of my feelings once in a while—

"And then there's that notion you have of giving up writing. That's the very worst thing you could do—giving up writing just when you're beginning to get a good start. What's that? I don't know anything about business? I do, too. Maybe I haven't had your experience, but I have intuitions about things like that.

"And, while we're at it, I want to mention that old brown tie you're wearing. I've told you 50 times, Calvin Coolidge, that that's a Perfectly Awful Tie. Why I could sink right through the floor every time I see that tie. But that's the way you are. Never pay the least mite of attention to anything I say—"

No, Mrs. Grace Coolidge never says anything like that. She goes right on, preserving the well-known Golden Silence while Husband Cal commits all the 8,735,629 misdemeanors for which other wives give other husbands the run-around. At any rate, that's Alice Booth's story in the July GOOD HOUSEKEEPING MAGAZINE. And she sticks to it.

"It is a safe assumption," says she, "that probably never in her life has Grace Coolidge told her husband what he should have said or what he should have done on a given occasion—that almost universal habit of wives. With miraculous wisdom she accepted the fact that here was a man, not in the making, but made."

Yeah? Well, maybe. But what's your idea? Could you do it? Not with Cal, of course. But take any man—any husband—

CAN ANY WOMAN . . . SHOULD ANY WOMAN . . . LIVE WITH A HUSBAND WITHOUT ADVISING HIM?

What would any husband amount to if he were not advised by his dear, loyal mate?

Or would he, maybe, amount to a whole lot more?

Isn't it universally conceded, particularly by the ladies themselves, that woman is man's inspiration . . . and that no man ever gets anywhere unless some female tells him how? Haven't you heard men say that, right out loud, in front of their wives—or other female voters? Then didn't they mean it?

Or were the False Wretches just helping the Dear Little Woman kid herself along?

And as for that Female Intuition Racket, which Grace Coolidge should use but doesn't, is or isn't it a pipe dream?

Think of all the money your husband would have made in the stock market if he'd listened to you, Angie. On the other hand, think of all he lost when he did.

Be that as it may, are or aren't men able to manage their own affairs, without advice from their wives?

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

By S. H. Connolly

Mark each statement "True" or "False:"

1. "Manon" was composed by Massenet.
2. The Leatherstocking Tales were written by Hawthorne.
3. The Hartz Mountains are in Sweden.
4. John Muir is remembered as a naturalist.
5. Cape Hatteras is in South Africa.
6. Shakespeare said,
   "Who'er she be
   That not impossible she
   That shall command my heart and me."
7. Ethan Allen was a hero of the American Revolution.
8. The Congo River is in Africa.
9. "Let me have men about me that are thin
   Sleek-headed men, and such as sleep o'nights."
10. The Colosseum is in Rome.

Match correctly:

11. Edmund Andros	founded Salem
12. Robert Dinwiddie	discovered the mouth of St. Lawrence River
13. Jacques Cartier	American sculptor
14. John Endicott	royal Governor of Virginia
15. Gutzon Borglum	royal Governor of New England

Answers to today's test:

1. True. 2. False—James F. Cooper. 3. False—Germany. 4. True. 5. False—North Carolina. 6. False—Richard Crashaw. 7. True. 8. True. 9. False—the word "thin" should be changed to "fat." 10. True. 11. WINDOW SMASHING ROUSES INDEPENDENT VOTERS

LEAGUE DEFIES FOES, OPENS CAMPAIGN

200 Aides in Field Despite East End Brick Hurling; Vigorous Drive Arranged

Their anger aroused by the breaking of the large plate glass window at their headquarters at 6214 Broad street last week, the Independent Voters League of the East End district will formally launch its campaign tomorrow.

Mrs. Frank J. Boyle, secretary of the newly organized group, disclosed this today when asked if she believed the window was broken accidentally or by enemies of the independent movement.

DEFIES ENEMIES

She said:

"I know that there is a feeling against our movement in some sections of the district. But a little thing like a brick through a window isn't going to stop us. We haven't done half what we intend to before we are through."

Sixty workers of the league were to hold a luncheon meeting today at the Downtown Y. W. C. A., for the purpose of selecting district leaders. Attorney Ralph Smith was scheduled to be the principal speaker at the meeting.

RALLIES HELD

Mrs. Boyle indicated that following this meeting a detailed program to be carried out by the league would be announced.

A series of rallies have been held in East End communities under the sponsorship of the organization and about 200 workers are in the field at present, according to Mrs. Boyle.

EXPERT NAMED HEAD OF CHILD CLINIC HERE

Juvenile Research Leader, Dr. G. J. Mohr, to Direct Oakland Guidance Center

When the new Pittsburgh Child Guidance Center, Inc., opens its clinic October 1 at at 3604 Victoria street, Dr. George J. Mohr, formerly clinical director of the Institute for Juvenile Research and recently of the psychiatric staff of the Institute for Juvenile Welfare, will be in charge as director.

His appointment his been announced by Herbert Spencer, principal of Frick Training School. The clinic was made possible by a Buhl Foundation grant.

The new clinic, which is near the Falk Clinic, the dispensary, Children's Hospital and the University of Pittsburgh and the training school, will offer instruction in hygiene as well as diagnose delinquents. Its object is toward prevention rather than remedy, according to Spencer.

Its chief concern, he said, will be with the normal rather than the abnormal child, studying normal children against their background of heredity, environment and associates. Recognizing that the mind and the body are inseparable in the growing child and that abnormal mental states affect mental health, the clinic will study children with all the resources of medical knowledge, psychology, psychiatry and sociology, Spencer said.

Highland Park Supervisor Shuns Autos, Still Drives Horse and Buggy

Cars may come and cars may go, but Charles Giltenboth, supervisor at Highland Park, still drives a horse and buggy, just as he has driven during the 25 years he has been working at the park. His explanation is:

"They're more practical."

Highland Park today looks just as it did a quarter of a century ago, according to Giltenboth, who points out that the same gasoline highway lighting system is used today as the day he went to work at the park. The zoo is the only exception.

The supervisor tells you:

"But there is a difference. People no longer flock to the park as in the old days, when every day saw several groups of picnickers having a great time out here. The automobile has changed all that. Now the people who really get a kick out of the park are outsiders, and, of course, children who come out Saturdays and Sundays to look at the zoo and sometimes to stare at my horse and buggy."

Giltenboth's present horse, which he drives about the park on his inspection tours, is "Siliho," up to eight years ago a well-known pacer owned by Dave McDonald, of Pittsburgh.

INDIAN PASTOR ALSO COACH

Football coach, school teacher and foreign missionary—that in brief is the story of the Rev. J. C. Heinrich, who returned to Pittsburgh on furlough last week after working in India since 1915 as a foreign pastor of the Shadyside Unted Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Heinrich last Sunday took over the pulpit at his home church where he will serve as guest pastor until September 6.

Receiving his early education at Pittsburgh Central High School, Dr. Heinrich later was graduated from Westminster College and then taught in Sharon High School, also acting as basketball and football coach.

Dr. Heinrich is an admirer of Gandhi and believes that:

6 TOWNS INVITE NOTED GUESTS TO FETE

500 Expected to Be Present At Banquet Marking Close Of Celebration Tomorrow

Six towns and one township have completed plans for the formal opening of the upper Monroeville road tomorrow. Gov. Pinchot and Congressman Clyde Kelly are included on the list of prominent persons who have been asked to take part in the district celebration, which is to include a parade and banquet.

The parade is scheduled to start at 2 p. m. from Turtle Creek, according to P. D. McLean, of Turtle Creek, general chairman, and W. J. Whalen, chief of police of Turtle Creek, parade chairman.

The line of march, according to schedule, will be through Forest Hills, to East Pittsburgh, through Turtle Creek to Wilmerding, through Wall to Moss Side Bridge to the Pitcairn road, through Pitcairn and out the Pitcairn road to the Monroeville road to Youngs Corner and over the new road to Maple avenue, Turtle Creek, then back to Turtle Creek, to the Turtle Creek Stadium.

Five hundred persons are expected to attend the banquet to be held at 7 p. m. in Westinghouse cafeteria.

COUNCIL TO GET ZOO APPEAL

Public Works Director Lang will give City Council his suggestions for improvements to be made at Highland Park Zoo in the near furture, indicated after making a recent inspection tour with Councilman Phillips and A. J. Schaumann, head keeper.

These men, together with Councilman Connelley, will submit remedies for the present situation at the zoo.

Connelley has suggested that Council select an unpaid advisory committee to aid the Department of Public Works in managing the zoo.

The city has been urged by the Western Pennsylvania Humane Society to put the lions in an outdoor enclosure, and to provide the bears with larger quarters and fresh air.

BETH SHALOM RITES SUNDAY

Rabbi Goodman A. Rose will conduct the services at the dedication of the new Beth Shalom Synagogue, 5915 Beacon street, Squirrel Hill, Sunday afternoon. Abe Caplan will be chairman.

The scrolls will be transferred to the new synagogue from the present building in a procession.

COURT RULING ENDS PENN TOWNSHIP ANNEXATION FIGHT

JUDGE UPHOLDS 'HOME RULE' DEFENDERS

Five-Year Battle Against Joining City Settled by Decision Holding Act Void

A five year battle that has been waged in Penn Township is settled, apparently permanently, by the decision of Judge George V. Moore in Quarter Sessions Court holding null and void efforts at annexation in Penn Township, that were pending when the State legislature repealed certain previous acts under which the annexation was possible.

Charles G. Hershey, president of the Township Board of Education, and L. A. Snyder were active in the fight against annexation of parts of the township to the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Hershey said:

"My experience as president of the board of education of Penn Township for more than five years proves to me that the "green-shoe" method employed by the annexationists under the old act of 1874 disturbed the peace of the community, which destroys local government, the foundation upon which this government is built."

"The whole thing has been a matter of principle. We must preserve home rule."

The bills which were declared voided by Judge Moore provided for the annexation of several of the most highly-valuable portions of the township, including many acres along Franksfown road.

FIVE EAST END ZONING PLEAS DECIDED

Two Denied and Two Granted With Another Withdrawn; Six Other Cases Heard

Returning its decisions in five East End cases referred to it, the Zoning Board of Adjustment this week denied two, granted two with conditions and announced that one had been withdrawn.

Charles Thornton, 554 Warsaw street, one-family dwelling, and Vincent Manella, 6300-02 Ebdy street, double house, were denied a reversal from the decisions of the superintendent of the Bureau of Building Inspection.

Appeals with conditions were granted Louis Pellini, 400 Greenfield avenue, one-story extension to front of dwelling, for storeroom, and Joseph B. Tomkievicious, 2117 Sarah street, one-story extension to rear of dwelling. H. D. Hansons's appeal was withdrawn for six-story extension at 332 South Highland avenue.

Six more East End zoning cases were heard before the board Monday. They were:

2 Boroughs Speed Summer Mail Deliveries

Two East Boroughs are making necessary improvements to insure better mail delivery this summer. Residents of Homestead Park are planning the construction of continuous sidewalks in order to obtain free delivery service, and Forest Hills is installing a new house numbering system.

SWISSVALE AID FUND DEPLETED

For the first time in 23 years, the Philanthropic Society of Swissvale is without funds, according to its president, Mrs. Carl D. Smith, who recently issued an appeal.

Mrs. Smith explained in a circular that the society has spent an average of $500 a month since October, 1930, to aid unemployed and relieve suffering in the borough.

Swissvale residents have been asked to contribute $1 each to the society's fund. Thus far only $40 has been received as a result of the fund campaign, Mrs. Smith said.

AKRON MOTORS BUILT HERE

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company at its East Pittsburgh plant has designed and built much of the electrical equipment to be used in the Navy's giant dirigible, Akron. Weight and exact measurements are the two primary requirements the company has had to meet in the building of this equipment, according to Lieut. T. G. W. Settle, chief navy inspector, who has supervised construction for the government.

The small winch motors that will wind up the antenna of the radio, which ordinarily weigh 30 pounds, have been constructed of aluminum so as to weigh only 20 pounds. Standard fuel pumps have been cut in weight from 65 to 50 pounds.

The 3,000-volt motor generater set that will supply power to the radio transmitter is probably the lightest for its efficiency ever built for this purpose according to Westinghouse engineers. It weighs only 250 pounds and has an output of 3,400 watts.

PARISH HOUSE CONTRACT LET

The first unit of a new model parish house at the First Unitarian Church, Ellsworth and Morewood avenues, East End, will soon be under way. The completed building will be a memorial to the late Dr. L. Walter Mason, who was pastor of the church for 28 years.

Contracts for a study and private office for the Rev. Frank Edwin Smith, pastor of the church, have been let by the board of trustees.

The study will connect with the present church office and the trustees' room. Attorney Ward Bonsall is chairman of the parish house committee, and Dr. T. D. Yensen is chairman of the building committee.

PATTON DELAYS ANNEXATION

Petition for the annexation of 40 acres of Patton Township to Wilmerding, expected to have been made to the Borough Council Tuesday night, is being held over until the next meeting of the Council the first Tuesday in August.

The original plan of annexation was based on 25 acres, which was later amended.

Pacific M. E. Church To Elect Delegate

Pacific Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, North Pacific avenue, next Sunday will elect the delegate and alternate to the Lay Electoral Conference, to be held in Indiana, Pa.

PITCHERS NEED OF HOMEWOOD

In-and-out baseball is very much in evidence in the City League, by the two East End clubs, Homewood and the J. L. Thomas nine, of Bloomfield.

Homewood fans are keenly interested in the Daly aggregation winning the second half, after being nosed out by Dormont for the first half championship, but results to date seem to indicate that Homewood will not be the club to meet Dormont when the post-season games are arranged.

Pitching seems to be the big bugbear at Homewood, neither Bimmy Steele, Carl Stewart nor Westfall being able to stop the opposition when it comes to getting basehits.

Thomas is the type of club able to go out an defeat any team in the league, but cannot be classed as consistent enough to win a pennant.

Lincoln District Protests Plan For Hospital

The Lincoln Avenue District Civic Club will attempt to prevent the Department of Health's turning the Home of Good Shepherd into a municipal hospital, following a survey of the neighborhood.

The Club believes that the majority of residents of the district do not want to see a change made in the home.

Petitions will be presented City Council by a committee which includes Harry Miller, chairman; Robert A. Blackwell, J. McNamara, Martin Burns and Charles A. Geisler.

Mt. Zion School At Highland Park

The annual Sunday school picnic of Mt. Zion Lutheran Church was held Saturday at Lake Point Shelter House, Highland Park.

BUILD DRIVERS' TEST GROUNDS

The State Highway Department is building new test grounds for neophyte automobile drivers just south of Washington boulevard, near the new Allegheny River boulevard. The test grounds when completed will consist of a main pavement 850 feet long and 24 feet wide, and four side streets each 110 feet long and 25 feet wide.

New headquarters, equipped with an office and reception room, will be erected on the site for the State Highway Patrol. Sergt. William Hallinan is in charge.

PLAN $600,000 SCHOOL

Plans are under way for a new $600,000 trade school for McKeesport. It is to be erected in the rear of the present high school on Bailie avenue.

C. L. Wooldridge, Inc., of Pittsburgh, submitted an architect's program which has been accepted by the school board. The program was given to C. R. Moffitt, of McKeesport, who will draw plans and work out specifications.

Part of the George Washington School, now being used by boys, will be occupied by girls when the new school is completed.

The plans are expected in September, but bids may not be let until next April.

PITCAIRN GROUP ON KDKA

"The Allegro Mandolin Sextet," a group of Pitcairn musicians, will play over statio KDKA Saturday at 5 p. m. These musicians have the distinction of being one of the first musical groups to be heard in England in a broadcast from America, April 17, 1923.

Its members are Percy V. Lichtenfels, director; R. W. Harshberger, Paul A. Wible, Paul R. Edelman, Alex J. Stright and Flora K. Lichtenfels, accompanist.

CHURCH RAZING SPEEDED

Dismantling of the East Liberty Presbyterian Church to make way for the new $3,000,000 church, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Mellon, is progressing rapidly.

At least two years will be required in which to complete the building, contractors say.

Homestead Residents Petition for Steps

Residents of Twelfth avenue extension, Homestead, have circulated petitions in the neighborhood preparatory to asking the borough council for use of borough property in building steps to homes above the street level.

Darlington Girl Makes Radio Debut

Miss Grace C. Mitchel, 5803 Darlington road, made her radio debut Tuesday night over station KDKA. She is accomplished on the harp, piano and organ.

Altmayer to Give Watermelon Party

Leo G. Altmayer, "watermelon Santa Claus" of Pittsburgh, will be host at a watermelon party next Wednesday at Leech Farm, Washington boulevard.

Parking Taboos In East End Increased

New test parking rules are now in effect on two important East End streets. One-hour parking has been ordered on the east side of Sheridan avenue, between Broad and Stanton streets, between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

No parking is permitted on either side of Whitfield street, between Howard and Rural streets.

FOUR RETREATS BY HOLY NAME

Four retreats, the first beginning today, have been announced by East Boroughs Holy Name Societies. Two of the retreats will be held at St. Fidelis Seminary, Herman, Pa., and the others at St. Vincent College, Latrobe, Pa.

They are: St. Fidelis Seminary, July 23 to 26 and July 30 to August 2; St. Vincent College, August 6 to 9 and August 13 to 16.

The Rev. Boniface Weckman will be in charge of the retreats at Herman, and the Rev. John Healey will direct those at St. Vincent's.

BELMONT-M'TIERNAN BOUT REVIVES INTEREST IN BOXING

BOWL ATTRACTS BIGGEST GATE OF SEASON

Keen Rivals May Be Rematched as Result of Knockout; Jadich Returns For Bout August 10

By HARRY KECK, Sport Editor.

The greatest impetus boxing has received in the East Boroughs sector came last Monday night, when the "natural" battle between Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, and Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, packed in the fans at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, to the extent of a gross gate of $5,500, to set a new mark for the season at the spacious arena, and, as a result, the depression in local cauliflower circles is beginning to do a fadeout.

MAY MEET AGAIN

A return bout between McTiernan and Belmont is a possibility before the end of the summer campaign, due to the manner in which this Tussle of the Century terminated. Belmont, the under dog in the estimation of the fans, won by a knockout in the fourth round, after having trailed all of the way up to that point. A solid left hook to the jaw dropped McTiernan on his face, and he barely struggled up to beat the count, whereupon Referee Al Grayber intervened to save him from further punishment. Later Grayber said he actually completed the toll over Buck, but ringside observers disagree with this version, holding that the count of the knockdown timer and Grayber both terminated at nine. It makes little difference either way, except as a matter of record, for the finishing punch ruined McTiernan for the night and the round had not quite reached the halfway mark.

Belmont's next appearance in the Bowl likely will be against the winner of next Monday night's battle between Ted Yarosz, of Monaca, and Bucky Lawless, of Auburn, N. Y., both winners over McTiernan in bouts here. Meanwhile McTiernan likely will rest up prior to making a fresh start.

JADICH TO RETURN

Announcement has been made by the Bowl that Johnny Jadich, classy lightweight, of Philadelphia, who recently defeated Tony Herrera at the Bowl, will return for a feature engagement August 10, possibly in another melee with Herrera.

LOTS OF ACTION IN WEST PENN BALL LOOP

Linwood, Swissvale, Martin Clubs Get Off to Good Start in Second-Half Race

East End followers of the sandlots watching their representatives in the West Penn baseball loop certainly got plenty of action during the last few days. The second-half battles in this particular loop watched the rise of Linwood, Swissvale and the Martin club, together with the Marty Griffin club of the hill.

These clubs played little or no part in the first-half championship of the loop, but they certainly are going to have plenty to say in the second-half races.

Manager Hugo Pasquelli made his club a contender for second-half honors, when he went out and signed Tommy Gettings. Gettings, always dependable, had been pitching successfully with Verona and Homewood during the first-half campaigns, but the second-half found him switching his pitching arm to Linwood. Now the Lincoln avenue outfit compares with any club in the district.

Swissvale's aspirations received a check when Reliance Life dropped into Swissvale on Monday evening. Manager Eddie Walsh again pinned his faith to Heller, his left-handed star. Heller had pitched sensational baseball against Edgewood and Homestead Aces, two hard-hitting clubs, and had both of the outfits eating out of his hand, but Heller was not on, or else the Reliance Life hitters found their batting eyes.

Martins, of Garfield, look to be the best club around in the second-half races. Coach Jim Fullen has the team fighting mad. Eddie Imhoff and Stan Freizel form a good battery, and Sonny Nelson is playing a whale of a game at first base. Fans are flocking to Garfield Park for the Sunday games in the loop, and the presence of Linwood last Sunday, with Gettings and Imhoff staging a pitching duel drew a crowd.

'Y' MUSHBALL SCHEDULE

J. H. Morgart, president of the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. Church Mush Ball League, has announced the league's schedule for the week of July 27.

The captains and their teams in the league are: William Daum, First Evangelical Church; E. L. Becker, Tabernacle Presbyterian Church; Joseph Stevens, Highland Presbyterian Church; M. B. Tinker, First Methodist Church; Martin Kidner, Bethany Lutheran Church; O. K. Guthoehrlein, St. Peter's Lutheran Church; John Knox, Sixth United Presbyterian Church; Robert Dickey, Fourth United Presbyterian Church; S. M. Steele, Emory Brotherhood, and Alfred Holt, Emory Young People.

The schedule:

Sixth U. P. at Highland.
St. Peters at Bethany.
First P. M. at First Evangelical.
Emory Y. P. at Fourth U. P.
Tabernacle at Emory Bros.
Highland at St. Peters.

Wilkinsburg Pastor To Tour Midwest

CARDINALS SEEK SECOND TITLE

Followers of the East End Cardinals, first-half champions of the Steel City League, are wondering just how the new teams in the loop are going to fare against the playground's entry in the second half.

At the present time the Cardinals are very much interested in winning the second-half title, and preventing a playoff for the post-season championship.

Manager Bill Ryan has not made any drastic changes in the club that was good enough to win the first-half, but with vacations taking away many players, stronger reserve strength will have to be signed.

The Cardinals feel that the De Pasquale Club of Oakland will be the real menace in the second-half. A new club in the Steel City is the Penn Club of Wilkinsburg. This aggregation plays at Frick playgrounds on Tuesdays, and at Hunter street grounds on Fridays.

Denny M. E. Church To Reopen Sunday

After eight weeks, during which the auditorium has been remodeled and the front of the building altered, the Denny Methodist Episcopal Church in Thirty-fourth street, will reopen next Sunday. Woman's Club Plans Study of Economics

Next season's program of the junior auxiliary to the McKeesport Woman's Club will feature papers on history, sports, literature, music, drama and economic conditions in this country since 1775, according to the recently adopted schedule.

The opening meeting of the organization will be held October 10 on President's Day. Mrs. Paul Ely, of Wilson street, president, will be hostess.

Short Story -:- Enough Indeed!

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

"When I first met you," remarked Jimmy Little, flicking his cigar ash into the fireplace, "I imagined you were the latest competitor for the fair hand of our hostess. I understand, however, that Anton Ferrar is the present candidate."

The young man to whom he was addressing himself brought his gray eyes from the blazing logs to Jimmy's overplump, good-natured face, and smiled slightly. "How do you mean, candidate?"

"That's what those of us who have always known Andrea call 'em," he confided. "I was one myself once but failed in horseback riding. Always hated horses. Stupid, isn't it? To hate anything you've been thrown with—and thrown by—all you're life."

"I don't believe I get your meaning yet!" Barry Winthrop was mildly puzzled.

"No? Well, you see, Andrea is an honest-to-goodness sportswoman. There's nothing she isn't a top-notcher at. Swimming, speedboat, racing, tennis, flying, golf, and especially, my dear fellow, winter sports!"

It is by no means disagreeable to hear extolled the abilities of the woman one hopes to marry and Barry was not averse to listening in to the confiding Jimmy. Later he wondered whether events would have turned out differently had he arisen at this point and sauntered out to join the group viewing the glories of a winter sunset in the Berkshires.

Jimmy continued. "It's understood, you know, that she'll marry only a chap who can beat her out in everything. Says she simply couldn't bear it to have a husband who was inferior to her. So she tries 'em all out and the rest of us 'also rans' call the poor devils 'Andrea's candidates.' I daresay this Anton chap passed his tests in diving, motor-boating and aquaplaning last summer and is up here now to be examined in skiing, tobogganing and ice-skating!"

As a matter of fact, Barry was recalling the circumstances of his meetmg with Andrea at one of the more exclusive Adirondack lakes last August and the many ensuing hours he had spent in her company. Swimming, motor-boating and aquaplaning had been their favorite diversions.

The gay entrance of Andrea and a bevy of young women in vivid tams and mackinaws, their cheeks glowing with the bite of an icy wind, terminated abruptly the revelations of Jimmy, but Barry carried away with him something not wholly agreeable to think about.

On the following afternoon Andrea and her guests were assembled on the crest of the hill from which the ski jump, famous in that part of the country, took off. A setting sun threw rosy gleams across the snowy slopes that stretched below.

Suddenly, Barry flung down his skiis. "I am not making the jump!" he announced.

He felt every pair of eyes focussed upon him, but it was straight into Andrea's that he gazed and he found them first incredulous, then hurt, then angry.

"I say, old man," began Anton. "I'm taking it first, you know, and—"

"I'll watch you with the greatest of pleasure," declared Barry calmly, and stood with folded arms while Anton, as puzzled as the others, adjusted his skiis.

A moment later, Anton had swooped into space, a lithe figure bending gracefully forward, to descend far, far down and vanish in the hollow of the hill, only to reappear a mile beyond as a constantly lessening dot on the while landscape.

That evening, however, while the others settled to bridge in the living room, Barry managed a moment alone with Andrea in the library. That everyone was mystified by his refusal to take the ski jump he was aware. That this refusal was attributed to sudden fear he grimly suspected. Andrea's opinion, however, was all that seemed vitally important to him.

He did not beat about the bush. "Andrea," he said gently, "will you marry me?"

The girl took one step towards him. Then she stopped. "Barry—" her tone was troubled, "I took it for granted that you knew how to ski."

Barry shrugged his shoulders. "What has skiing to do with love, Andrea?"

"I know, Barry. But—" she bit her lip. "I—I couldn't bear to think you were afraid!"

"Isn't it enough that I love you?" asked Barry simply.

There was a moment of complete silence in the little room. A log on the hearth burst suddenly into a crackling blaze. Then Andrea flung her arms about Barry's neck. "It is enough! It is, indeed!"

"That is what I had to make sure of!" said Barry.

But out in the living room Jimmy and Anton were still mulling over the events of the afternoon. "The funny part of it is," Jimmy was exclaiming with a puzzled frown on his plump face, "it's just come to me this moment where I saw this winthrop before. He won the Montreal cup at the skiing matches!"

PARK CONCERT SEASON OPENS

Opening with a concert at Schenley Park last night, the 1931 free band concerts were launched in Pittsburgh.

There will be 62 concerts during the season, according to the committee in charge. Charles Passetti was conductor at Wednesday night's opening program, with H. Vernon Porter directing community singing.

Present plans of the committee provide for concerts every Wednesday at Schenley Park and Sundays at Highland Park.

FRICK TRAINING MADE 4 YEARS

The required course in the Frick Training School after September 1 will be four years instead of three, as a result of action taken by the Board of Public Education this week. However, students entering the school before that date may graduate after completing the present three-year course.

Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of schools, was authorized to map out a four-year curriculum for a course of training limited to the kindergarten and elementary field.

The train carrying the picknickers, will leave East Pittsburgh station at 7:30 a. m. The public is invited to join the organization members.

Dancing, riding, swimming, golf and other sports will be enjoyed.

The committee from the Turtle Creek organization includes A. L. Patterson, H. J. Henderson and Robert Montgomery.

KERR CHAPLAIN AT INSTITUTE

The Rev. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, is chaplain of the week in the religious work department of Chautauqua Institution, Chautauqua, N. Y.

The subjects discussed by Dr. Kerr this week are "Christianity and Communism," "Christianity and Spiritualism," "Christianity and Evolution" and "Christianity and Secularism."

FOUR AWARDED SCHOLARSHIPS

Arthur J. Manson, Jr., of 562 East End avenue, East End, is one of four contestants who were awarded a War Memorial scholarship by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. The others were: Raymond P. Hanna, 6727 Hamilton avenue, Pittsburgh; William R. L'Hommedieu, Oakland, Cal., and Derwent Flashman, of Sydney, Australia.

Manson will receive $500 a year for four years for his engineering training at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Seventy-four applications for the scholarships were made. The scholarships were established in 1919 in memory of the Westinghouse employes who served in the World War.

STUDENT RODEO HELD AT PITT

Men students and faculty members attending the summer sessions at the University of Pittsburgh were to hold a rodeo in place of the annual men's luncheon.

Sports events, a German band and lunch were to be the features of the entertainment.

John Dambach was in charge of arrangements, assisted by Dr. G. A. Yoakum and Frank W. Shockley.

Chamber Expects 3,500 at Outing

The Turtle Creek Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual picnic at Burkes Glen July 29, M. G. Cargo is general chairman. The committee anticipates an attendance of 3,500 persons.

Endeavor Societies To Conduct Retreat

The Wilkinsburg and Edgewood Christian Endeavor Societies will join in a retreat at Laughlintown July 25 and 26. Headquarters will be at Laurel Ridge Hotel.

Annual Outing Held By Homestead Club

ARNOLD SCHOOL EXPANDING

Work has been started upon the $65,000 improvement to Arnold school, Braddock avenue, East End. The improvement program provides for the remodeling of the present building and the erection of an addition of 11 rooms, increasing the student capacity to 200.

Nine rooms are provided for in the new wing, while two more will be added to the present building. New administrative offices, kitchen and cafeteria are planned.

Construction of the new $100,000 gymnasium is making headway. It is expected that the structure will be completed by the opening of the fall term in September. The gymnasium was a gift of R. E. Withers, president of the board of trustees.

NATHAN HALE
(1756-1776)

Born at Coventry, Conn., in 1756; won distinction at the siege of Boston and was made a captain in Washington's army. He volunteered to enter the British lines as a spy. Captured, he was summarily executed. His last words were, "My only regret is that I have but one life to give for my country."

GET ANGRY ....To Get THIN!

The Temperament of an Individual May Have No Significance in Youth or Early Life in Regard to the Fatness or Thinness of the Body. The Bodily Figure May Be a Matter of Immature Development or the Result of Deliberate Undernourishment

Science Proves That a Fit of Rage May Take Off More Fat Than an Hour's Hard Exercise or Two Days of Enforced Diet

ANGER may be a disturbing emotion to include in one's reducing diet but it is actually effective in taking off fat... Fear, too, is a good reducing agent!... After many experiments, two scientists connected with Yale University have established these facts to be true.

In examining the well-known phenomenon of fat and amiability, the scientists have upset an old adage... Their observations prove that fat people are not good-natured but that good-natured people are fat.

The new ideas also explain the long-standing puzzle of why some relatively small eaters get fat while others who habitually eat much more stay thin or even get thinner.

A complete explanation of the methods used during the experiments, as well as the many interesting facts ascertained during the tests, are to be found in The American Weekly next Sunday... Don't miss this absorbing article!... It will give you a better understanding of the importance of emotion in controlling one's weight ...You will be astounded by the new and curious observations in this informative article in next Sunday's American Weekly.
